High school's future linked to referendum

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

There are only two choices in terms of the Antioch Community High School (ACHS) Dist. 117 $28 Education Fund referendum: either vote yes or no.

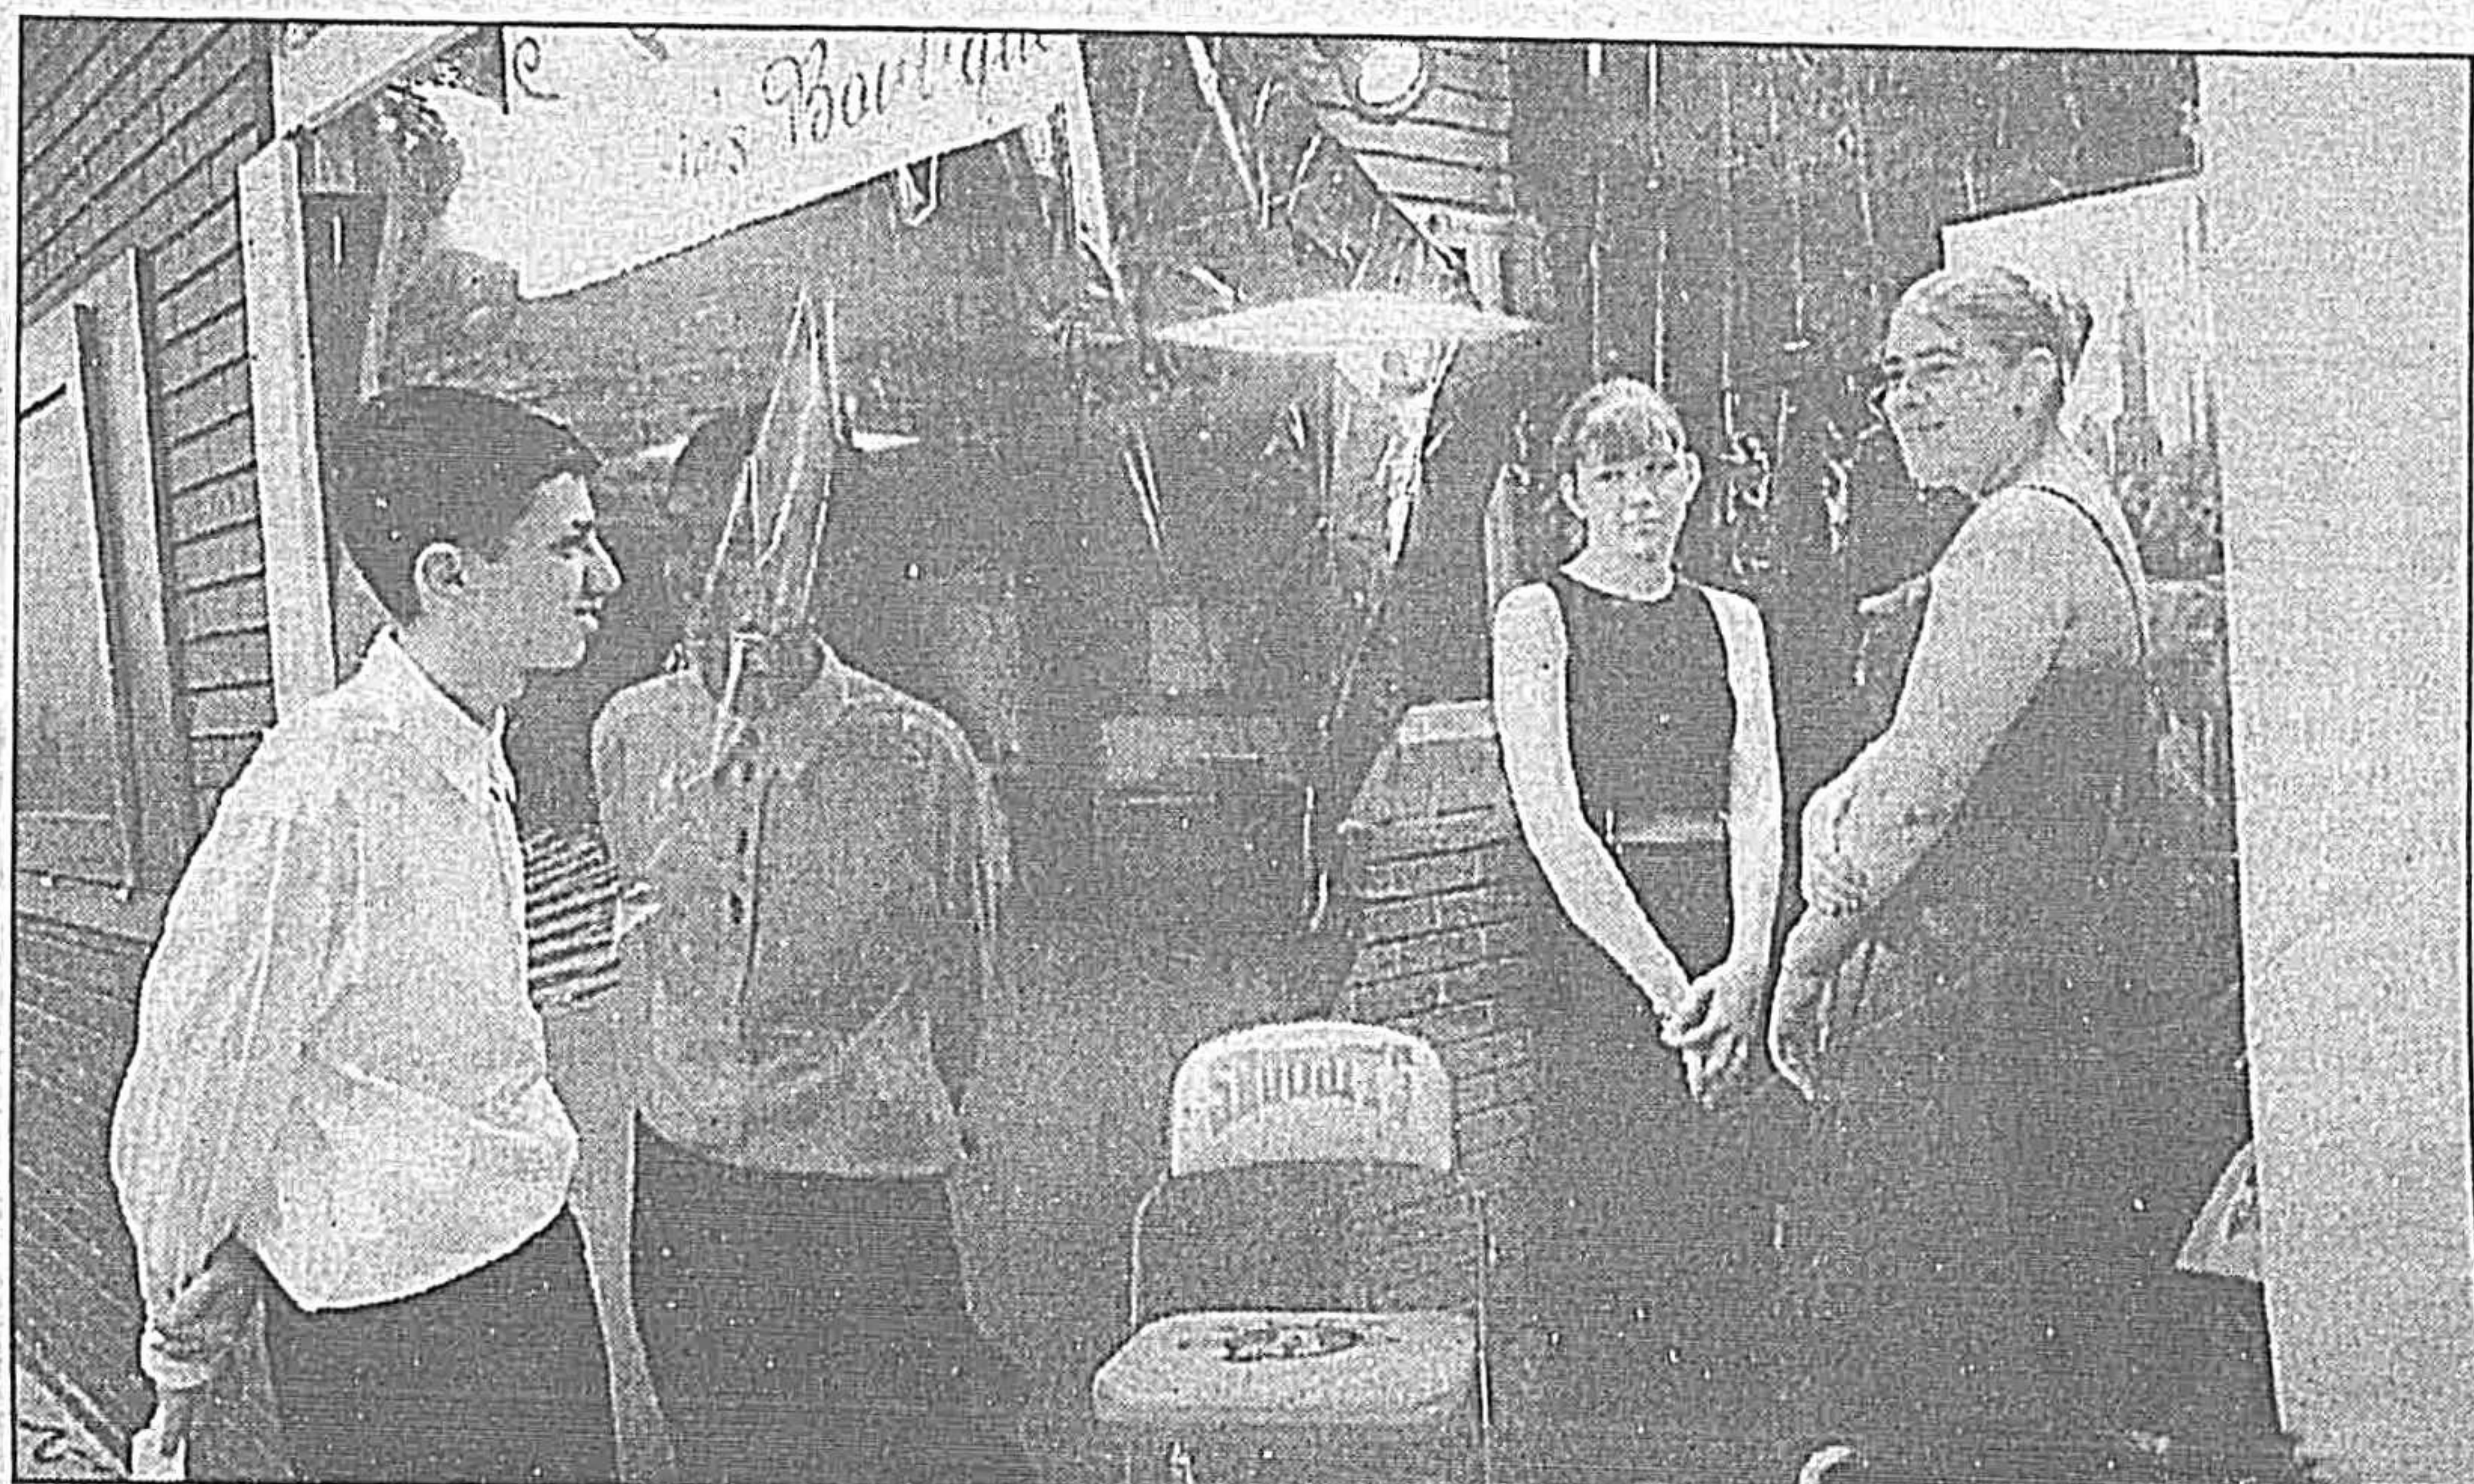

Approving the increase will allow the operations of both the current high school and the second being built at the intersection of Grass Lake and Deep Lake roads to continue at the current standards. Those standards include offering a multitude of opportunities for students that includes athletics, music, drama, summer school, driver's education and extra curricular activities.

If the referendum fails at this election, as it did in the previous two elections, all of the aforementioned programs will be cut in 2004 as part of the board of education's crisis plan.

Supt. Dennis Hockney said, "The board has been up front about the need for this increase, and announced it two years ago. The planning is evident. This increase won't appear on homeowners' tax bills for two years, and then it will only be 50 percent of the full amount."

The full cost of the tax increase (in the year 2005) would cost $177

Chamber discusses 'big boxes' at luncheon

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

"Does anybody remember Lakehurst?" asked Stan Livermore, owner of the Antioch True Value. Livermore was invited to speak at the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and Industry's luncheon on the topic: "Promises vs. Reality" in regard to the two "big box" chains seeking to make Antioch their home.

According to Livermore's research there are more than 4,000 abandon shopping malls in the United States, and more current malls in operation than schools with a calculated 20 square feet of retail space for every person living in this country.

Livermore said he hoped his presentation would cause people to think and to ask some tough questions before letting these super stores come in and change the face of Antioch.

"There was a market study done for the Village of Antioch in 1993. We are not operating without a plan," he said. He added that the report stated Antioch's strength as being that it has a "true town center."

Livermore argued that Wal-Mart wouldn't bring more competitors to Antioch, but would drive competitors away. He said that a story published by "Forbes Magazine" defined Wal-Mart as "the operator of discount stores big enough to 'freeze out competition.'"

He questioned whether dollars spent at superstores in Antioch

Dems seek true two-party system

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Timothy Chichester, who moved to Antioch permanently four years ago from Chicago, hopes that Lake County would see more balance between the number of democrats and the number of republicans. "I would like to see a true two-party system in Lake County," he said as one of two democratic candidates seeking a District 1 Lake County Board position.

Scott Wold, the young democratic candidate from Lake Villa, said he decided to run for office because he doesn't agree with all of the views of those currently seated on the board.

Both candidates oppose the Rte. 53 expansion.

Wold said, "I am all for the conservation of land. I think expanding Rte. 53 would destroy a lot of land."

Chichester said that while he opposes the expansion, he doesn't see a way around it. He said, "With the traffic in Lake County, I don't see how we can avoid this, but I'm not sure this is a county board issue."

Similarly to republican incumbent Judy Martini, Chichester feels the Lake County Forest Preserve Dist. should continue to purchase land for preservation. "I like the open spaces and all the recreation in Antioch," he said. "I think the Forest Preserve Dist. should acquire as much land as possible."

Both Wold and Chichester have experience working for forest preserves. Wold has had summer jobs with Lake County and Chichester worked for the Cook County Forest Preserves for 14 years until an injury prevented him from continuing on.

Wold, from a family of educators and currently student teaching at Stevenson, stresses the importance of getting money into the school system.

Of the Antioch Community High School (ACHS) Dist. 117 referendum he said, "We need this to be approved. It's a necessity and not just a 'want.'" He added that he thinks it is important that all the

Two choices for Dist. 1 Republicans

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Republican voters will have to choose between incumbent candidate Judy Martini and Kevin Schoudel for the District 1 seat on the Lake County Board.

Martini hopes to serve a third term to protect the district's undeveloped land.

"My district is the biggest in Lake County with the most lakes and undeveloped property," she said. "I've been known for fighting over development. Since 1999, the Forest Preserves have purchased 3,000 acres and 1,000 of those are in District 1."

Schoudel sees the issue not as one of preservation, but one of access.

"The Forest Preserve District has purchased a lot of land in the district, but no one has any access to it," he said. "I want to make sure that District 1 gets its share of improvements for this land so people can enjoy it."

Other high priorities for Schoudel include working with other municipalities to see the Rte. 53 extension through fruition. Schoudel said, "I feel we can get it done if we all work together. That way routes 45 and 83 will see less traffic, and when improvements are made, they will stay intact."

For Martini, water quality is a key concern, and her efforts have already gone to maintain and improve it. "I worked to get funding to evaluate all the lakes in the county," she said. "We are implementing 'best lakes management' to keep our lakes clean."

Both Martini and Schoudel have government experience.

Schoudel is on the Antioch Township board, and has worked to secure two intergovernmental agreements. The first between Antioch and Lake Villa townships and Antioch Community School (ACHS) Dist. 117 for joint offices and a senior center. The second, yet to be formally announced, between the Village of Antioch, Antioch

The Antioch Senior Center is located at 817 Holbek Dr., behind the fire station.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Rebuttal to Mrs. Hiller & Ms. Santiemmo letters

Mrs. Hiller's and Ms. Santiemmo letters are very misleading to the general public regarding the RV Park issue.

I live in Antioch in my primary residence and also own one of these Park Model homes. I can only use it between April 15 and Oct. 15. A lot of my "trailer" neighbors live in and around Antioch using these as summer vacation homes. It's impossible for us to use these as full time residences as suggested, as the water and electric are turned off between Oct. 15 and April 15 for the winter.

I personally have no children of school age to burden the school system, but question how these units would burden the school system when they are closed during the winter months when school is in session.

It was stated that Ms. Martini fights for what is right. Does fighting for what is right mean driving these tourism dollars out of Lake County?

As an avid boater I have witnessed first hand the tourism dollars being spent in Lake County. I go to the gas station and see boats being filled up. I go to the restaurants and see these people eating. I go to the grocery store and see these people buying food and beverage for a day or weekend of vacation living.

Mrs. Hiller cited in her letter to the editor that her taxes keep going up, up, up. I suggest that she look at her tax bill closely and petition Ms. Martini to trim the budget and taxes and not peoples summer homes. With this being said, I fail to see how the RV Parks are adding to the taxes of Lake County.

I too, strongly believe in the preservation of our natural resources and our lakes. Just one look around my RV Park shows nothing but a total commitment to the maintenance of our resources and the beauty of vacation living. If you want to address the health safety and welfare of our neighborhoods maybe Ms. Martini's attention would be better directed at the full-time residential homes throughout the Chain-of-Lakes that have septic fields leaching sewage directly into our "Natural Resources" unrestricted. While on the other hand, the RV Park models are self-contained and the sewage is pumped out and removed on a regular basis. No pollution here!

I too have personally observed Ms. Martini at work in these committees that she serves on and have not witnessed any ability to address any issues on my behalf.

It is stated that the RV Parks are fighting furiously to discredit Ms. Martini, when in fact she's doing a fine job of that herself by supporting this type of legislation. Seems to me, that by driving tax dollars out of Lake County, the only trails Ms. Martini should be breaking should be the trail out of office.

Antioch woman strives to raise $1,900 for breast cancer awareness walk

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Antioch resident Gayle Trabert is one of about 6,000 (including her mother Rosemary Kojis) who has taken on the lofty task of raising $1,900 to participate in the Avon Breast Cancer 3-Day Awareness Walk in June.

"Avon told us the amount they wanted us to raise to be able to participate in the walk," said Trabert. "I didn't stop anyone from wanting to do this. In fact, they had to close the registration."

Trabert must meet her $1,900 goal by April 15 and is more than halfway there. "As of today, I have raised $1,000. No donation is too small."

This year's walk will take Trabert and her fellow walkers from Kenosha, Wis. to Chicago, about 60 miles.

"This walk has been around for a while," said Trabert. "This is the first year that I found out about it."

Trabert said she had her own scare when she found a lump in her breast in 1999. She had to have a breast biopsy the following March, and was one of the lucky ones and was found to have only fibroid tumors and not cancer.

"This is an extremely worthy cause, and all donations are fully tax-deductible," added Trabert.

According to Trabert, 182,000 women in the United States will be diagnosed with breast cancer, and of those 40,000 will die. Additionally, 400 men will die from this disease.

"It breaks my heart to think of people who do not have the insurance money to get proper help if they suspect they have this disease," said Trabert. "I may not be able to do much, but I plan on walking the 60 miles with a smile on my face and a prayer in my heart for those who need it."

There is a web site, www.bethepeople.com, which has complete information about this walk.

Those wishing to contact Trabert may do so by calling her at 847-838-4903, or by e-mail at gayle14@earthlink.net.

Alias offers no protection for suspect

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Taking on the combined names of two James Bond 007 actors as an alias didn't protect Patrick Nolan, 43, of Antioch, (a.k.a. Sean Brosnan) from being arrested by the Antioch Police Dept. on Feb. 20.

Detective Sgt. Craig Somerville said the department obtained warrants for Nolan's arrest following a domestic violence incident at his residence. On Feb. 19, police responded to an emergency 9-1-1 call at the residence and observed signs of violence, property damage and disabled telephones.

Police conducted an investigation and sought a warrant for Nolan's arrest. Somerville said officers spoke to the victim, a family member, who displayed visible injuries.

The six-count warrant for Nolan, who reportedly fled the scene before police arrival, included four counts of domestic battery, one count of unlawful restraint and one count of interference with the reporting of domestic violence. According to Somerville, the last count was for disabling the telephones.

Nolan surrendered to police the following day.

Bond was set at $50,000. Unlawful restraint is a class four felony that carries a possible sentence of one to three years in prison.

Former employee charged with True Value theft

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

After a four-month investigation, former True Value employee, Mark C. Anderson, 18, of Trevor, Wis., was charged with theft on Jan. 30.

Detective Sgt. Craig Somerville of the Antioch Police Dept. said Anderson allegedly stole numerous items valued at about $1,200 during his employment.

"A compressor, a big dollar item, came up missing from inventory," said Somerville. "We located at witness who said Mr. Anderson offered to sell a compressor that matched the description."

Other items stolen included power tools, a rechargeable flashlight, hand tools and a generator. All of the stolen property was returned to the hardware store.

Anderson was released on bond. If convicted, he could face up to one year in jail.

Check location of polling place

It doesn't hurt to double check where the proper polling place is before heading out on Tuesday morning to vote, especially as some precincts will be voting in a different location from the last two elections.

For the upcoming election being held on March 19, regular non-absentee voters must vote at the polling place assigned to the precinct number printed on their voter registration cards.

In Antioch, voters in the 001, 002, 003 and 004 precincts are to vote at the Antioch Upper Grade School located at 800 Highview Dr. Voters in precincts 005, 006 and 007 are to vote at the Antioch Elementary School at 817 Main St.

Emmons School, located at 24226 W. Beach Grove Rd. will be taking voters from the 008, 012, 013 precincts. Precincts 009, 010 and 011 will vote at the Antioch Community High School located at 1133 Main St.

Precinct 014 will vote at the Voters from precincts 015 and 016 will vote at Grass Lake School located at 26177 W. Grass Lake Rd. The Lutheran Church of All Saints located at 5800 State Park Rd. in Fox Lake will accommodate Antioch voters from the 017 and 018 precincts.

All of these locations are handicapped accessible.

Don't forget to sign up to give blood at the 43rd annual St. Peter Catholic Church blood drive on March 23.

Photo identification will be required.

Organizer Sheila Dvorak said last year 177 pints of blood were collected during the drive, and that the church hopes to collect at least that much again this year.

Though walk-ins are welcome, Dvorak recommends making an appointment to give blood by calling her at 847-395-1545.

Participants must be in good health and over 17 years old with the exception being that 16-year-olds can donate blood with parental consent. There is no upper age limit.

If one was to test anemic or have some other reason for not being able to donate blood at this time, lists of other blood drives will be available at St. Peter Church on the day of the event.

SCHOOL DIGEST

AUGS PTO to purchase recess equipment

Antioch Upper Grade School's PTO has agreed to purchase $2,300 of recess equipment.

The goal is to have three new basketball backboards and posts, assorted balls, frisbees and Nerf-type footballs ready for use this spring.

A committee including Judy Houtz, Wes Owens, Jay Marshall and Chris Bryant is credited with doing the necessary research for this project.

Reserve table for Flea Fest, make donation

Flea Fest, Antioch Upper Grade School's annual rummage sale, will be held on April 13 from 9 a.m.-noon.

Tables reserved by March 30 will cost $15, but that price will increase to $20 after that date. Those reserving tables will keep all the money garnered from their sale items.

The school is also seeking donations of clothing (including semi-formal wear), toys and household items. Donated items will profit the school.

Donations will also be gladly accepted for the bake sale and raffle table.

For more information, call Lisa Vitucci at 847-838-2715.

Gala planned April 20

Antioch District 34 Educational Foundation and the Antioch Fine Arts Foundation, two non-profit organizations, are joining to present the first annual Spring Gala on April 20.

The event, called A Starry Night, will be held at the Country Squire in Grayslake. Local artists will be auctioning off some of their wares to help raise money to be split equally between the two foundations.

The evening will begin with a cash bar followed by dinner and ending with an evening of dancing.

The cost is $60 per person.

For more information, call Kathy Oddson-Wilson at 847-395-0113.

Early childhood development screening available

Children between the ages of 3-5 years old are eligible for early childhood development screening through Antioch Community Consolidated Dist. 34.

The screening is a brief series of activities and observations designed to identify children who may have a potential problem requiring further assessments.

Call the Dist. 34 special education office at 847-838-8020 to schedule an appointment.

DUI

Lance D. Mortensen, 36, of 25148 Buena, Lake Villa, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on March 8 at 1:02 a.m. on Rte. 59 and Hillside Ave.

Police saw Mortensen disobey a stop sign at the intersection.

The strong odor of alcoholic beverage was detected when the officer requested a driver's license and proof of insurance from Mortensen. At the time, Mortensen could provide neither his driver's license nor proof of insurance though his driver's license was later found.

Mortensen told the officer he would not perform field sobriety tests. He was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was put through booking procedures and issued citations for DUI and operating an uninsured vehicle.

Mortensen also refused chemical testing. He posted his driver's license and $100 bond pending his April 8 court date.

Mark W. Parker, 29, of 26419 W. Grass Lake Rd., Antioch, was arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol on March 4 at 5:01 p.m. in the parking lot of the State Bank of The Lakes on Lake St.

An officer was dispatched to the parking lot and upon approaching Parker detected the strong odor of alcoholic beverage. Police saw an open case of beer in the vehicle.

Parker refused to perform field sobriety tests and was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was issued citations for illegal transportation of alcohol and DUI. He was put through booking procedures, and refused to make phone calls in an attempt to get bond.

Parker was held until 3 a.m. on March 5 and was released on $3,000 personal recognizance pending his court date.

Warrant arrest

Duane M. Gillihan, 26, of 23820 126th St.

Trevor, Wis., was arrested on warrant on March 6 at 1:38 a.m. on Rte. 83 at Poplar.

During a traffic stop, the officer also checked the passengers' identification and information on Gillihan came back that he was wanted on $20,000 warrant from the Lake County Sheriff's Office for failure to appear.

Gillihan was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was put through booking procedures and then transported to the Lake County Jail.

Revoked driver's license

Cleveland Phillips, 21, of 277 Oakridge Court, Antioch, was arrested for driving while revoked on March 8 at the intersection of Depot St. and Anita Ave. at 8:21 a.m.

Police saw an object hanging from the rearview mirror that was obstructing Phillips' view. Phillips told police he did not have insurance and that his driver's license was suspended.

His identifiers were checked through LEADS/NCIC/SOS with information coming back that Phillips' driver's license was revoked.

He was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was put through booking procedures and issued citations for having an obstructed windshield, driving while revoked and operating an uninsured vehicle. Phillips was released on personal recognizance pending his April 24 court date.

Suspended

Joel A. Richter, 26, of 40687 N. Rte. 83, Antioch, was arrested for driving while suspended on March 10 at 7:27 p.m. on Rte. 173 east of Talman.

The officer locked his vehicle at 55 mph in a 40-mph zone. Richter provided the officer with his driver's license but was unable to provide proof of insurance.

Richter's identifiers were checked through LEADS/SOS and came back with information that his license was suspended.

He was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where he was put through booking procedures and issued citations for driving while suspended, speeding and operating an uninsured vehicle.

Richter was released on personal recognizance pending his April 10 court date.

No valid driver's license

Cecilia Tellez, 21, of 32 Beachview, Round Lake Beach, was arrested for driving without a valid driver's license on March 12 at 12:42 a.m. on Main St. at Ida St.

Police saw Tellez disobey a stop sign at the intersection. Tellez produced an insurance card for the officer but said she did not have a driver's license.

Tellez's identifiers were checked through LEADS/SOS and came back that she had no valid driver's license. She was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept.

where she was issued citations for disobeying a stop sign and having no valid license.

Tellez was put through booking procedures and released on personal recognizance pending her April 24 court date.

Sabrina D. Ladner, 21, of 291 Joanna Court, Antioch, was arrested for driving with no valid driver's license on March 7 at 1:09 a.m. on Main St. at North Ave.

Police saw Ladner make a right-hand turn onto North Ave. at a high rate of speed and without stopping for the red light.

Ladner's identifiers were checked and came back with information that her license was cancelled. She was arrested and transported to the Antioch Police Dept. where she was put through booking procedures and issued citations for disobeying a traffic signal, having no valid driver's license and improper lane usage.

Wells pleads not guilty

By JULIE MURPH
Staff Reporter

Tim Wells, former administrator for the Village of Antioch pleaded not guilty on March 6 to charges that he illegally diverted about $1.5 million from a fund established for Antioch seniors.

Wells was charged on Feb. 20 with three counts of official misconduct, eight counts of forgery, one count of obstructing justice, one count of perjury, unlawful stringing of bids and unlawful interference with contract submission and award by a public official.

George Strickland, chief of the criminal division of the Lake County State's Attorney office said his office has compiled 2,000-3,000 pages of documentation supporting the charges against Wells. He added, "We collect evidence up until the jury comes back with the verdict."

If convicted, Wells could face up to 10 years in prison.

The charges came after months of investigation following a routine audit, requested by current Antioch Mayor Taso Maravelas, revealed that the money bequeathed to Antioch seniors by Dolly Spiering had been diverted and spent.

The money had been deposited into the general and enterprise funds. Though an ordinance was approved on June 19, 2000 to establish a special fund for the seniors, this was never done.

No trial date has been set at this time. "Generally, cases like this take a little time," said Strickland. "It probably won't happen until sometime in the summer."

Jig to St. Patrick's jingles

As the "luck o' the Irish" would have it, Festival Arts of Antioch is presenting a St. Patrick's Day concert with the Lakes Area Community Band on Sunday, March 17 at 3:30 p.m. at the United Methodist Church on Main St.

The band's director, Steve Porch, has selected spirited selections in keeping with the holiday. The following are just some of the concert selections: "The Vanished Army," "South Pacific," a British march, and of course Irish music including a jig called "Irish Washerwoman."

Seats fill quickly; coming early is recommended.

The concert is free of charge and complimentary refreshments will be served afterward.

Church presentation demonstrates love

It's been said that Christ is "more than a carpenter" and Wade and Jennifer Burleigh of First Century Ministries will present a unique dramatization of Christ's love on Wednesday, March 20 at the Christian Life Fellowship at 7 p.m.

The presentation utilizes woodcarving, blacksmith, and pottery skills.

A block of wood becomes the hands of Christ under Wade's sculpting tools as Jennifer relates the story. A mass of clay takes form as a beautiful pot in his skilled hands.

Rev. Jeff Brussaly said, "You will not want to miss this special 'step back in time.'"

The event is free to the public and appropriate for all ages. Nursery care is provided.

For more information, call Christian Life Fellowship at 847-395-8572.

REFERENDUM

per year for one who owns a $200,000 home. There has not been an Education Fund increase in the district in 30 years.

According to Hockney, the students who will see the most impact if the referendum is not approved are those currently in the grade and middle schools.

He added that of the four high school referenda in Lake County, Antioch is seeking less of an increase. The other three are seeking between $.43-$.50 as opposed to Antioch's $.28.

"Certainly in the last seven years that I have been here, the school board has delivered," said Hockney. "We've made plans and we've delivered what we said we would."

Within that time frame, nearly $74 million of improvements have been made at a cost to the district of a little over $43 million.

At a luncheon meeting with both the Antioch and Lindenhurst-Lake Villa Chambers of Commerce, Rep. Timothy Osmond (R-Antioch) applauded the school board for thinking ahead and proposing cuts if the referendum is not approved. He said, "You should commend the board for looking into budget cuts to keep the district fiscally sound. You don't want the state to come in and bail out your school district."

The board of education has put its proposal on the district's web site (www.d117.org) for those who have not been able to attend one of the presentations held since the beginning of the year.

Hockney said the school board has and continues to provide the best value for the dollar.

DEMOCRATS

school tax referenda in Lake County are approved to keep area schools more competitive with the North Shore schools.

Chichester said, if elected, he would have an "open door policy" and plan to meet with the constituency on a monthly basis. "I don't see this happening much in Lake County now. I think it's important to keep in touch and see how people feel," he said. "I am a great listener. I would base my voting on that."

Wold admits he's young, and said, "I don't have a lot of experience, but I could bring a lot of energy and new ideas to the position."

LUNCHEON

would stay and re-circulate through the community or whether the money would be sent to a corporate location.

Livemore contended that what the big box stores have to offer is economic displacement and not economic development. He questioned whether the Wal-Mart in Round Lake would close if a newer, bigger one opens in Antioch.

"Are we really that narrow?" he asked. "I care if the Wal-Mart in Round Lake closes. Round Lake has more money problems than Antioch. Are we really that small?"

The resources Livemore used in putting together his presentation included two books:

REPUBLICANS

Township and ACHS for 135-acre park that will have walking trails, a cross country track, sledding hill and athletic fields.

Martini said she has served on 18 governmental committees in the past 11 years. Under these committees she has helped to see that the North Chicago VA Hospital stayed open and that a helipod unit was relocated from Michigan to Waukegan to patrol the Lake Michigan lakefront. She has also as chair of the legislation committee that is responsible for drafting agenda, hiring lobbyists in Springfield and Washington D.C.

"Slam-Dunking Wal-Mart" by Al Norman and "How Wal-Mart is Destroying America" by Bill Quinn. Additionally, he referenced the "Village of Antioch Marketing Study for the CBD, April 1993."

The following is a list of web sites with information about Wal-Mart and used by Livemore:

Martini added, "My record shows that I am well versed, conscientious and an effective board member. I have a record of showing that I listen to the people, protect our natural resources and understand the sensitive balance of smart growth and a healthy economic climate. I take the responsibility seriously and would be honored to serve another term."

Schouder stressed, "I am a great listener. I would base my voting on that. One of my best qualities is being able to work with other people and other municipalities to get things done for the people."

Look up for a special Easter

NEWS-WORTHY

Sharon Westbrook

It has been said that worry looks around, despair looks down, but faith looks up. For a special Easter, look up and plan to attend at least one of the Easter services in Antioch. The Easter week consists of Maundy Thursday, March 28, Good Friday, March 29, Holy Saturday, March 30, and Easter Sunday, March 31.

Christian Life Fellowship at 41625 N. Deep Lake Road will have a special Good Friday service at 7:00 PM and a musical drama "The Borrowed Tomb" at 10:00 AM on Easter Sunday.

Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church at 23201 W. Grass Lake Road will have a prayer and reflection service on Tuesday, March 26, at 7:00 PM, a Good Friday communion service at 7:00 PM, and Easter Sunday services at 6:00, 9:00, and 11:00 AM.

Antioch Evangelical Free Church at 750 Highview Drive will have a Good Friday communion service at 7:00 PM, and on Easter Sunday at 8:15, 9:30, and 11:00 AM the musicians will play their rendition of the U-2 song "Still Haven't Found What I'm Looking For."

Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church at 1275 Main Street will have Maundy Thursday services at 3:15 and 7:00 PM, Good Friday services at 3:15 PM, Tenebrae at 7:00 PM, and Easter Sunday sunrise service at 6:00 AM and festival services at 8:00 and 10:30 AM.

The United Methodist Church at 848 Main Street will have holy communion on Maundy Thursday at 7:00 PM, a Good Friday ecumenical service at noon, and a cantata at 7:00 PM on "The Shadow of the Cross." The Holy Saturday service at 5:00 PM marks the closing of Lent and the beginning of Easter. Easter Sunday services are at 6:30, 8:00, and 10:30 AM.

St. Peter's Catholic Church at 557 Lake Terrace will have Liturgy of the Lord's Passion and Death on Good Friday at 3:00 PM, a fish fry at 4:30 PM at the school, and Stations of the Cross at 7:30 PM. Services for Holy Saturday will be The Blessings of the Food Baskets at 1:30 PM and mass at 7:30 PM. Easter Sunday mass in the church will be at 6:30, 8:00, 9:30, and 11:30 AM and in the basement at 8:15, 9:45, and 11:45 AM.

Another special musical presentation will take place at First Assembly of God in Kenosha. The 2002 Easter musical performance "Three Days" reflects the life and death of Jesus Christ from the beauty of his birth to the cruelty of the cross. Celebrate with reverence our Savior who came as a baby, lived as a man, and died as a criminal — all for our sins. Performances will be on Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, March 27, 28, 29, and 30 at 7:00 PM, and Saturday, March 30, at 3:30 PM. There will be Deaf Interpretation at the Friday and Saturday evening performances. Tickets can be ordered by phone (262-694-3300), mail (10700 75th St., Kenosha, WI 53142), or e-mail (www.kenoshafirstassembly.org).

Remember, worry looks around, despair looks down, but faith looks up. This Easter let your faith look up. Take time to celebrate the true meaning of Easter!

LAKE VILLA

Possession of cannabis with intent to distribute

Kirsten L. Roark, 19, and Richard J. Imburgia, 23, both of 23631 122nd St., Trevor, Wis., were arrested by Lake Villa Police on March 6, at 9:57 p.m. on Cedar Avenue at Rte. 132. The vehicle, driven by Roark, was stopped when police observed no front license plate and a loud muffler. When asked for her license, Roark produced a traffic citation. A consensual search of the car turned up a bag with the words "Happy Birthday" printed on it. The bag contained a green leafy substance later confirmed to be 130 grams of cannabis. Roark was charged with driving without registration, driving with a suspended license and an exhaust violation. Both were charged with illegal delivery of more than 30 grams of cannabis and possession of more than 30 grams of cannabis. They were both turned over to the Lake County Jail to await bond hearing.

DUI

Eori A. Blockwell, 39, of 37299 N. Granada, Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on March 10, at 2:48 a.m., while driving southbound on Rte. 83 near Rte. 132. She was observed drifting in her lane, and crossing the double yellow center line. She told police she had two beers, and that she was "OK." She failed field sobriety tests, and a breath test yielded a result of .123 BAC. She then said she'd had three beers at In-Laws Restaurant in Gurnee, and another two beers at Nuttie's Bar in Lake Villa, all within six hours. She was charged with improper lane usage, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. She was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on April 5, at 9 a.m.

Michael W. Mattson, 31, of 21485 W. Morton Dr., Lake Villa, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on March 9, at 1 a.m., while driving eastbound on Monaville Road near Old Monaville Road. He was observed driving in the westbound lane for about 10 seconds. He was not wearing a seat belt. He exhibited poor balance and failed four field sobriety tests. He registered .188 BAC on a breath test. He was charged with DUI, DUI over .08 BAC, improper lane usage and driving without seat belts. He was released on a $1,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on April 5, at 9 a.m.

Claire A. Bundy, 23, of 817 Ronald Terrace, Round Lake Beach, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on March 9, at 3:14 a.m., while driving eastbound on Monaville Road near Cedar Lake Road. Police observed the driver drifting across her lane to the double yellow center line. She admitted drinking "two beers." She failed field sobriety tests, and blew .126 BAC on a breath test. She was charged with improper lane usage, driving with a suspended registration, driving with a suspended license, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. She was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on April 5, at 9 a.m.

Grant D. Mahoney, 40, of 22230 45th Street, Bristol, Wis., was arrested by Lake Villa Police on March 8, at 8:27 p.m., while driving southbound on Fairfield Road, south of Apache. He was observed driving 70 mph in a 45-mph zone. When stopped, he refused to exit the car, saying his lawyer advised against it. He also refused a breath test, although he said he'd been drinking "rums and sevens." He denied he was under the influence of alcohol. He was charged with speeding and DUI. He was released on a $3,000 I-bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on April 5, at 9 a.m.

LINDENHURST

Hit and run

William D. McClain, 31, of 2641 N. Augusta Dr., Wadsworth, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on March 8, at 2:02 a.m. on Grand Avenue at Deep Lake Road. Police observed the driver moving at 60 mph in a 45-mph zone. Police had been advised a green Blazer, matching the description of McClain's vehicle, had fled the scene of an accident on Grand Avenue. When asked why he had left the scene, McClain said it was a "minor accident, and it was the other guy's fault, so why should I stop?" According to a police report, a green SUV moving westbound on Grand passed other vehicles in front of the Lindenhurst Taco Bell. The passing vehicle moved into the eastbound lane, then returned to the westbound lane. The vehicle passed made a U-turn. Police spoke with the second driver, who related the Blazer had struck the rear of his vehicle as it was trying to pass in the eastbound lane.

McClain failed field sobriety tests. A PBT registered .184 BAC, and a subsequent breath test yielded a result of .175 BAC. McClain was charged with improper passing, improper lane usage, speeding, failure to reduce speed to avoid an accident, DUI, DUI over .08 BAC and leaving the scene of an accident.

He was released after posting his driver's license and $100 cash, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on March 26, at 9 a.m.

DUI

James A. Armstrong, 27, of 14930 Hickory Rd., Zion, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on March 10, at 12:43 a.m. on Federal Parkway near Grass Lake Road. He was observed driving with no front license plate and no registration light. He was also following another car at one car-length at a speed of 50 mph. He was drifting in lane and crossed the center line on the roadway. He was charged with equipment violation, following too closely, improper lane usage, DUI, failure to notify the Secretary of State of a change of address and transporting open liquor. He was released after posting his driver's license and $100 cash, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402 on March 26, at 9 a.m.

Daniel G. Cope-Holmes, 22, of 17896 Greentree Rd., Grayslake, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on March 9, at 3:13 a.m. at Rte. 45 and Grand Avenue. He was observed driving 59 mph in a 40-mph zone. He drifted across the fog line and over the double yellow center line. He was driving with a license suspended for DUI. He failed four of four field sobriety tests. A PBT yielded a result of .145 BAC, and a subsequent breath test yielded a result of .159 BAC. He was charged with speeding, improper lighting, improper lane usage, driving with a suspended license, DUI and DUI over .08 BAC. The state's attorney approved felony charges, and the driver was turned over to the Lake County Jail.

Robert E. Clifford III, 23, of 706 Greenbriar Lane, Lindenhurst, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on March 9, at 1:37 a.m. on Rte. 132 near Douglas Lane. He was observed turning left (eastbound) from the Eagle parking lot onto Rte. 132. He drove over the curb, knocking down a wooden stake set in place by snowplow operators. The exit was marked "no left turn," and the exit driveway curves to the right (westbound). He said he didn't want to take the time to wait for the light (at Munn Road). Clifford's insurance had expired in 2001. He failed four of four field sobriety tests, and registered .079 BAC on a breath test. He refused further testing. He was charged with disobeying a traffic control device, DUI and driving without proof of insurance. He was released on an I-bond after posting his driver's license, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-402, on March 26, at 9 a.m.

Criminal damage to property

Lindenhurst Police responded to a report of a window shot with a BB gun at B.J. Hooper School, 2400 Sand Lake Road. The custodian discovered a small hole in the glass the size of a BB. Police could not find a BB in the glass or nearby. The damage occurred sometime between March 5, at 4:30 p.m. and March 6, at 7:30 a.m. There are no suspects.

One Gene-ial coach

CLC's Hanson approaches
30th year in the dugout

By ROB BACKUS Staff Reporter

A lot has changed in Lake County since 1969. Countless miles of open farmland have been converted into thousands of homes and businesses as the county's population has increased exponentially.

And College of Lake County baseball coach and athletic director Gene Hanson, 57, has been witness to most of it.

Hanson, who started at the Grayslake junior college when it opened in Feb. 1969, is one of only three remaining original staff members and the last original teacher at CLC.

"When I started, CLC was six little metal buildings with dirt driveways and no running water or bathrooms," said Hanson, a Libertyville resident. "There were about 2,000 students in 1969, now there are over 16,000."

Although a staff member for 33 years, the last 11 of which have been as athletic director, Hanson's biggest impact at CLC has been starting its baseball program from scratch and turning it into one of the most successful junior college programs in the Midwest.

"I'm grateful to CLC for the opportunity it gave me," said Hanson. "If there's just a few people I've had an impact on, it's all been worth it."

However, Hanson's 33 years at the school happened only through good timing.

After graduating from Southern Illinois University in Carbondale in 1968 with a B.A. in education, Hanson was looking for the opportunity to teach and coach.

"When I realized that it was time to go to work, I had several options," said Hanson. "In Feb., 1969, CLC was a new school and it gave me the opportunity to develop a new program."

As an added bonus, his wife of 36 years, Martha, was a Grayslake High School graduate.

"Martha was overjoyed because we were coming back to her home town," said Hanson.

Had Hanson graduated a year earlier or later, CLC may have been deprived of 33 years of dedicated service.

His coaching credentials are those of a true Hall of Famer, as Hanson has been inducted into the Illinois JUCO Athletic (1996), Skyway Conference (2001) and National Junior College Baseball (2001) Halls of Fame.

In 28 seasons as CLC's coach, Hanson has amassed an 893-353 record for a 72 percent winning percentage. In that time he has never had a losing season.

His teams have also won 15 of 26 Skyway Conference titles, have qualified for the state finals 19 times and have captured two Region IV Illinois Championships (1981, 1994).

Hanson has also served in many prestigious positions, including: National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) Membership Chairman (1975-76), NJCAA Vice President (1977-79), NJCAA President (1980-82) and Region IV Baseball Chairman (1978-83, 1996-present).

He also founded the Illinois JUCO All-Star Game in 1977, served as director of both the Illinois JUCO All-Star Game and State Tournament from 1977-83 and has coached the Northern Illinois JUCO All-Star team four times (1977, 1983, 1989, 1996). Only one other state, Texas, currently has a junior college all-star game.

The thing Hanson is most proud is what he calls a "Showcase" which he helped found in 1996.

Each fall before the start of the baseball season, the top sophomores from each junior college team (usually two or three per team) gather for a sort of combine in front of professional scouts and major college coaches for a chance to "showcase" their skills.

"This past year we had 17 pro scouts and over 60 major college coaches," said Hanson. "I'm just happy to give the kids the opportunity."

In fact, Hanson is happiest when his players go on to play at higher levels.

In his 28 seasons, Hanson has coached more than 565 players, over 170 of which have received scholarships. Better than 80 percent of his players have gone on to four-year institutions.

"It makes me very happy when I see kids go on to major colleges," said Hanson.

A total of 21 JUCO All-Americans, 145 All-Skyway Conference players, 11 Skyway Conference MVPs, 76 All-State players, 66 Northern Illinois All-Stars and 34 professionally drafted players have donned the Lancer uniform in Hanson's 28 seasons.

"I've had some great players over the years," said Hanson.

The other thing Hanson is proud of was an event in May

First amateur wine competition to be held in Illinois

The Illinois Grape and Wine Resources Council (IGWRC) announced today that an amateur wine competition will be held April 10 in Springfield. The competition is open to Illinois residents who have not engaged in commercial winemaking and the deadline for submission is March 20.

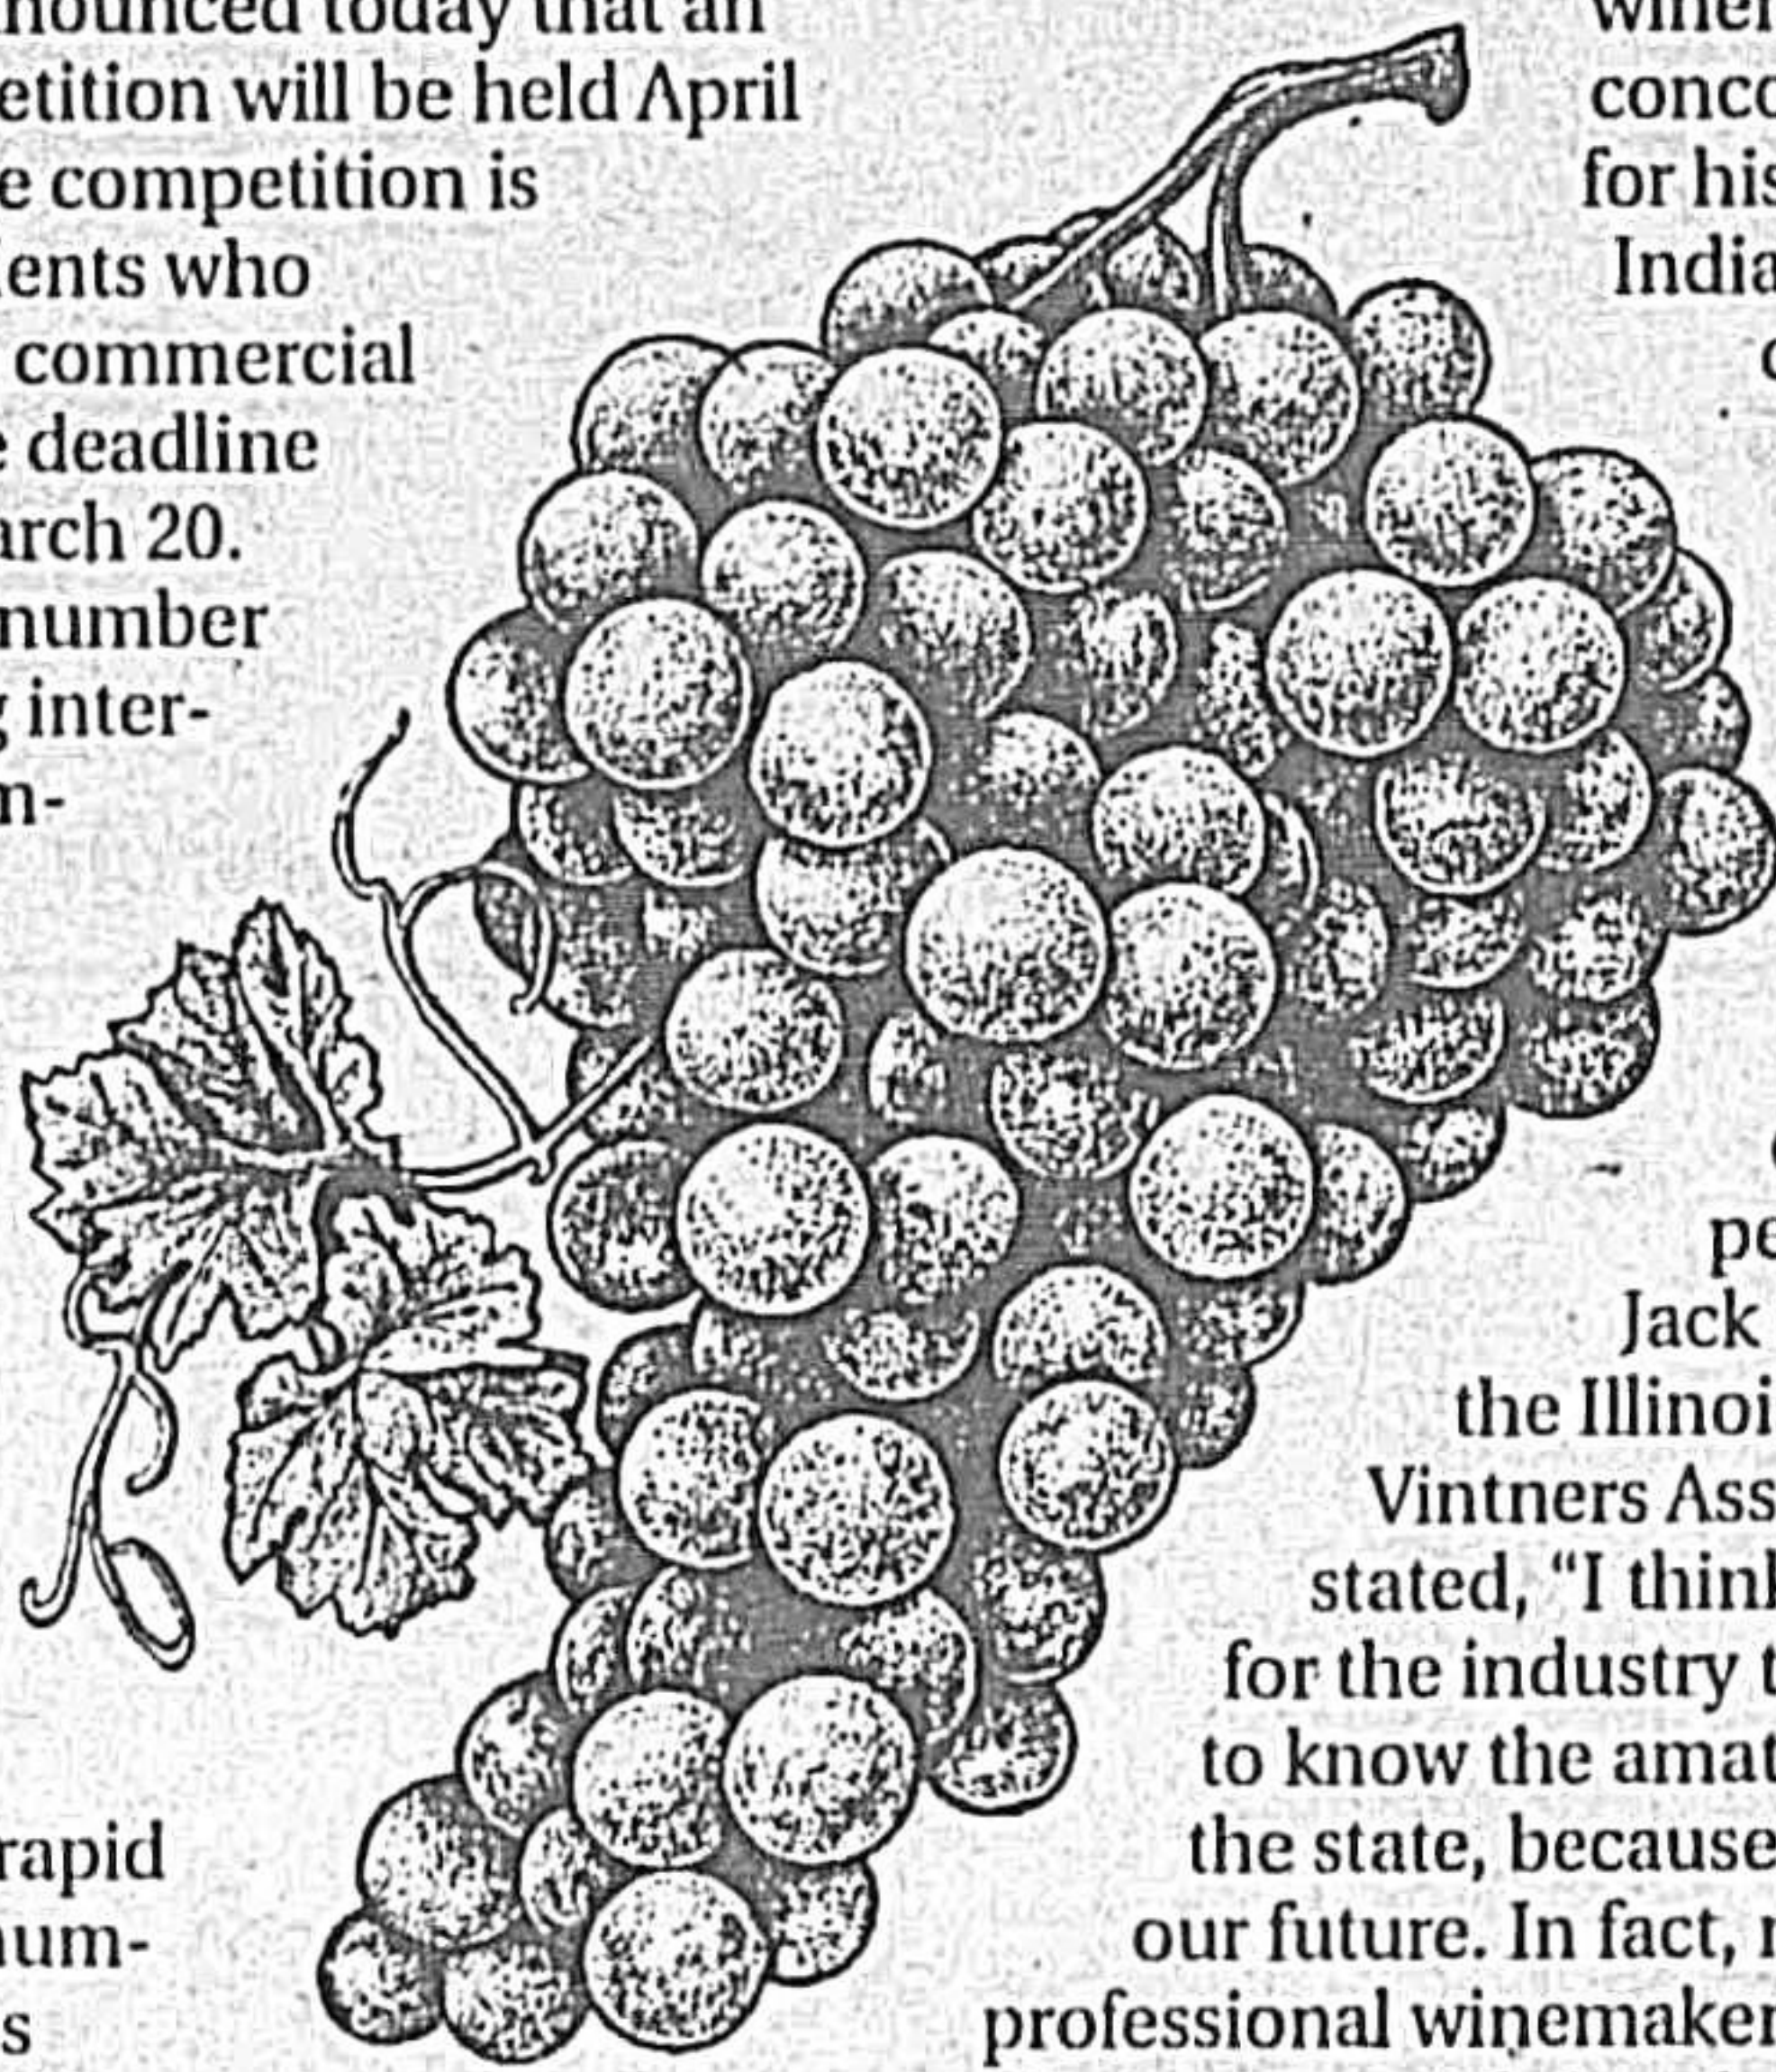

"We have had a number of people expressing interest in this sort of competition and decided the time was right to make it a part of our annual activities," said Bonnie Cisslee, executive director of the council. The council was created in 1997 by the state legislature and has seen rapid growth both in the number of acres of grapes under cultivation and in the number of wineries. Seven new wineries have sprung up in just the last six months, and according to Cisslee, several more should be opening within the next year. Judges will be professional winemakers from Illinois, but neighboring states may be called on if the number of entries is as large as some people believe.

"I think it's a great idea to have this competition," said Jim Humphreys, an amateur winemaker who won a concordance gold medal for his chambourcin in the Indiana amateur wine competition. A concordance award means the judges were unanimous in their decision to give out the gold medal. "I think there are a lot more amateur winemakers in the state than people realize."

Jack Griggs, president of the Illinois Grape Growers and Vintners Association (IGGVA) stated, "I think it's very important for the industry to recognize and get to know the amateur winemakers in the state, because they can be a part of our future. In fact, many of our current professional winemakers started as amateurs who won awards in other states and were encouraged to pursue a professional career." In addition to being president of IGGVA, Griggs is also one of the owners of Pheasant Hollow Winery in Whittington.

The fee for each wine entered is $10. For entry information and to download the entry form visit the IGWRC web site at illinoiswine.org or contact the IGWRC office at 618-536-4972.

Take a Safari to the Savannah

Brookfield Zoo hosts 'Nights in the Wild'

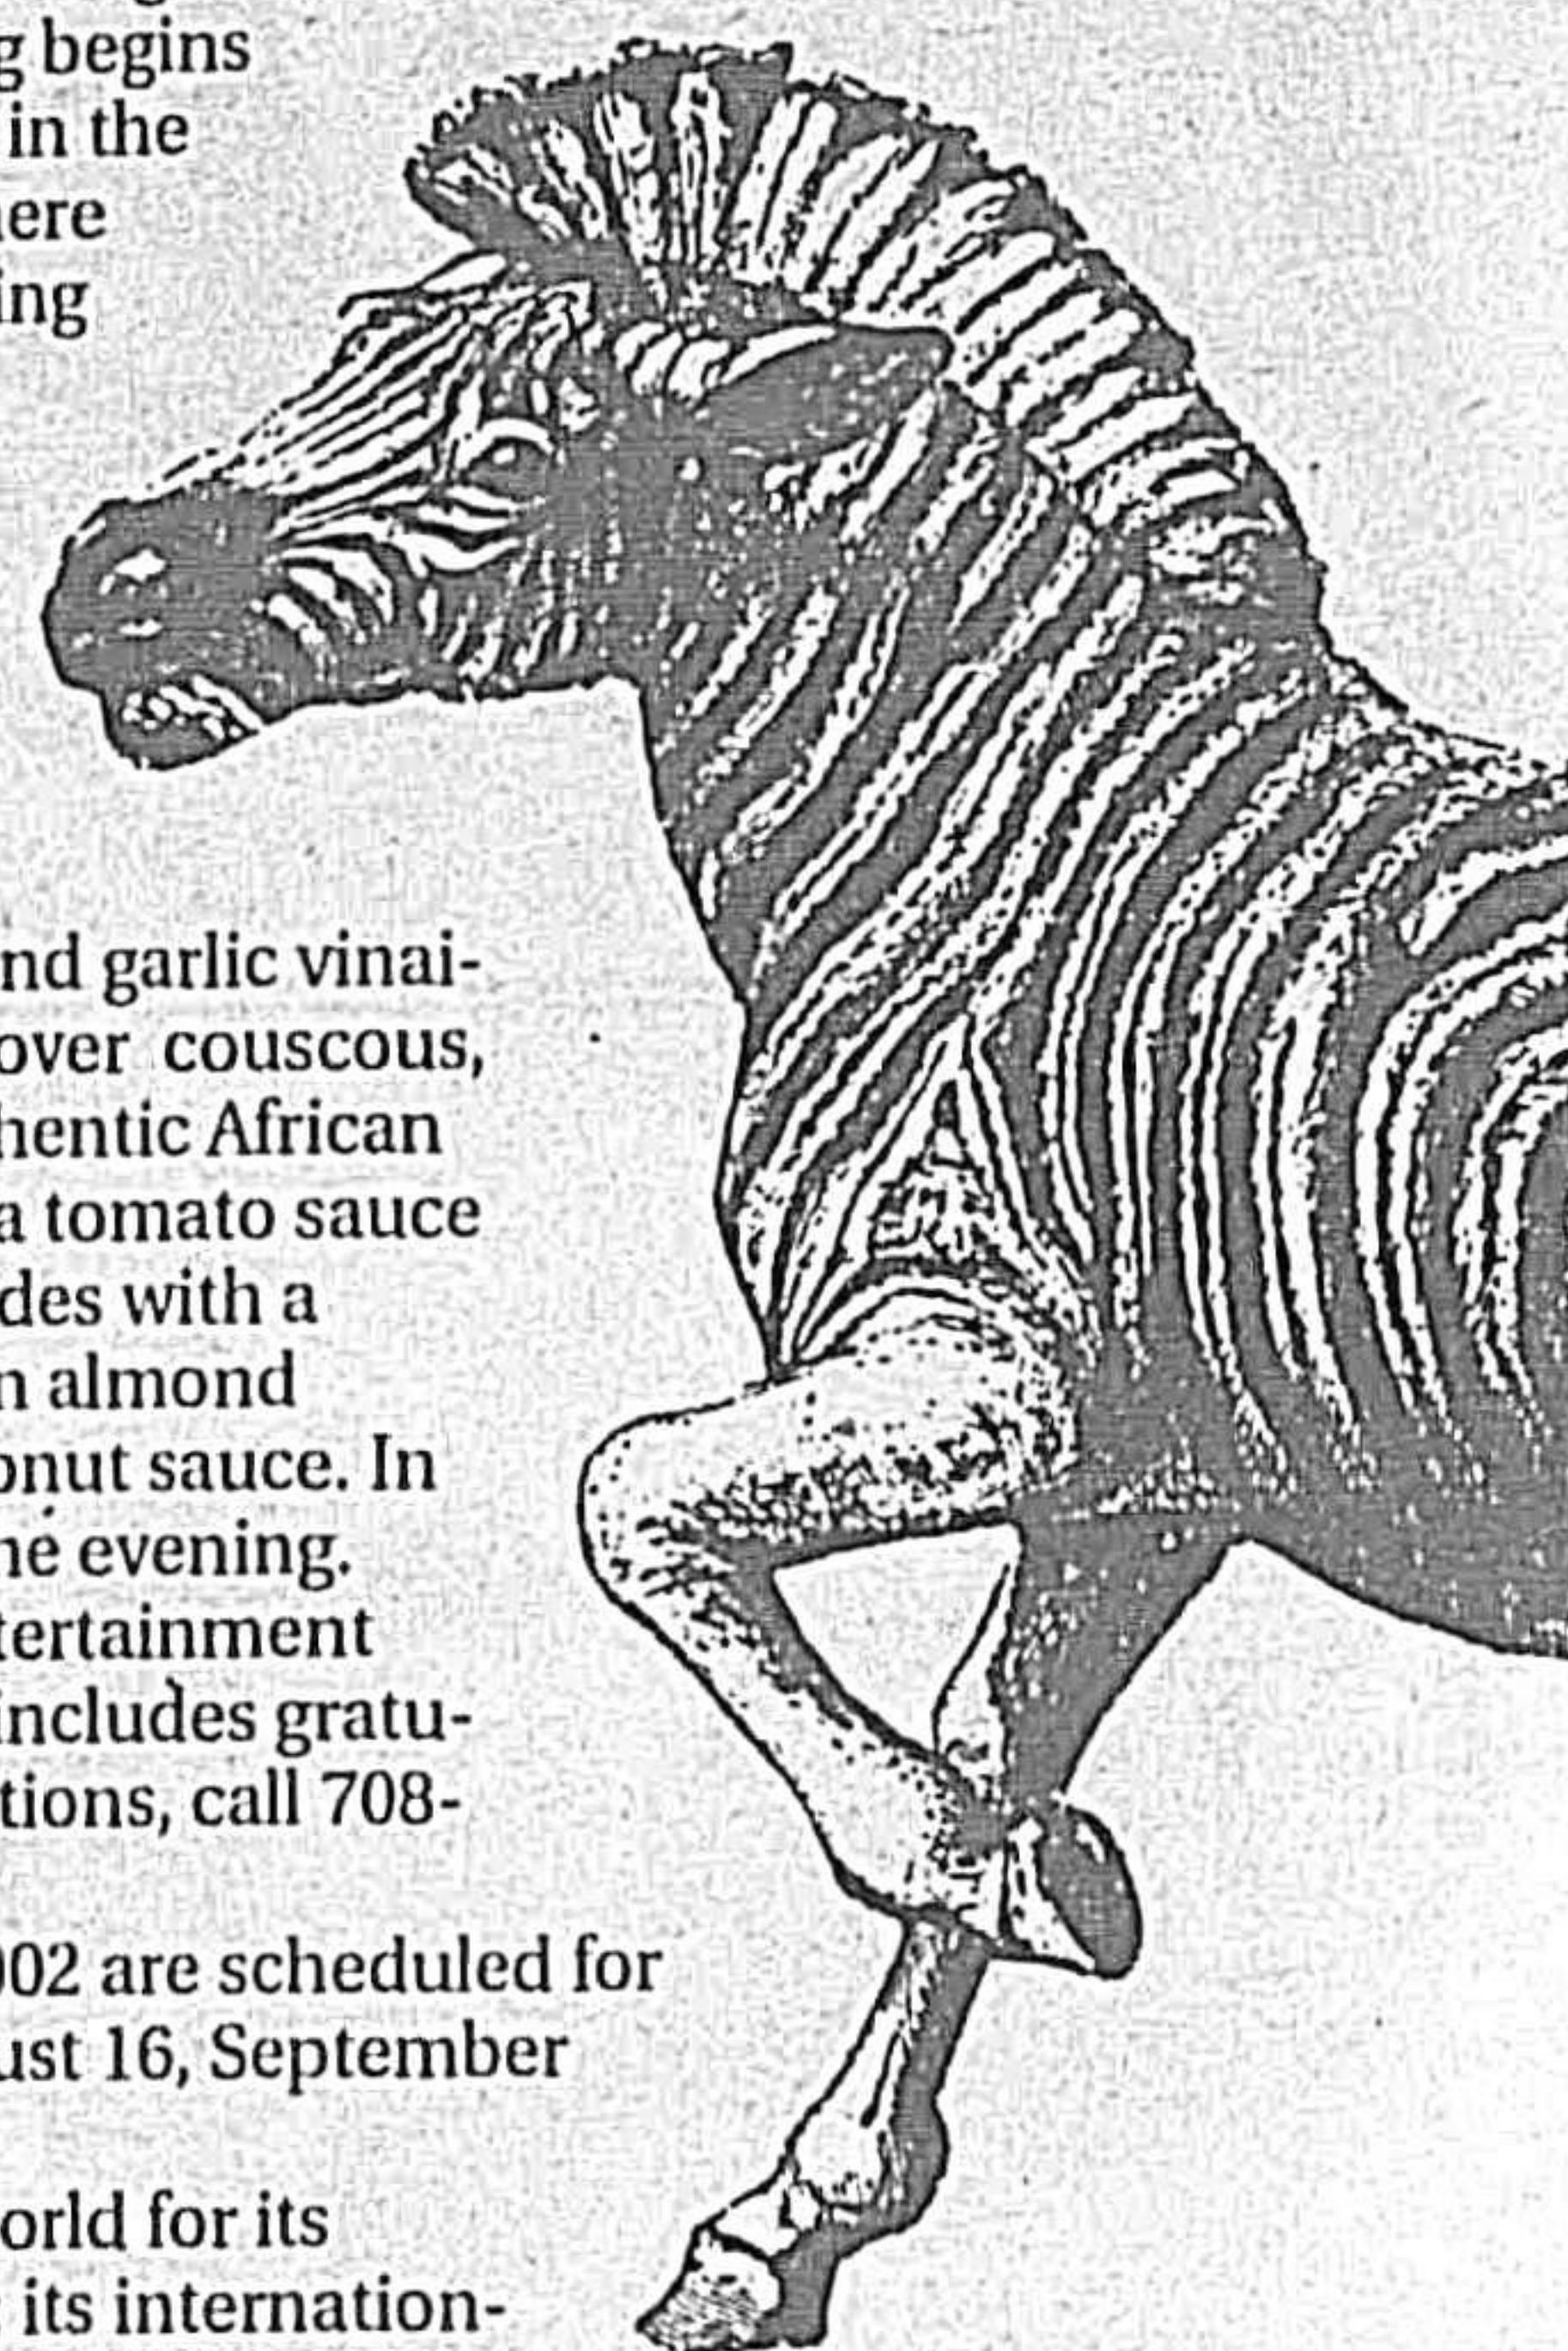

Enjoy a safari adventure at a Brookfield Zoo Nights in the Wild dinner, Friday, March 22. The evening begins at 6:30 p.m. with cocktails and hors d'oeuvres in the zoo's Habitat Africa! The Savannah exhibit, where guests can view the reticulated giraffes, including Mashama, a male calf born last fall. A keeper will also be on hand to answer any questions.

Afterwards, the Motor Safari will transport guests to Bocaditos restaurant for an all-you-can-eat African-themed buffet prepared by the zoo's talented executive chef. The buffet includes hearty coriander vegetable soup, tomato and green pepper salad with an olive and garlic vinaigrette, lamb kabobs served with a curry sauce over couscous, jollof rice with diced chicken marinated in authentic African spices, cod poached in clam juice served with a tomato sauce and assorted roasted squash. The meal concludes with a refreshing dessert of mango sorbet served in an almond cookie basket with mango, pineapple and coconut sauce. In addition, a premium bar will be open during the evening.

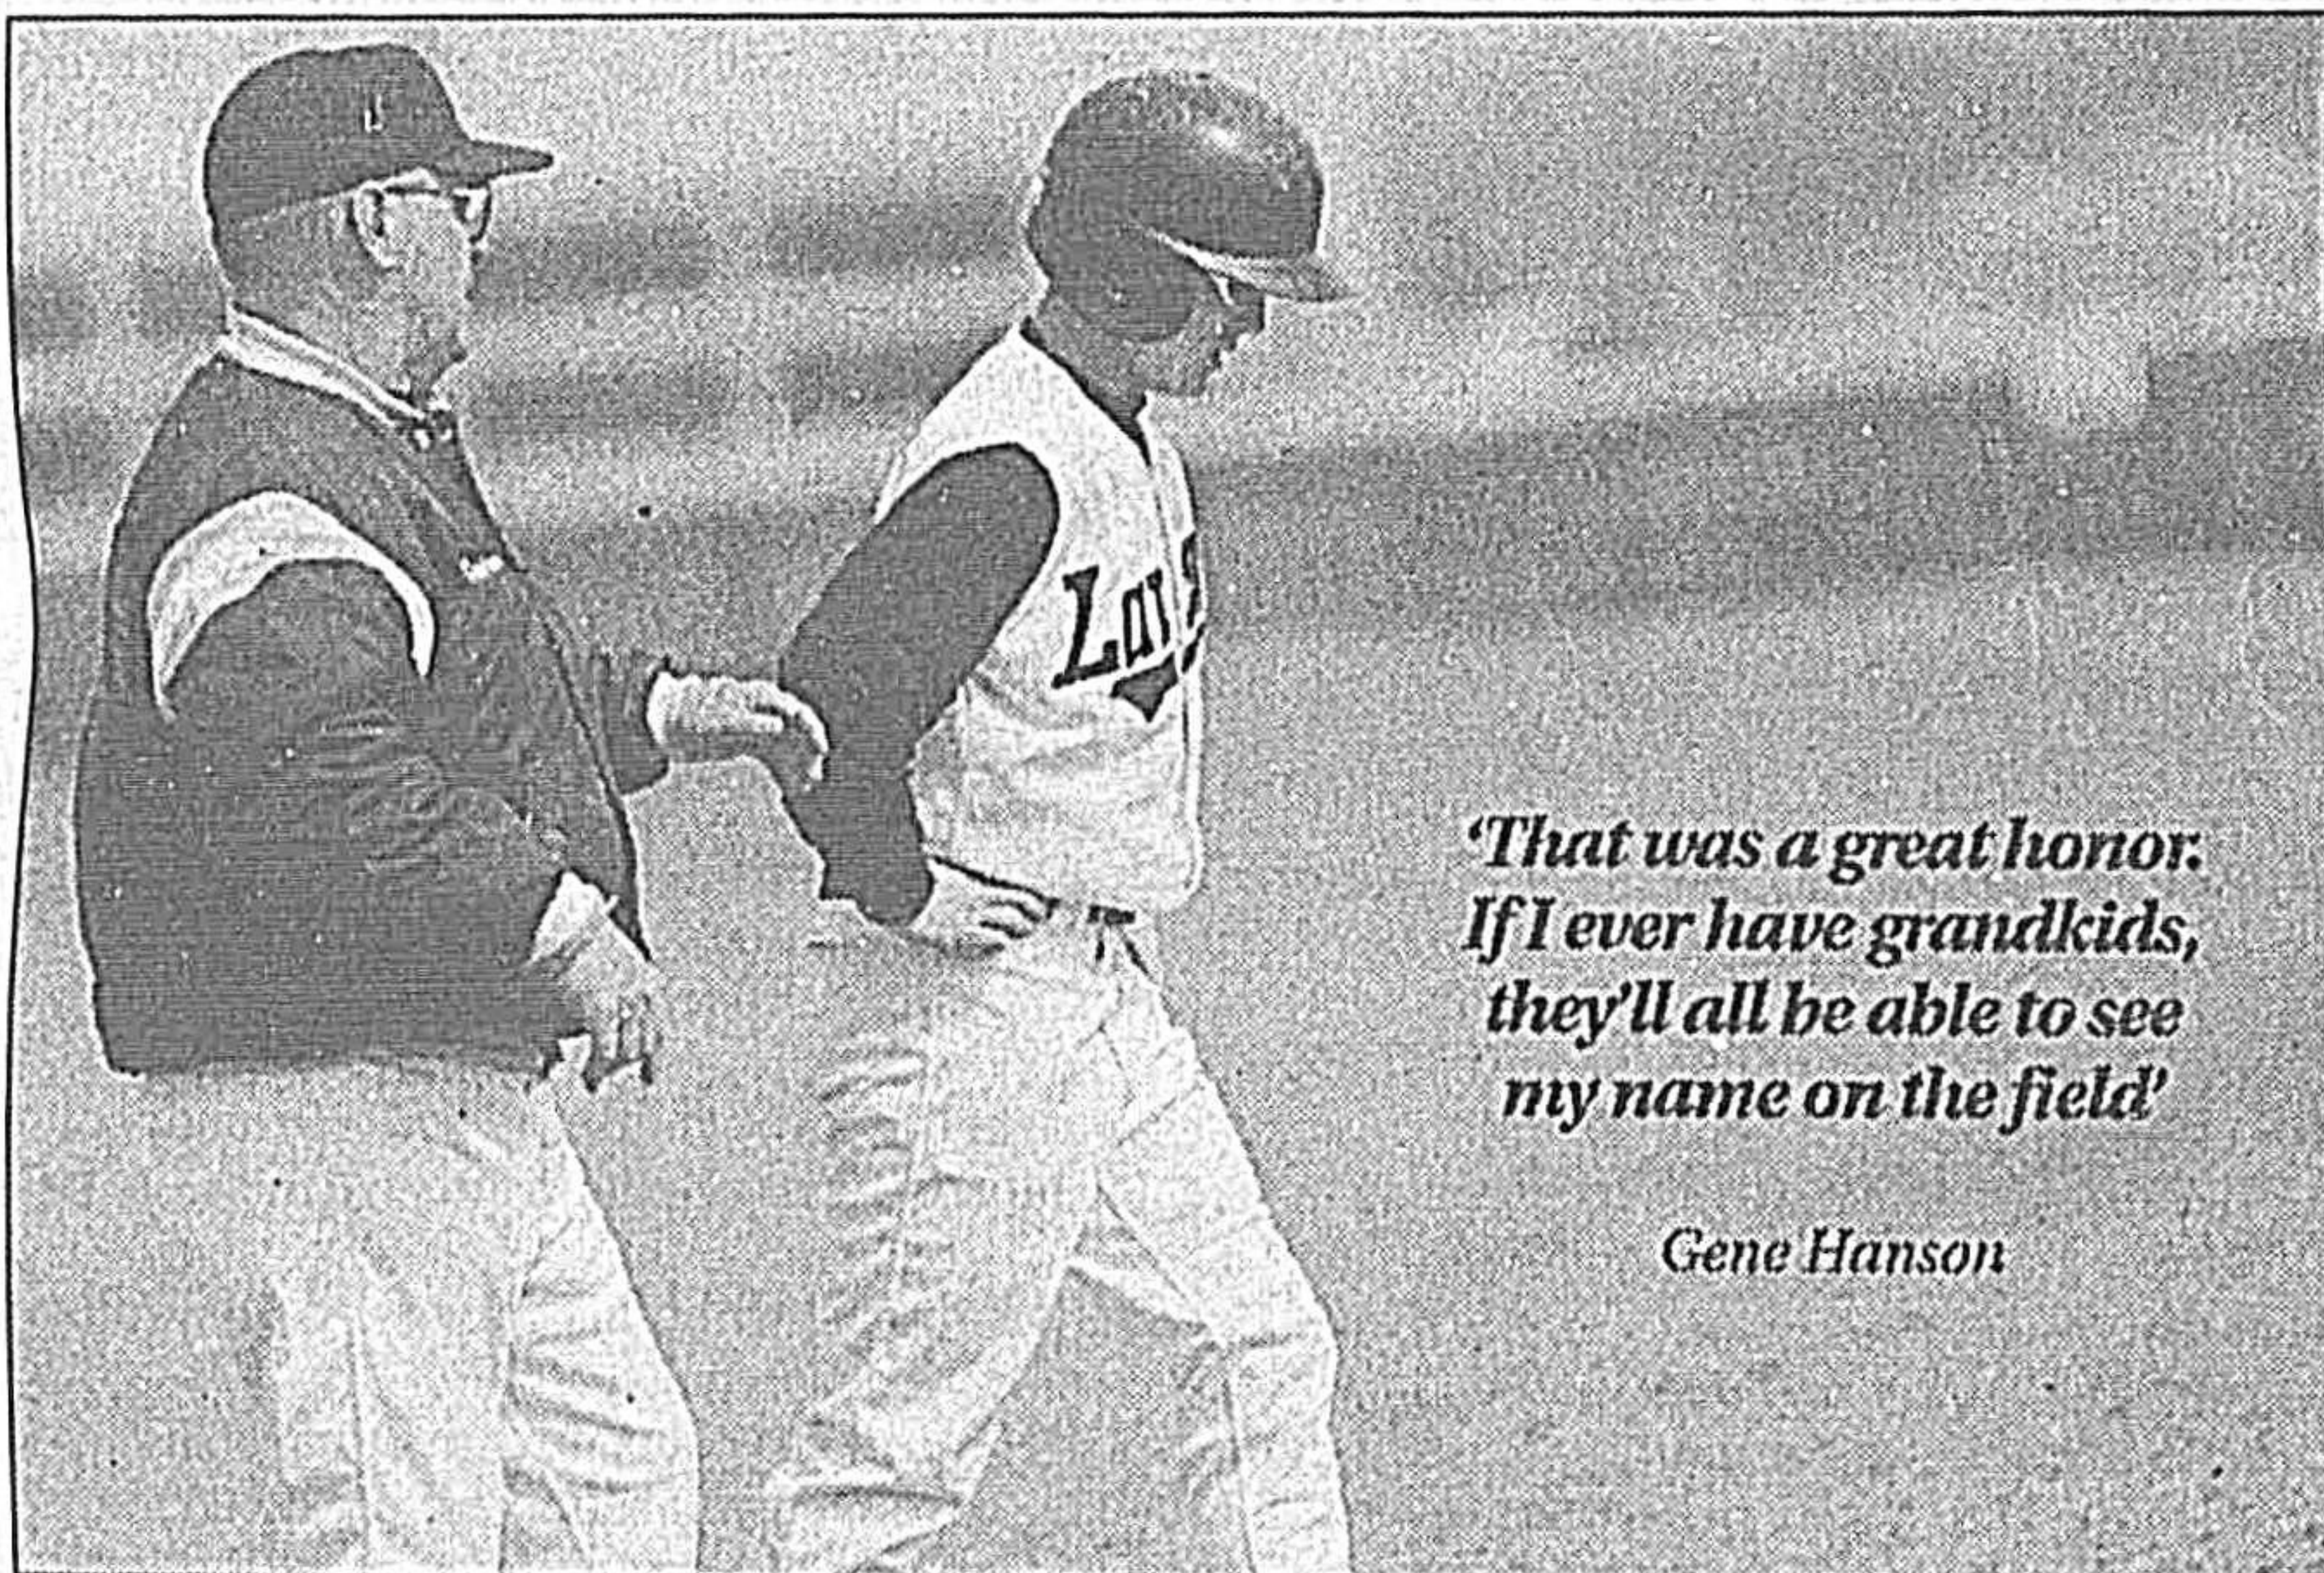

The Muntu Dance Theater will provide entertainment during dinner. The cost is $70 per person and includes gratuity and sales tax. Seating is limited. For reservations, call 708-485-0263 ext. 849.

Additional Nights in the Wild dinners in 2002 are scheduled for Fridays, April 19, May 17, June 21, July 19, August 16, September 20, October 25, and November 15.

Brookfield Zoo is known throughout the world for its innovative, naturalistic, multi-species exhibits; its international role in animal population management and wildlife conservation; and its devotion to helping people develop a sustainable and harmonious relationship with nature. Open every day, Brookfield Zoo is located off First Avenue between the Stevenson (I-55) and Eisenhower (I-290) expressways, just 14 miles west of downtown Chicago. The zoo is also accessible via the Tri-State Tollway (I-294), Metra commuter line, and PACE bus service.

GENE-IAL

1998 when CLC's baseball field was appropriately renamed Hanson Field.

"That was a great honor," said Hanson. "If I ever have grandkids, they'll all be able to see my name on the field."

Hanson has also accomplished several things as CLC's athletic director.

In 1995, Hanson helped to form the CLC Hall of Fame to recognize successful former CLC athletes.

"The first year we inducted 50 people," said Hanson. "And 45 of the 50 came from all across the county to be recognized."

As another way to recognize the success of CLC's athletes, Hanson helped form "Athlete of the Week" and "Athlete of the Season" programs.

The pinnacle of Hanson's goal to recognize CLC athletes will be a soon-to-be erected wall honoring each of CLC's 70 All-Americans in various sports.

"I love any opportunity to recognize the kids," said Hanson.

With so much success behind him, Hanson has no regrets. But he does have several goals he would still like to achieve.

"It's in the back of my mind to reach 1,000 wins," said Hanson. "I've also been fortunate to take a few teams to a National Championship but I haven't won one yet. I would like it if CLC got the opportunity to go to the JUCO World Series."

What Hanson will get the opportunity to do is to take a team of Chicagoland college all-stars to a tournament in Italy over the summer. He plans to include current CLC players Jason Schuler, Chris Draska and Russ Schaibly on the team of 16 players.

Whether or not Hanson achieves the other goals will be entirely up to him and when he chooses to step down.

"When it's not fun and when I can't relate to the kids, it's time to go," said Hanson. "I'm happy right now, but if it changes tomorrow, I'm gone. I don't want to be one of those coaches that stays too long."

HAPPY ST. PATRICK'S Day

Lakes Area Community Band in Antioch

Celebrate St. Patrick's Day with a free concert by The Lakes Area Community Band on Sunday, March 17, at 3:30 p.m. The concert will be held at the United Methodist Church, 848 Main St. in Antioch. The musical program for this performance includes symphonic selections from South Pacific, two traditional Irish pieces by Leroy Anderson, and more.

The concert band, under the direction of Steve Proch, is made up of a talented group of over 40 musicians from the Lakes Region and surrounding communities. All area musicians, adults and young adults are welcome to join. Rehearsals take place in the Antioch High School band room, Monday evenings from 7-9 p.m.

Find out more about this great local group at the free concert March 17. As always, refreshments will be served after the performance. The Lakes Area Community Band is sponsored by the Festival Arts of Antioch. Call Holly Friedrichs at 847-265-6595.

Chicago is seeing green

If the Chicago River is running green, it must be time for the Saint Patrick's Day Parade and everyone is Irish on Saint Patrick's Day in Chicago. With more than 30 bands in the parade, there will be lots of music in the air. But the Irish step dancers in their Celtic costumes will outnumber the musicians. Some 2,000-plus youngsters will high-step down the parade route. Air attractions include giant 25-foot shamrocks and a 35-foot leprechaun. Medieval knights and modern race cars will cruise down the street along with more than 50 floats and thousands of marchers. The parade starts in downtown Chicago at Dearborn and Wacker, the festivities last all day. Free admission, for more information call 312-942-9188.

Irish American Heritage Center tickets available

Only 3,500 tickets will be sold for the Irish American Heritage Center's 16th annual St. Patrick's Day Festival on March 16. The festival begins at 1 p.m., following the St. Patrick's Day Parade in downtown Chicago. The center is located at 4626 N. Knox Ave. in Chicago.

The festival will feature traditional Irish music, Irish step and Céili dancing, the wail of bagpipes, children's activities and Irish movies. There will be an exciting lineup of musical entertainment throughout the center from 1 p.m. to midnight.

Traditional Irish food will be catered by Unforgettable Edibles, including classic corned beef and cabbage. Sandwiches and snacks will also be available, as well as tea and soda bread.

Tickets are available by calling the Irish American Heritage Center at 773-282-7035. Tickets are $12.

Durty Nellies plans events

St. Patrick's Day weekend at Durty Nellies will be special. A huge tent in downtown Palatine will be set up Friday through Sunday for the festival. This event is free until 8 p.m. A $6 cover will then be in effect.

Ahhh ... the Luck of the Irish. There is a number of ways to celebrate St. Patrick's Day here in Chicago. Below is a listing of places celebrating this special day.

March 15 will begin the Kickoff Festival with Irish music for lunch and happy hour. Rock bands outside and inside at night. Irish food and beer served all day and night.

March 16 begins a Family Day Festival starting at 11 a.m. Kids under 13 and seniors are free. There is a $5 cover from noon to 4 p.m., $6 after 4 p.m. This event includes the Trinity Irish Dancers, Molly and Tinker, and a balloon artist and face painter. An Irish menu and a variety of activities for children will help complement the festivities.

Durty Nellies is located at 55 N. Bothwell, Palatine. For further information call 847-358-9150 or the web site at www.durtynellies.com

Irish events at Duke O'Brien's

Duke O'Brien's will bring the luck of the Irish to Crystal Lake for all of March. The restaurant will offer a variety of Irish cuisine every day of the month for both lunch and dinner. Duke's will host nonstop Celtic events featuring food, music and fun for all ages.

Starting Friday, March 15 at 12 p.m. to 2 p.m. there will be live music by the CrossRogues. Duke's will serve a delicious Irish menu for lunch and the CrossRogues quartet will perform Celtic music for your pleasure. Potato soup and the old standby of corned beef and cabbage is just part of the menu.

Sunday, March 17 is nonstop Irish music, food, beer and fun. Bagpipers will appear throughout the day. The world famous Trinity Dancers will perform, along with Celtic bands.

St. Patrick's Day Gala

Get in on some good old-fashioned Irish fun at Apple Holler's St. Patrick's Day Gala, when Razzmatazz takes the stage. This festive, fun, foot-stomping combo performs old-time standards from the Gay Nineties to the Roaring Twenties with their own blend of Ragtime, Dixieland and honky-tonk music, plus audience sing-along.

The St. Patrick's Day gala includes Wisconsin wine and cheese, a full-course Irish luncheon or dinner featuring corned beef and cabbage with mustard butter sauce, honey-glazed carrots, parsley potatoes, dark rye bread, and Irish whiskey bread pudding with custard sauce for dessert, or hot apple pie and cinnamon ice cream. The cost is $29.95 per person, plus tax and tip. Reservations are required. Show dates are March 16, 17, 19 and 22.

Apple Holler is located between Racine and Kenosha, Wis. on West Frontage Road off I-94 exit Hwy. KR.

Call Apple Holler at 262-886-8500 for reservations or additional information.

The fur is flying at Arlington Park

There's fun for the whole family at the Chicagoland Family Pet Show, March 15-17, at the Arlington Park racecourse in Arlington Heights. This show brings together pet lovers, pet owners, experts, products, service providers and great entertainment for the weekend. See dogs, cats, birds, hedgehogs, ferrets, reptiles, exotics, fancy rats and mice up close and personal.

World-class entertainment returns when Iams Wonderful World of Dogs presents their "Superdogs," the canine version of the Harlem Globetrotters. They are trained to run, jump and soar to unbelievable heights! They will perform Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

See appearances by the Fancy Feast Cat, Friskies Cat

Team and the Chef's Blend Cat, from commercials and movies. They will perform with their trainers all three days.

New this year, a special Grooming Contest, open to area groomers. The dogs being groomed will all be shelter dogs (or foster dogs) looking for a permanent home. The contest will take place Sunday afternoon and is open to 30 dogs. Groomers (from one to four on a team) will be assigned a shelter dog (by the luck of the draw) and will have one hour to groom the dog. Up to two groomers may work on a dog at a time. Judging will be done two ways with two sets of winners. For grooming contest info, call Romaine at 773-525-2525 or e-mail rolyingfur@aol.com.

Working Dogs will be honored at a Special Awards Ceremony on Sunday at 3:30 p.m. Awards will be given in the area of Search and Rescue, Service or Therapy Dogs, and Police and Fire Dogs. For award consideration, submit a short description (maximum one typed page) of what the dog has done and why it should be considered.

Enjoy watching the Human/Canine dancing partners as they prepare for the World Canine Freestyle Organization Divisional Competition. They'll be dancing to all types of music-classical, rock and roll, country western, Latin, etc. and performing intricate, graceful moves and tricks with precision and artistry.

With over 300 exhibits, you can shop for everything for your pet, plus talk to breed clubs, rescue groups, ability and training groups and more. There are contests for dogs, cats, birds and hedgehogs. There will also be a Weight Pull and a White Shepherd Specialty Match. E-mail at info@towershow.com for details and entry forms.

Hours are Friday, 2-9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m.-9 p.m.; and Sunday, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. Admission for adults is $9, $8 with cyber coupon off the web site.

Kids 3-12 are $6, with seniors 55 and older $6 on Friday only. Parking is $6. For more information visit the web site at www.towershow.com or e-mail info@towershow.com or call 630-469-4611.

SPECIAL EVENT

Celebrating Sousa

Keith Brian as John Phillip Sousa directing the "Stars, Stripes and Sousa" concert at CLC.

Stars, Stripes and Sousa, an authentic John Phillip Sousa concert, will be presented at the College of Lake County on March 17. The 4 p.m. concert will be performed by the CLC Wind Ensemble and the Navy Band of Great Lakes in the Mainstage Theatre of the Performing Arts Building on the Grayslake Campus.

Director Keith Brian is a famous Sousa conductor and historian who has led major orchestras such as the Boston Pops, the London Concert Orchestra and the Gothenburg Symphony in performing Sousa revival concerts around the nation and abroad. He also has appeared with the U.S. Marine Band, U.S. Army Band and the U.S. Army Ground Forces Band. He is currently a freelance conductor of symphony orchestras and professional bands, including his own "New Sousa Band."

Formed by Lieutenant Commander John Phillip Sousa in 1917, Navy Band Great Lakes has performed for countless audiences and in many different styles of music. The group represents Naval Training Center Great Lakes with the pride and professionalism that has become synonymous with both the sailors of NTC Great Lakes and with the United States Navy. The band takes great pride in being dubbed "The U.S. Navy's Ambassadors in the Midwest."

Tickets are $8 for CLC students, alumni and seniors 65 and over and $10 for the general public. Call 847-543-2300 for tickets.

New York Times writer to talk about biological weapons

Judith Miller, a senior writer for "The New York Times" and author of "Germs: Biological Weapons and America's Secret War," will speak on biological weapons at 7 p.m., March 18 in the Mainstage Theatre at the College of Lake County. Miller writes about national security issues, with special emphasis on the Middle East and weapons of mass destruction.

She joined the "Times" Washington bureau in 1977, covering the securities industry, Congress, politics and foreign affairs, and became the first woman to be named chief of the paper's bureau in Cairo, Egypt, in 1983. She served as a special correspondent during the Persian Gulf crisis in 1990 and later as the "Times Sunday Magazine" correspondent.

A graduate of Princeton University's Woodrow Wilson School, Miller is the author of three books, including "God Has Ninety-Nine Names," which explores the spread of Islamic extremism in 10 Middle Eastern countries. She also co-authored "Saddam Hussein and the Crisis in the Gulf," which topped "The Times" Best-Seller list during the Gulf war.

Miller's lecture is part of CLC's spring speakers' series, "Issues for the New Millennium," sponsored by Discover Financial Services and Motorola. Admission is $10 for the general public and free to CLC students and alumni. For additional information, call 847-543-2300.

Mara (Samantha Mumba) pleads with time traveler Alexander Hartdegen (Guy Pearce) to return to his own time before he suffers the same fate as many of her people.

At the turn of the 20th century a brilliant scientist and inveterate inventor, Alexander Hartdegen (Guy Pearce), time-travels into the far distant future where he discovers that humankind has evolved along two different paths.

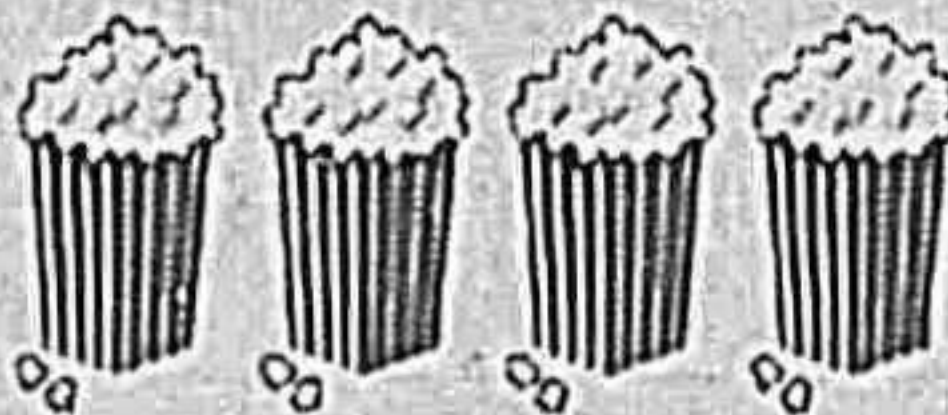

Hartdegen is an absent-minded professor of science in New York and among his inventions is a motorized toothbrush, designed to "...help people keep their teeth well into their forties." He corresponds with Einstein but hardly remembers a date he's late for with the woman he plans to marry. When tragedy strikes his fiancée, Emma (Sienna Guillory), Alexander buries himself in his laboratory, determined to unlock the puzzle of time travel.

Alexander's magnificent time machine remains a secret from his best friend and usual confidante, Dr. David Philby (Mark Addy) and his devoted housekeeper Mrs. Wachit (Phyllida Law). The machine itself is an elegant character in the plot with its dazzling brass fittings and whirling centrifugal panels transporting Alexander across eons, transiting time.

Reel Movies

George & Pam Singleton
www.reelmoviecritic.com

In the year 2030 Alexander meets Vox (Orlando Jones), at the New York Public Library. Vox is a hologram with attitude and knows everything there is to know—a self-described "compendium for all human knowledge."

Alexander glimpses humankind's race to control the galactic environment. Propelled 800,000 years into the future, he is rescued by the Eloi when his time machine is disabled. He is cared for by Mara (Samantha Mumba); a healer and teacher who speaks English (the old language) and her young brother, Kelan (Omoro Mumba, Samantha's real-life brother). The Eloi are gentle, passive people who live in pod-like shelters clinging to the sheer rock-face of cliffs, rising from a river bed and accessed by rope ladders, which are pulled up at sunset.

Evolution has created two distinct species and the Morlocks are mutated underground-dwellers—ashen warriors with ferocity. Carrying their Eloi victims off through sinkholes in the sandy earth, Morlocks give new meaning to the expression "dust to dust." Manipulating the behavior of these slope-headed monsters is an erudite leader, portrayed by Jeremy Irons. Human in form, with chalk-white skin, his subspecies is part of the underworld and not able to tolerate the sunlight but is knowledgeable and conversant about the history of mankind as he engages Alexander in a chilling dialogue.

This revised film adaptation of H.G. Wells' classic science fiction novel, "The Time Machine" is rife with political and social commentary, while telling an entertaining tale. And yes, they are related—director Simon Wells is the great-grandson of H. G. Wells.

Director George Pal's 1960 version has humor and a fairly contemporary look, considering it's been 42 years. The special effects are definitely dated, although those glowing Morlock eyes are still pretty scary. In both films we end up in the same place of desperation and dread, brought on by war, miscalculation and greed. In 1960, however, it appeared that Rod Taylor, as the time traveler, had landed on a Nordic island—everyone was very blonde. In this version the filmmakers wanted a more accurate portrayal of what the evolutionary tract predicts humans will look like in the far distant future.

Guy Pearce brings intensity and wit to this role as he did in his memorable performance in "Memento," but did not in a much-less-memorable turn in "The Count of Monte Cristo." Samantha Mumba, the popular Irish and African singer, with hit songs across Great Britain, makes a fine acting debut here and is lovely. The emotional component of love is unique to this adaptation and necessary for today's audience, so the character of Emma was created.

"The Time Machine" is a fun ride through time, and possibly a revealing one as well.

NEW RELEASES

New releases, currently playing at area theaters. Further information on these and other films can be found under Current Movie Reviews at www.reelmoviecritic.com.

Crossroads ★★

(Local): Three girls who have just graduated from high school take a cross country trip in search of what's missing in their lives. Britney Spears stars.

Dragonfly ★★

(Local): Kevin Costner is the recently widowed doctor who begins receiving messages from his dead wife through young patients recovering from near death experiences.

Hart's War ★★

(Local): American soldiers held in a German POW camp in late 1944 want to make a difference in winning the war. This becomes more difficult because some U.S. soldiers hate other American troops more than they hate the Germans. Bruce Willis stars.

John Q ★★

(Local): A factory worker father takes over a hospital to force the administration to place his child on the heart transplant list when he learns that because he has inadequate insurance, his son is being sent home to die. Denzel Washington stars.

Monster's Ball ★★

(Local): A prison guard/executioner inadvertently becomes romantically and emotionally involved with the wife of a man he executes. They both carry some heavy emotional baggage which results in a story beyond the "you killed my husband" realization and what to do about it. See Halle Berry in an Academy Award nominated performance.

Return to Neverland ★★

(Local): Sequel to the 1953 animated Disney classic, "Peter Pan," about a boy who refused to grow up.

We Were Soldiers ★★

(Local): The first real battle in Vietnam took place in November 1965. Lt. Hal Moore (Mel Gibson) found himself with 400 of his men caught in an ambush by 2,000 Viet Cong.

St. James presents Burnham String Quartet

The Burnham String Quartet will perform at St. James Lutheran Church, 1380 N. Waukegan Rd. in Lake Forest, on Sunday, March 17, at 4 p.m., as part of the 2001-02 season of Music at St. James.

The Burnham String Quartet is composed of Chicago Symphony artists Susan Synnestvedt and Florence Schwartz, violin; Catherine Brubaker, viola, and David Sanders, cello. The program for March 17 is:

- Mozart: "Quartet in C major, K. 157"
- Brahms: "Quartet in A minor, op. 51, No. 2"
- Beethoven: "Quartet in C major, op. 59, No. 3"

There is no admission charge for Music at St. James concerts. For more information, call 847-234-4859 or visit the church's web site at www.stjameslutheran.org

Chicago Botanic Garden offers internships starting this spring

The U.S. Department of the Interior Bureau of Land Management (BLM), Washington, D.C., has awarded the Department of Conservation Science and the Institute for Plant Conservation Biology, housed at the Chicago Botanic Garden, a total of $400,000 for use in conservation efforts.

The $300,000 grant will be applied to the development of a Conservation and Land Management Mentoring Program, which begins this spring. The Garden is recruiting nationally for 20 interns to participate in the program. Interns will possess bachelor's degrees and may be pursuing master's degrees or careers in environmental science and conservation biology.

"We are very excited about this program as we have a tremendous amount of work to do and not enough people to do it. The interns will work with BLM's endangered species biologists surveying, monitoring or collecting information on any of the 306 species listed under the Endangered Species Act that occur on the 264 million acres of public land managed by the BLM," said Peggy Olwell, manager of BLM's Endangered Species Program.

For additional information visit the web site at www.chicagobotanic.org

Sampler lecture series looks at 'Roaring Twenties'

It was referred to as the "Roaring Twenties" but did it really "roar" in McHenry County? In its annual Sampler Lecture Series, the McHenry County Historical Society takes a closer look at that pivotal period in local American history.

On four Monday evenings during March and April, several aspect of life during the 1920s will be highlighted in special presentations. Crystal Lake historian and businessman Jim Heisler will discuss on Monday, March 18 a glimpse of "Life in 1920s Crystal Lake."

It's on to the seamy side of history when local historian Craig Pfannkuche takes up "Gangsters, Politics, and Prohibition" on Monday, April 8. Appropriately this lecture will be held at Pink Harrison's Resort on Pistakee Bay.

On Monday, April 15, musical promoter Tracy Doyle and Ragtime pianist Dick Zimmerman will end the Sampler Series with a musical salute to the 1920s with samplings of songs and musical styles popular during that time.

Registration is required to attend the four lectures which will be held at the Society's museum at 6422 Main St. in Union, except for the one on April 8. All presentations begin at 7:30 p.m. The cost is $30 for all four lectures ($25 for members of the McHenry County Historical Society) and $10 for individual lectures. For further information or to register, contact the Society at 815-923-2267.

An Australian's approach to cooking basics with flair

In "Off the Shelf: Cooking from the Pantry" (William Morrow, an Imprint of HarperCollins; 2001), Australian food writer Donna Hay clearly states her mission: to help cooks "reinvent your pantry and your approach to cooking."

Hay does a good job of concentrating on basics, finding the right balance between well-chosen fresh ingredients and what's on hand in a well-stocked pantry, from pasta to rice to canned tomatoes. Her recipes are easy to follow and big on flavor. Couscous Salad and Seared Salmon on Coconut Spinach, for example, excites the palate with an exciting mix of tastes and textures. An added treat is the "eye-candy" photography that liberally illustrates this attractive volume; it's sumptuous.

Couscous Salad

Cook 2 cups couscous in 2 1/2 cups (1 pint) hot chicken stock. Toss the warm couscous with 23 ounces roasted diced (cooked) pumpkin or sweet potato and 7 ounces blanched snowpeas. Combine 3 tablespoons olive oil, 1/2 teaspoon harissa or chili paste, 1/4 cup chopped mint, 1/4 cup lemon juice and 1 tablespoon honey. Pour the dressing over the couscous, toss and serve.

Seared Salmon on Coconut Spinach

Serves 4

Four 6-oz. salmon filets, 2 tsp. grated ginger, 2 Tbl. soy sauce, Coconut spinach: 2 cloves garlic, crushed, 2 small red chillies, seeded and chopped, 2 Tbl. Asian chilli paste, 2 cups coconut cream (canned, unsweetened), 3 Tbl. lemon juice, 2 bunches spinach, stems removed

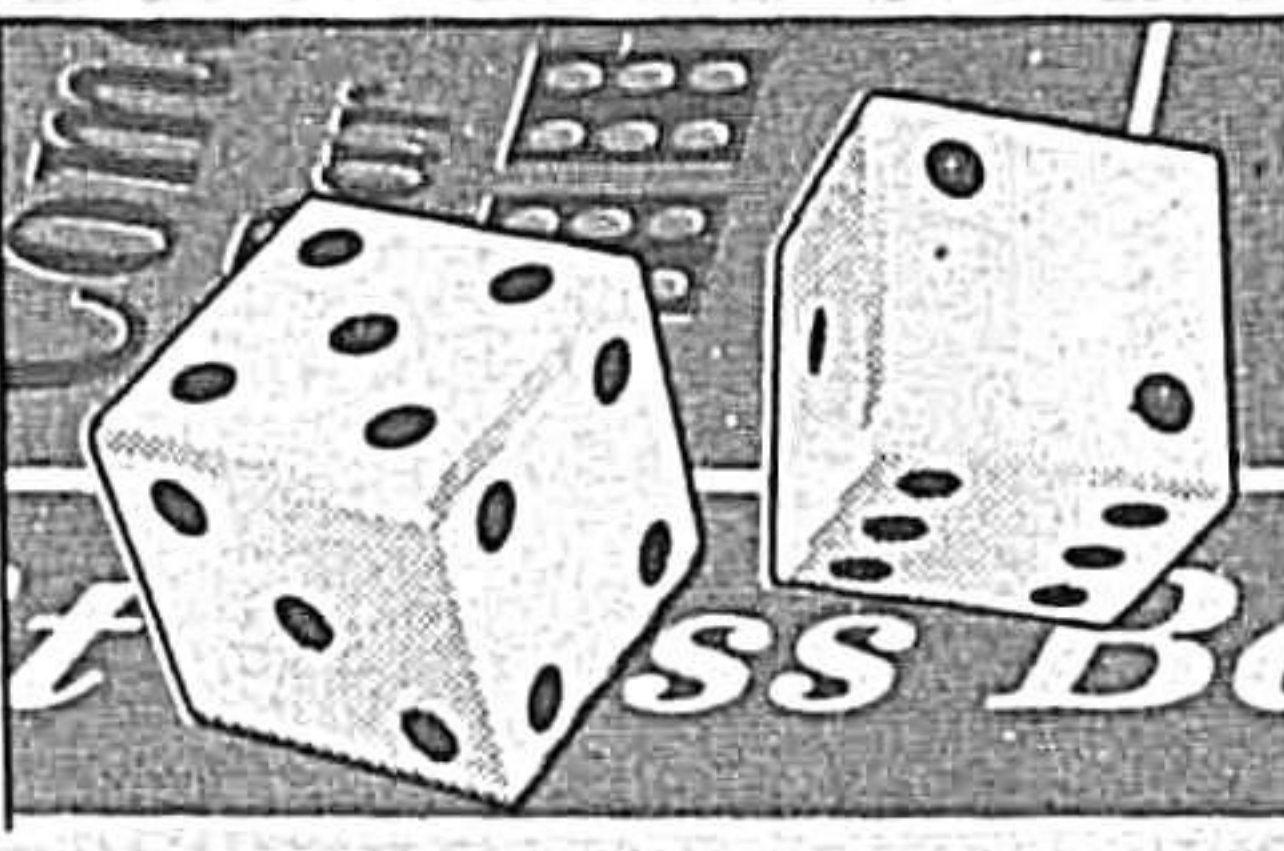

Place the salmon in a shallow dish with the ginger, sesame oil and soy. Allow to marinate for 10 minutes on each side. Heat a frying pan over high heat and cook the salmon for 1 minute on each side.

To make the coconut spinach, place the garlic, chillies and chilli paste in a saucepan over medium heat and cook for 2 minutes. Add the coconut cream and lemon juice and simmer for 4 minutes. Add the spinach and toss until wilted.

To serve, place some spinach on each plate and top with a piece of salmon.

Lake County looking for largest elm tree

For the past 20 years, the Soil and Water Conservation District of Lake County has held their annual plant sale. The goal of the program is to promote conservation by providing area residents with premium plant material while supplementing funding for district programs. The plant sale has grown from a modest seedling sale in 1982 to a sale boasting over 200 participants and offering 90 species of trees, shrubs, perennials, wildflowers, grasses and groundcovers. Because of the continued patronage over the past 20 years, the district was able to lower prices this year to honor all of their dedicated customers and offer a great service to new potential customers.

For the sixth year, the district, in cooperation with the Lake County Forest Preserve District, will sponsor a Big Tree Contest to coincide with the plant sale. The contest hopes to celebrate the importance and beauty of trees, while spotlighting some of Lake County's biggest living things. This year the district is awarding prizes for the biggest elm trees.

For the third year Money Grows on Trees is an SWCD program intended to help schools and youth groups fund special projects using the SWCD annual plant sale as a means of generating revenue.

The district's fish sale is back. The SWCD is offering eight different fish for pond stocking such as: catfish, bass, crappie, minnows, bluegill, red ear and carp.

It's not too late to participate in this once a year event. Contact Soil and Water Conservation District of Lake County at 847-223-1056 or lcsacd@telocity.com or www.lcsacd.org to request plant sale, fish sale and contest order forms. Big Tree Contest entries will be accepted until March 22, and plant sale orders can be placed until March 29. Plant material will be available for pick-up April 24 and 25 at the Lake County Fairgrounds. The deadline for the fish sale is March 22 and the pick-up is March 30. For more information contact Alyssa Vaughan at the district office or alyssav@telocity.com

'Building Bridges Through Song'

The Mitchell Museum of the American Indian, presents Jack Gladstone, a Montana Blackfeet lecturer, storyteller and musician, in a program titled "Building Bridges Through Song" on Saturday, March 16, from noon-2 p.m., and again from 4-6 p.m., at the Mitchell Museum, 2600 Central Park Ave. in Evanston.

The two-hour program combines stories, historical narrative, visual images and song as Gladstone depicts myths, animal legends, and character portraits to provide an overview of American Indian cultures.

Admission is $17 for the general public; $10 students and teachers; free children 11 and under. Pre-registration is encouraged. Phone the Field Museum at 312-665-7474

Then on Sunday, March 17, at 1 p.m. at the Mitchell Museum, Jack Gladstone will present a concert of Native American music. Gladstone received a Grammy nomination for "Folk Album of the Year" and was named "Songwriter of the Year" by the Native American Music Awards.

Admission to Gladstone's concert is included with an entrance donation to the Mitchell Museum. Suggested donation is: $5 for adults; $2.50 for seniors, students, and children. Maximum suggested admission per family is $10. For information, phone 847-475-1030.

Touch live snakes, reptiles during museum's 'Snake Days'

Get an up-close look at a menagerie of live snakes and reptiles—including a Burmese python and a boa constrictor—and learn the roles these misunderstood animals play in the environment during the 7th Annual Snake Days, 10 a.m.-4 p.m. March 16-17 at the Milwaukee Public Museum.

Visitors can see and touch a Burmese python, boa constrictor, corn snakes, bull snakes, turtles and tortoises, then talk with area specialists about snake science and reptile biology.

Bob Henderson, museum curator of herpetology, and members of the Chicago Herpetological Society will be on-hand to answer questions about which snakes and reptiles make good pets, and the role snakes and other reptiles play in the natural world.

Snake Days has been expanded to two days because of its popularity. Snake Days is free with regular museum admission: $6.50 for adults (18-59); $5 for seniors (60 plus); and $4 for children (4-17). Admission is free every Monday for Milwaukee County residents with identification. Museum hours are 9 a.m.-5 p.m. daily. For more information, call 414-278-2702.

Greater Theater Theater

Attic Playhouse produces 'Stepping Out'

A motley but loveable group of dance students try to conquer their inhibitions and an overabundance of left feet while preparing for an upcoming tap dance recital in the feel-good comedy by Richard Harris, at the Attic Playhouse in Highwood.

Performances run from March 15 through April 21, Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 3 p.m. There is no Sunday matinee on March 17 or 31.

Tickets are $14 advanced purchase and $15 at the door. Special discounts are given to senior citizens, students with I.D., military personnel and groups. Dinner packages at $29 are available with "Two Guys From Italy Restaurant" located in the same building.

Attic Playhouse is located at 410 Sheridan Rd. in Highwood, just north of Route 22/Half Day Road; one block east of Green Bay Road; across from the Highwood train station.

"Stepping Out" takes place in a seedy North London church hall/dance studio in the 1980s. All of the dance students are of various sizes, ages, backgrounds and dance skill levels, each with their own personal need to belong. Sometimes it is hard for Mavis to get her pupils to stop quarrelling long enough to dance, combined with the

CRITIC'S CHOICE

A provocative 'Long Day's Journey Into Night'

Eugene O'Neill's dark and disturbing Irish tragi-comedy, "Long Day's Journey Into Night," written between 1939-40 and first performed in 1956, is enjoying a noteworthy revival at Chicago's Goodman Theatre. The edgy three-and-one-half-hour autobiographical drama, set in 1912 at the summer house of the Tyrone family, is a showcase for O'Neill's poetic genius.

Thanks to formidable direction by Robert Falls and a rock-solid cast led by Brian Dennehy, the play is among this theater season's strongest offerings.

The Tyrone household is not a happy place; in fact, its occupants could easily stand in as poster children for the dysfunctional family.

Dennehy gives a passionate performance as the miserly, hard-drinking and hypercritical James Tyrone, a celebrated 65-year-old actor whose demanding career and vagabond lifestyle left a permanent strain on his family. James also bears the scars of a rough upbringing ("You learn to be mean; it's a hard lesson to unlearn").

There's tension aplenty as the family worries that Mary Tyrone, the morphine-dependent matriarch, is having a relapse. Pamela Payton-Wright is stunningly convincing as she dances around her problem, a lonely, sad human wreck trapped by her addiction ("The past is present... the future, too").

Steve Pickering packs gusto into the role of Jamie, the elder adult son, a failed actor who devotes his energies to liquor and wanton women. He's in a love-hate relationship with his seriously ill brother Edmund (David Cromer), a former merchant marine and aspiring writer who has yet to make his mark.

"Long Day's Journey" is filled with endless finger pointing and self-recriminations as each family member wonders aloud about how their lives might have turned out had they made different choices. Their agitation is as palpable as the late-summer fog (signaled by recurring blasts from a distant foghorn) that envelops the Tyrone house.

The play continues through April 6. Ticket information is available at 312-443-3800. —By Tom Witom

Village Theatre Productions to perform 'Company'

Village Theatre Productions will be presenting "Company," a musical comedy, March 15, 16, 23 and 24 at 7 p.m., and March 17 at 3 p.m. at the Brainerd Building Auditorium, 416 West Park Ave. in Libertyville. Tickets are on sale at the Libertyville Parks and Recreation Administration Offices at 625 Winchester Rd, Libertyville. Ticket prices are $9 pre-sale, $10 at the door and $7 senior citizens. For more information call Village Theatre Productions at 847-367-0774.

This musical, with book by George Furth and music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim, is an exploration of relationships as witnessed by a man named Bobby who, by his 35th birthday, realizes that having it all, but having nobody with whom to share it with, is not the definition of being alive. This very real portrayal of marriage, friendship and love is brought together by beautifully written music by Stephen Sondheim. Due to the nature and content of this play, "Company" is suggested for mature audiences.

Small Potatoes in concert at the Masthouse

Small Potatoes will perform Saturday, March 16 at 8 p.m. at the Masthouse 528 E. Calhoun Street in Woodstock. This Chicago-based duo, consisting of Jacquie Manning and Rich Prezios, performs a mix of music that ranges from country and blues to swing and Irish.

When you see Small Potatoes, you hear two great voices and some fine guitar playing, with a touch of tin whistle, mandolin and percussion. Together they present a rare blend of vocal, instrumental, songwriting and arranging talents.

"These folks are wonderful, fun, energetic, and great musicians. They're two of my favorite performers," said Bill Staines, singer and songwriter.

Opening for Small Potatoes is Tim Vanna. Doors open at 7:30 p.m., and admission is $10. For more information call 815-338-FOLK(3655). For reservations call Keith at 815-338-5164 or e-mail him at blueloom@mc.net or check out the web site at www.woodstockfolkmusic.co

HOROSCOPE

Aries - March 21/April 20

You can be unusually persuasive, Aries. Your biggest opponents are those who question your timing. Act as if you already know the answer and your instincts will prove right.

Taurus - April 21/May 21

You find deeper meaning in the most casual remarks lately, Taurus. Introspection causes you to do some self-analysis. Believe in your potential and you can do almost anything.

Gemini - May 22/June 21

You're caught off-balance by a surprising question, Gemini. Yet, you don't miss a beat. Cosmic forces are pushing love closer in your direction. Enjoy the rush while it lasts.

Cancer - June 22/July 22

A confrontation ends early when the weaker party gives in to your wishes, Cancer. The crab got lucky this time so make the most of it. Confusion arises midweek. Resolve it with patience.

Leo - July 23/August 23

When you see the shortcut this week, Leo, take it. There would be no entrepreneurs, pioneers or inventors if everyone waited for permission to push on. Danger is on the horizon.

Virgo - Aug 24/Sept 22

It takes only one kind word from a friend to remind you how wonderful you are, Virgo. There are many willing partners who are waiting for you to jump into the mix.

Libra - Sept 23/Oct 23

Expect a sudden reversal in your life, Libra. Everything is still going your way, but it changes somehow. As long as you can adapt

Scorpio - Oct 24/Nov 22

Being timid is not in your make-up, Scorpio. This is your week to shine and get noticed. The scorpion's desires will not be denied and pity those who stand in your way.

Sagittarius - Nov 23/Dec 21

Be careful about getting worn out this week, Sagittarius. It may be time to pass the torch to another able person. You have to remember you're as human as everyone else and need a break now and again.

Capricorn - Dec 22/Jan 20

You've had enough of being alone, Capricorn. You like to be around people even if they are quite different from you. Wear your heart on your sleeve this week and you're sure to find a love connection.

Aquarius - Jan 21/Feb 18

Avoid problems by making peace with troublesome individuals early on, Aquarius. The best compromise is a combination of everyone's best ideas — then go with it.

Pisces - Feb 19/March 20

It's finally time for Pisces to yell, "I told you so." But wait until there is a larger audience to experience it. Wednesday will be your day of victory, so enjoy it.

FAMOUS BIRTHDAYS:

March 17, Rob Lowe, Actor; March 18, Bonnie Blair, Speed skater; March 19, Glenn Close, Actress; March 20, Spike Lee, Actor/Director; March 21, Matthew Broderick, Actor; March 22, Andrew Lloyd Webber, Producer; March 23, Ric Ocasek, Singer

Dolphin calf has a name—Micco

Brookfield Zoo's male dolphin calf, born this past fall, now has a name—Micco. The name comes from "me'ke," a Seminole word for "king." During the past month, visitors voted for their favorite name from among seven possible names proposed by the zoo's staff.

Emily Wrigley, age 3, of Elgin is the winner of the contest, having been randomly selected from among those who voted for Micco. She has won a special behind-the-scenes day at Seven Seas for four people.

Micco continues to grow and is doing well, although zoo staff cautions that dolphin births are not considered successful until the calf is 1-year-old. Micco, born October 19, 2001, is beginning to interact with zookeepers. He has become more independent and frequently explores his habitat on his own under the watchful eyes of his mom and grandmother. Guests visiting the Seven Seas underwater viewing gallery can often see him inquisitively peering through the windows.

Brookfield Zoo is open every day, located off First Avenue between the Stevenson (I-55) and Eisenhower (I-290) expressways, just 14 miles west of downtown Chicago. The zoo is also accessible via the Tri-State Tollway (I-294), Metra commuter line, and PACE bus service.

In the blood

The sectionals at Waukegan High's East Gym has certainly generated its share of exciting moments over the years. Last week was no different.

With the 3,000 or so restless and energetic fans looking on, you just knew that something special was going to happen when the Warren Blue Devils took the court against archrival Zion-Benton in semifinal action. Kind of like a sixth sense, so to speak.

The hype certainly lived up to its billing. It was like watching a heavyweight title fight between Ali and Frazier. Back and forth. Warren and Zion.

Breaking it down even further, Zion's Andre White and Warren's Ashton Hughes.

The two combatants single-handedly gave the partisan crowd something to remember. Tit for tat, let's call it.

It was White's three-point play that seemingly put the game away as Zion went ahead 51-50 with 4.9 seconds left.

It gets better.

After a Blue Devil timeout, Hughes received the inbound pass from John Shaw and promptly took the ball down the court only to heave up a running three-pointer at the buzzer to sting the Bees.

"I just smiled, stood there and shook my head," said White. "I guess it was their turn. We got them at the end of the game at sectionals last year."

Shortly after his heroics, Hughes came up to White and gave him a big hug. "We finally got you guys," Hughes said to White afterwards.

But it should come as no surprise that both of these players have gotten kind of used to making that big play.

It's ironic though that it came down to White and Hughes, seeing that they are related. Cousins, in fact.

"I was kind of surprised. I was in eighth-grade (at Central Junior High in Zion) and some guy came up to me and said he was my uncle," said White, on first learning that he was Ashton's cousin. "We don't really talk a lot or see each other too often."

Except for an occasional family reunion, Hughes remembered.

"Andre was going to be a freshman and I heard that he wanted to play varsity ball," said Hughes recalling the family reunion in Waukegan the summer before his sophomore year. "I said let's see what this guy's got."

White wasn't shy.

The duo wound up playing each other in a pick-up game at the reunion.

"He was scared to guard me," joked White. "So he'd go underneath (the basket) and watch."

Don't worry Ashton. A lot of teams have stood under the basket watching White light up the scoreboard.

But even if it was for just this one night and one night only, your cousin was on the receiving end of the 'big play'.

Grass Lake's Fain making her mark

By WESLEY WARD
Correspondent

Ohio high school basketball sensation LeBron James has been creating quite a national stir the past few months with several of the National Basketball Association's top stars coming to watch him play.

In Illinois, Grass Lake Middle School's Ashley Fain has been creating a buzz of her own, breaking the school's scoring records with relative ease.

Early during this season, eighth-grader Ashley broke the school record of 29 points scored in a game when she netted a career high 31 in Grass Lake's 42-34 overtime victory over Millburn in regular-season action.

Almost as impressive as her 31 points were the 12 steals, nine rebounds and three blocked shots she also accumulated in that contest.

However, just four games later, Fain was at it again, and broke her own record with a 37-point effort in the Lady Braves' 46-45 victory over Stanton. In the first quarter alone, Fain netted 15 points. She finished shooting 13-for-30 from the field.

"Ashley is the quickest kid on the floor," said Jeff Fain, the Lady Braves coach and Ashley's father. "She really stands out on the court. She has very good court awareness and can spot the opponents weakness and then attacks it."

Ashley leads the Lady Braves in scoring with 18.9 points per game this season, but also leads the team in assists, steals, and is tied for the team-high in blocked shots.

Overshadowing her offensive abilities would be the 49-8 record that her team has compiled during her three-year career. During that span, she has led every team she has played for to a first-place finish.

"Ashley is a team leader," said Jeff Fain. "She leads by example on the court and tries to get everyone involved in the offense."

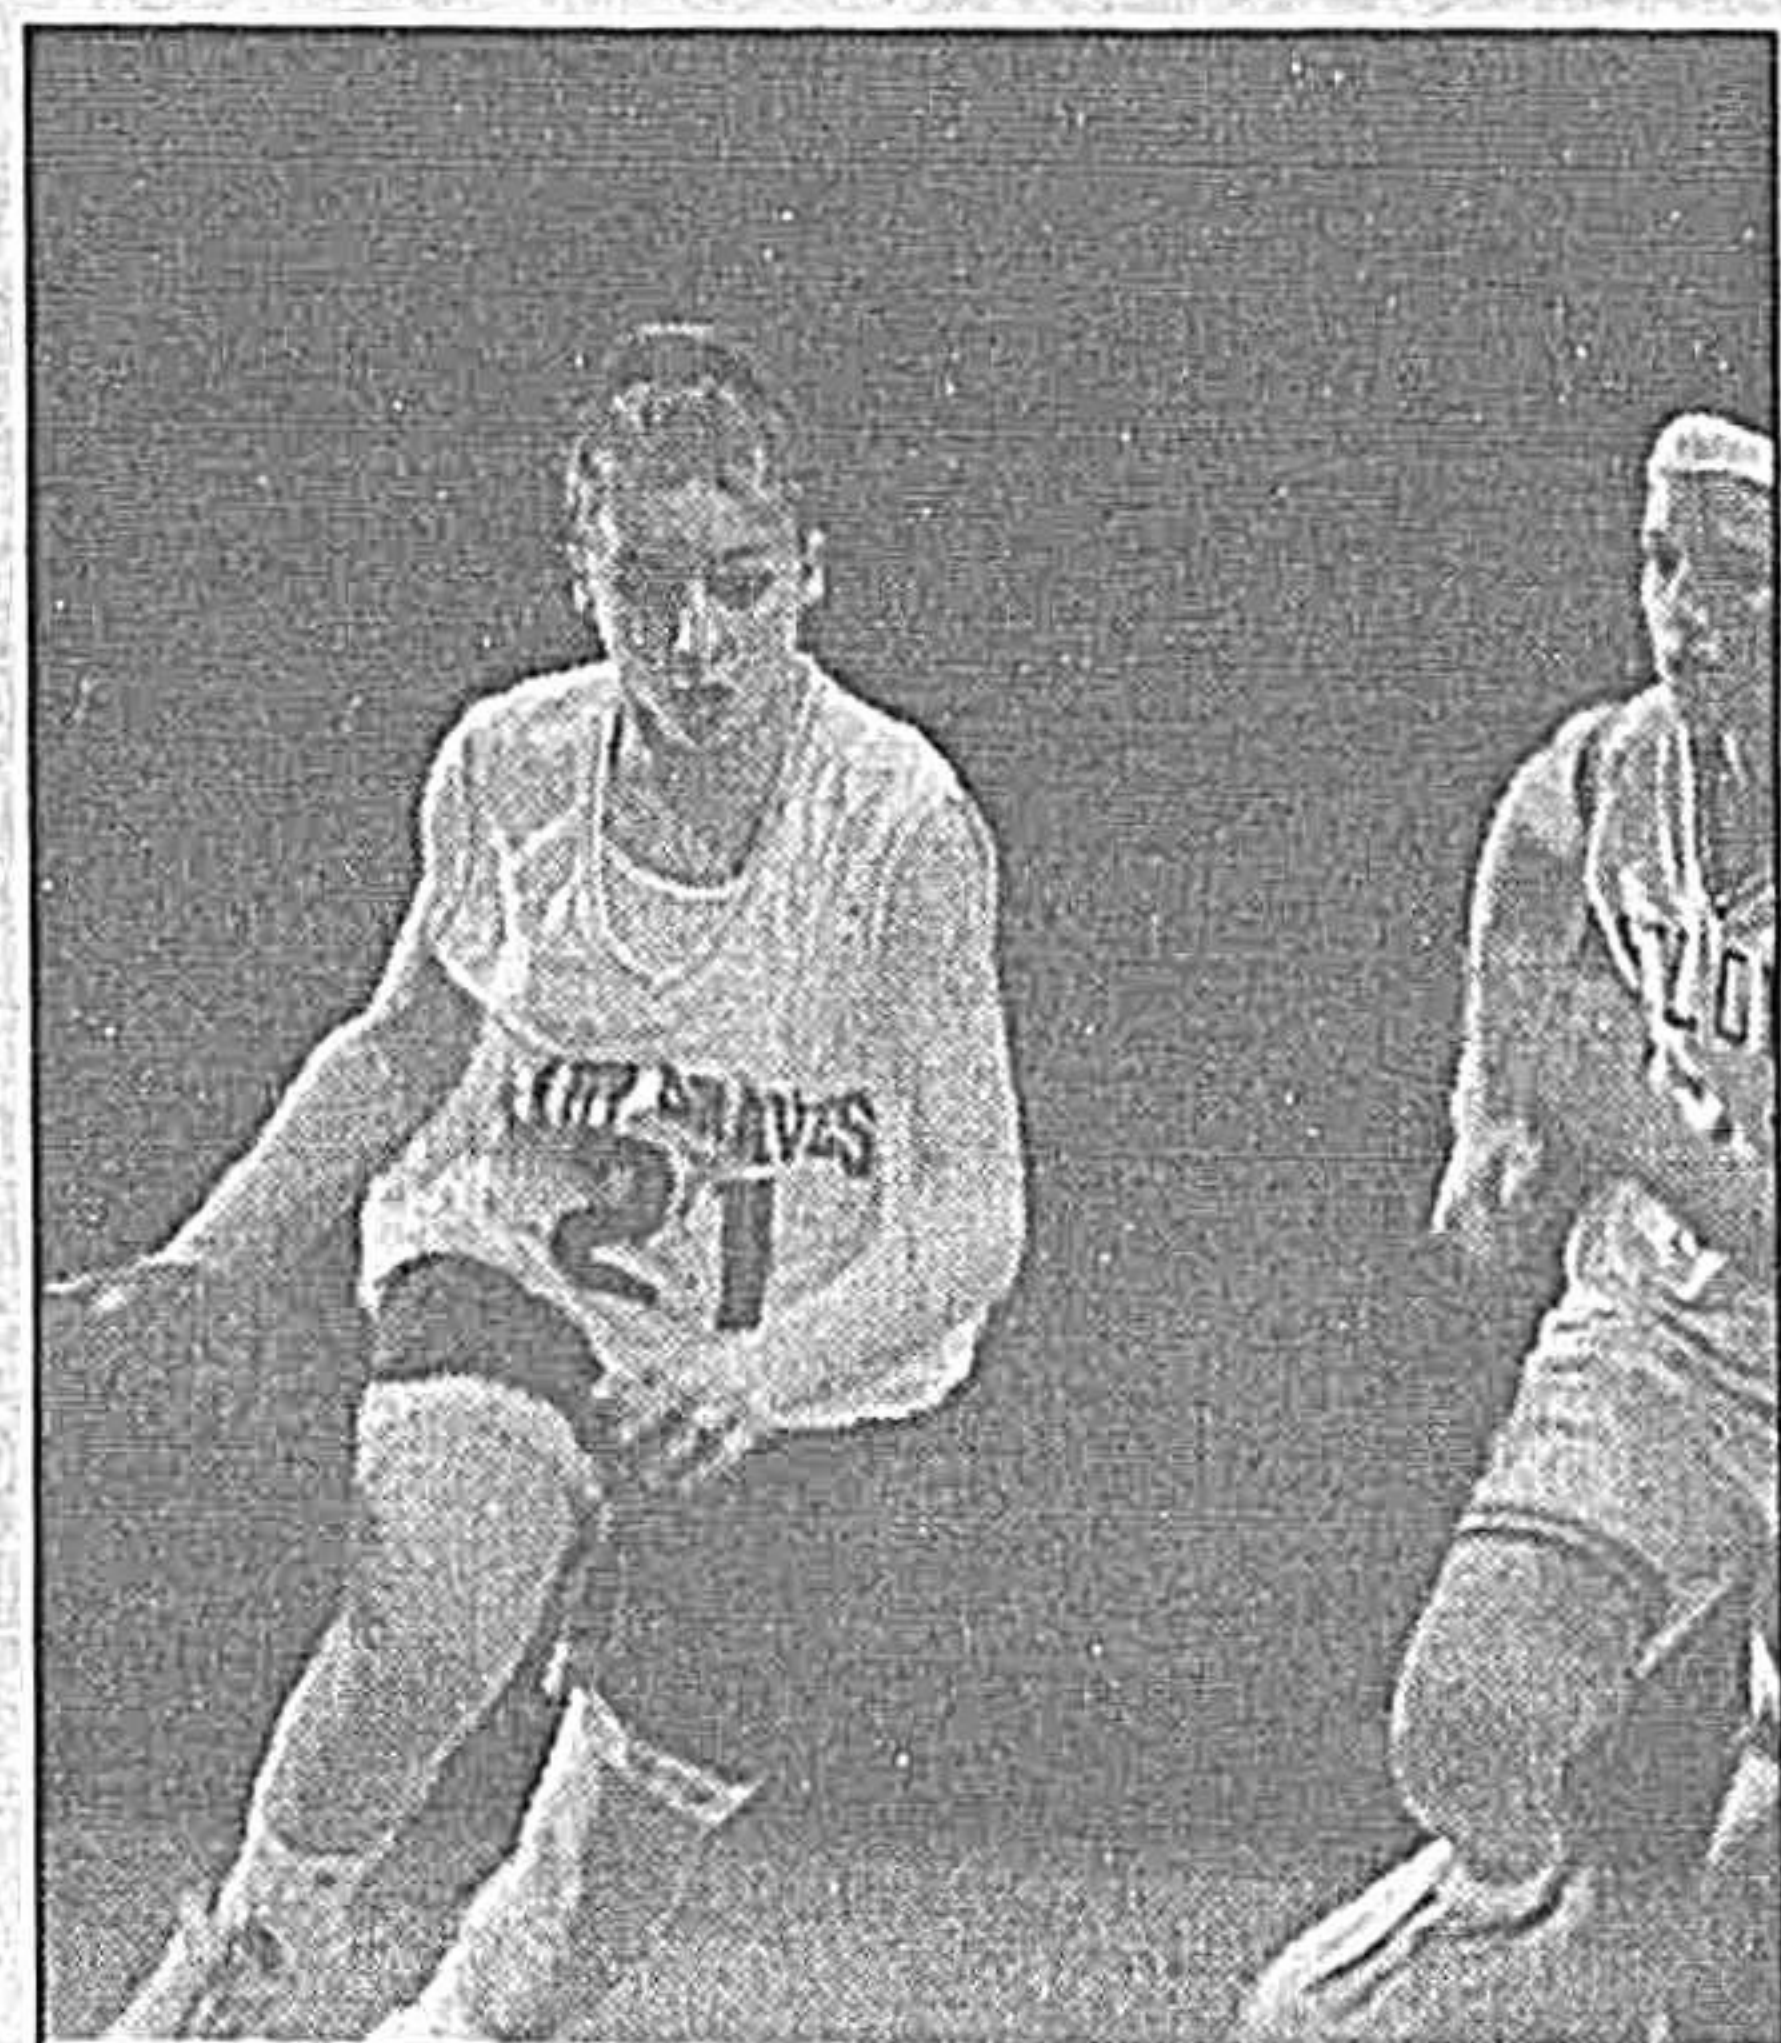

Ashley's enthusiasm for basketball began at an early age when she would watch her father play. As she grew older, the two began playing together and soon competing against one another in small pickup games.

"I love everything about the game," said Ashley. "I really enjoy helping my teammates and trying to get them the ball."

With so much offensive talent, Ashley's defensive skills are often overlooked. However, it is hard to ignore the 12-steal effort Ashley posted against Millburn or the six steals she had against Stanton.

"Ashley is very tenacious," explained Jeff Fain. "She refuses to give up. If someone steals the ball from her she wants to redeem herself by getting the ball back."

Although Shaquille O'Neal and

Michael Jordan may not be flocking to Grass Lake Middle School this year, should Ashley continue to out perform her peers next season at Antioch High School, it probably won't be too long before stars come out to see her play.

Goalball helps visually impaired

By MIKE KRIZMAN
Correspondent

Imagine a physically impaired child wanting to take part in athletics but are rarely picked in gym class because of their disability. The child grows up not being able to compete in a competitive sport.

The Great Lakes Adaptive Sports Association (GLASA) aims to help kids who are physically disabled. GLASA allows impaired children as well as adults to take part in competition designed specifically for them. All programs are geared toward individuals looking to participate in sports as well as prepare for competition.

"We are a non-for-profit organization that offers recreational sports for both youths and adults," GLASA executive director Cindy Housner said. "We compete in everything from wheelchair basketball to wheelchair tennis to adaptive aerobics."

One game in particular is geared toward those who are visually impaired. Goalball is a GLASA sponsored sport that allows the visually impaired to take part in athletic competition. It originated in Europe during the 1970's.

The object of Goalball is to roll a ball that contains bells past the opposing team. The game is played on a floor similar to the dimensions of a volleyball court, with two teams of three players, each alternating on offense and defense. The defense listens for the approach of the ball and attempts to prevent it from crossing the goal.

The ball is rolled back and forth with the offense and defense alternating until time expires. Goalball is played in two five or seven-minute periods and the audience must be silent during competition so the players can hear the approach of the ball.

It's a sport that has been a lifesaver for many children.

"My daughter Lindsay was born blind and for years I couldn't find anything designed for the visually impaired," parent Nancy Sloan of Barrington said. "I found out about GLASA and goalball about five years ago and it's a perfect way for visually impaired kids to socialize and be a part of a team."

"It's changed my daughters' life. She's become an athlete and has helped mentor other visually impaired kids."

Players who participate in goalball must have visual impairments and competition is split between men and women as well as age groups.

Not all athletes who participate in goalball are completely blind. Some have gradually lost their sight over time. To level the playing field, each athlete must wear a ski mask that is painted over with black paint.

"I know of one girl in particular who is a really good athlete, but her sight has grown worse over time," Sloan said. "She started taking part in goalball and it has been a real life saver."

"There are kids at the high school level that compete," Sloan added. "For them to be able to go to school and say they have a team, that is such a connector to their sighted peers."

GLASA is located at the Gorton Center in Lake Forest. Those interested in learning more can visit www.glasa.org or call 283-0908 to discover more about the organization. GLASA is also currently looking for adult volunteers. Those interested can call the same number.

To learn more about goalball, visit the United States Association of Blind Athletes website at www.usaba.org.

Newburger, Woo make their point

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Vernon Hills senior guard Jason Newburger had one fitting description following last week's sectional finals of the COUNTRY Insurance Three-Point Shoot-out at Waukegan's East Gym.

"Nerve-wrecking," said Newburger. "I was really nervous during the first rack. But once I got into a rhythm, the nerves went away."

With three racks consisting of five basketballs each, Newburger led four qualifiers, converting on 11.

He will head down to Peoria for the state final preliminaries Mar. 14 beginning at 5 p.m.

From there, the final qualifiers move to the finals Mar. 16 at 12:30 p.m.

Shooting fifth in the rotation of eight finalists at Waukegan, Newburger hit 6-of-10 through the first two racks.

Then the rhythm that he referred to kicked in on the final rack as he sunk all five shots.

"I think it was an advantage shooting in the lower half," said Newburger, who netted 13 points per game this season for the 19-8 Cougars. "You kind of get an idea of what you have to make after seeing the first four guys shoot. It's also a nice position in the rotation because then you can put the pressure on the guys that are left."

Joining Newburger in Peoria will be neighbor James Woo, a senior guard from Libertyville.

Woo, shooting next to last in the rotation, finished tied for second with Waukegan's Leron Frazier. Both connected on 10 treys in earning the berth downstate.

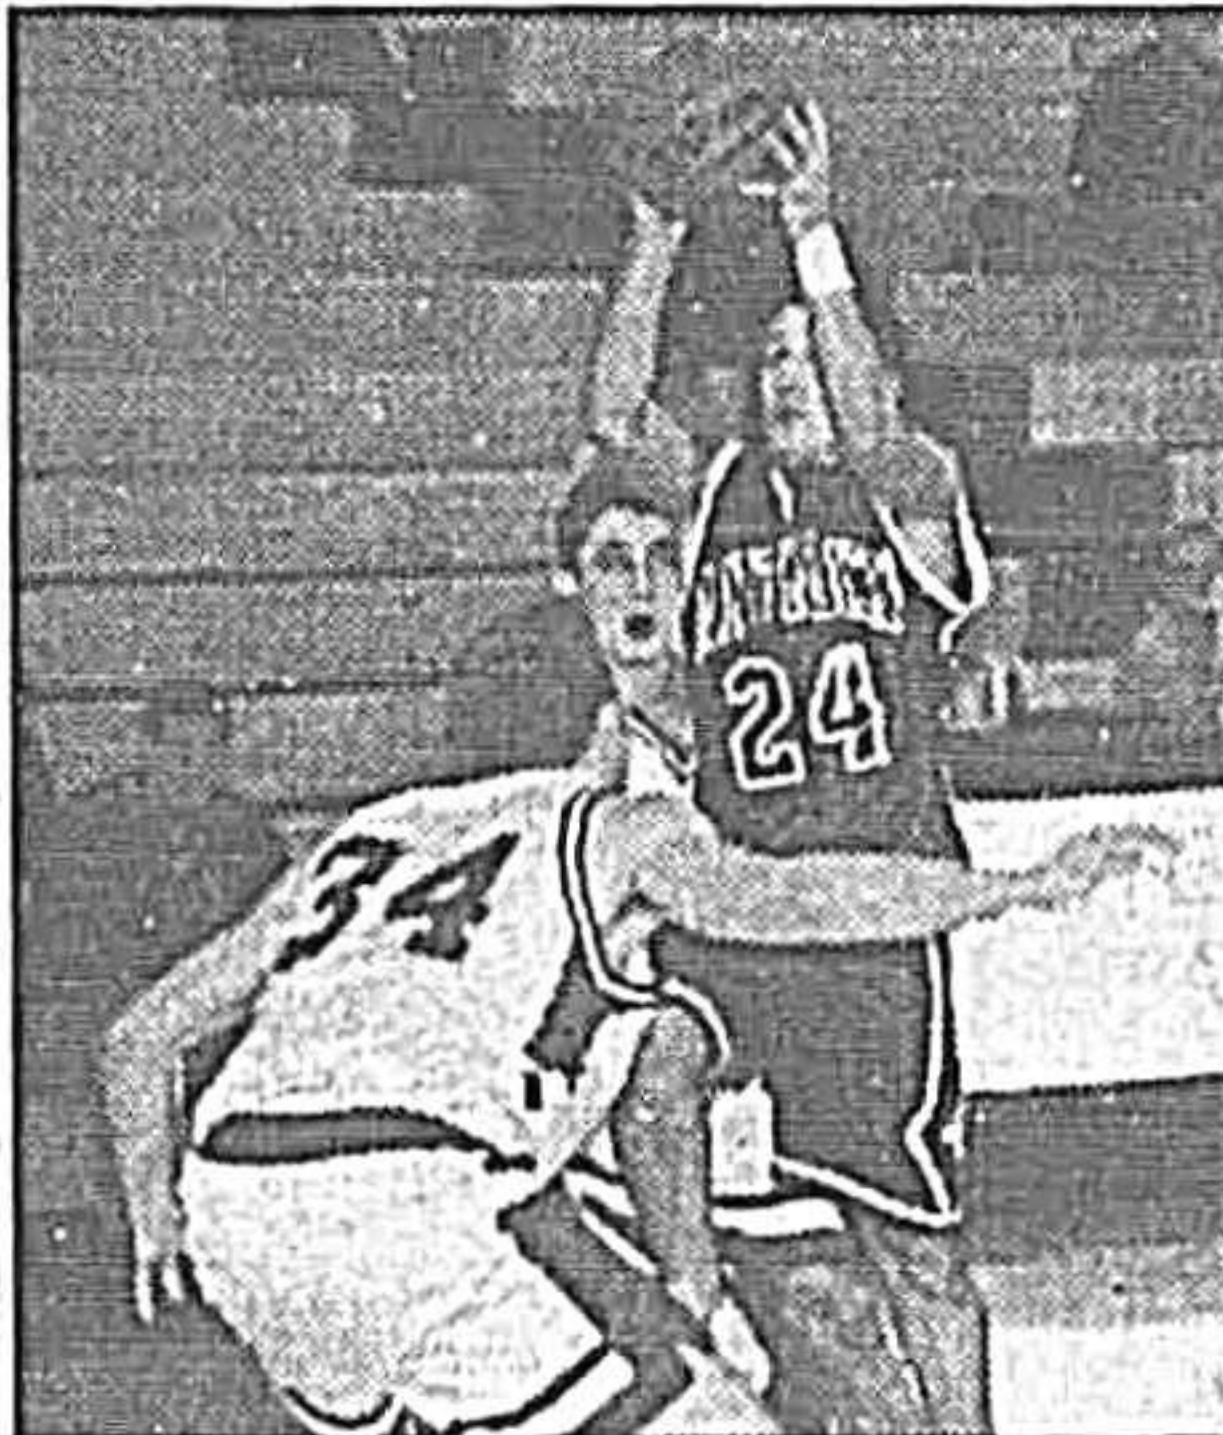

"I started off pretty bad," said Woo, who made only one of his first five shots. "But then I found the rhythm."

Rhythm is right. Over the last two racks, Woo missed only one, making 9-of-10.

Grayslake's Josh Peregrin, shooting second in the rotation, narrowly missed qualifying after converting eight treys. Grant's Jeff Durlak, fourth in the order, connected on seven while Carmel's Dexter Reid, Jr. made five.

In the semifinals earlier in the week, other area sharpshooters participated but came up a little short.

Antioch's Allen Patin, Libertyville's Drew Armer and Grayslake's Ryan White just missed the cut-off, making seven attempts. Wauconda's Todd Schroeder finished with six.

Jr. Sequoit basketball has roller-coaster week

The Antioch Jr. Sequoits sixth-grade boy's basketball team had a tough week by going 0-3.

In a 39-33 loss to Stevenson, Trey Williams had an outstanding game leading the Sequoits with 28 points while Dan Kalb chipped in with five.

In a loss to Grayslake, John Androus led Antioch with seven points. Chris Palmer and Jimmy Hansen also turned in solid performances.

In the rematch with Grayslake the Sequoits lost 40-26. Williams with 14 points to lead the way. Also contributing on offense were Palmer, Kalb, Austin Grimm and Andrew Stein. Playing solid defense for Antioch throughout the week were Timmy David, Matt Laine, James Androus and Steve Nosek.

Seventh-grade

Meanwhile, the seventh-grade Jr. Sequoits had better fortunes in going 5-1 for the week.

First, in a 77-49 victory over Grayslake, Chuckie Kempf netted 19 points while Will Harrison added 12 points, 12 rebounds and five steals. Tom Bennecke (10 points, eight rebounds), Max Thain (eight points, four steals), Craig Holst (eight points, three steals), Sean Hertz (seven points, four assists) and Josh Knaack (eight points) also contributed to the win.

In a 57-43 victory over Grant, Hertz tallied 16 points to go along with three steals while Kempf added 12 points and eight boards. Brett McKenzie, Bennecke and Knaack added six apiece. Other players figuring into the scoring included Thain (five points) and Tim McGowan (four points). David Cenedella and Jeremy Pohlman each chipped in with two.

Antioch then cruised past Wauconda 70-50. Bennecke led the way with 14 points and nine rebounds and Hertz complemented him with 14 points and three steals. McGowan and Kempf also reached double-figures, scoring 13 and 10 respectively. Both also grabbed four rebounds. Knaack added six points and four steals, Thain five points and five steals, and Pohlman three points.

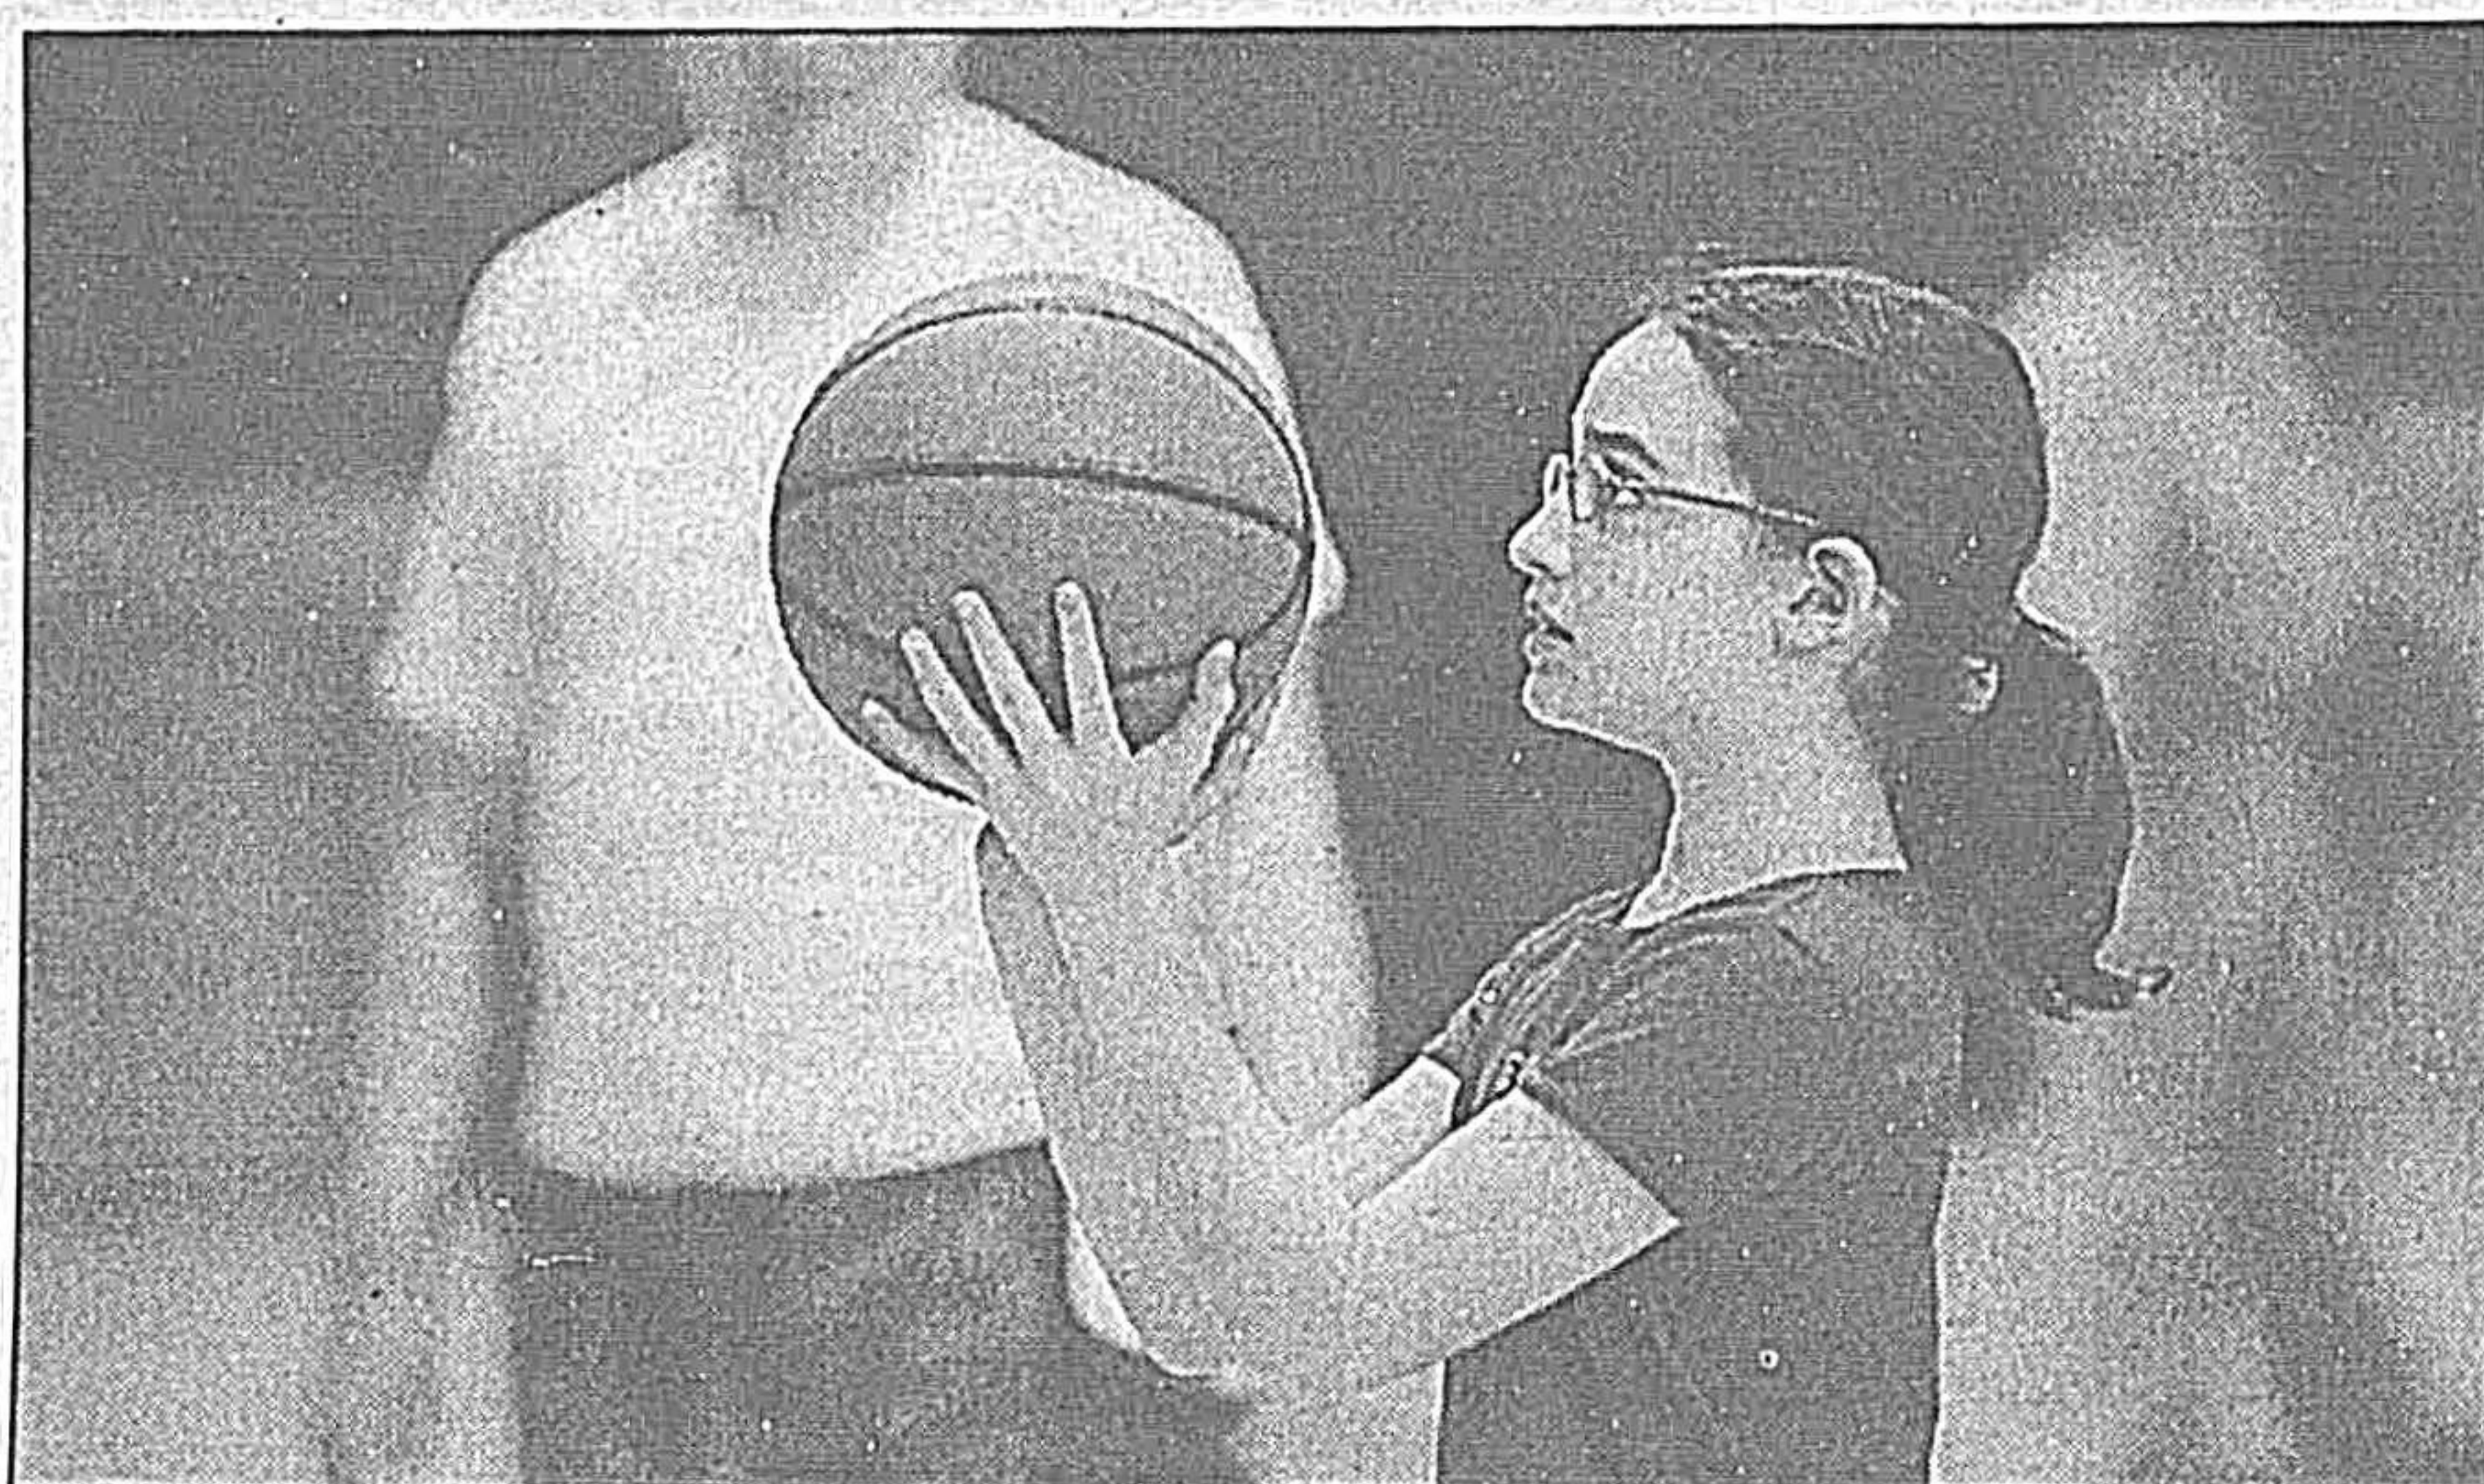

The Jr. Sequoits, behind Harrison's 14 points and six rebounds, prevailed over Warren, 56-36. Bennecke added nine points and eight boards, Cenedella eight points and eight rebounds, Hertz eight points, five steals and five assists, and McKenzie five points in the win. Holst and Knaack also scored four points in the win.

Antioch then lost a close decision to Woodstock, 39-38. Harrison led the way with 12 points, 10 boards and seven steals. Kempf added 10 points and four rebounds, Hertz eight points, four assists and five steals, Bennecke four points and six rebounds.

In a 43-40 loss to Stevenson, Hertz had 10 points and three steals, Holst eight points and four steals, Harrison six points, Bennecke six points and eight rebounds, and Thain and Kempf four points each in the losing effort.

Antioch capped off the week with a 68-46 victory over Grayslake. Hertz lit up the scoreboard, pumping in 29 points to go along with nine steals. Thain was next with eight points, three assists and three steals and McKenzie added seven points. Kempf chipped in with six points, Bennecke six points and eight boards, Cenedella four points and Pohlman three points.

She shoots and she...

Ten-year-old Margaret Archibald lines up her shot during the Knights of Columbus regional free-throw championships at Transfiguration Church in Wauconda. Three Antioch youths representing Council 3800 at St. Peter participated. In the girls 14-year-old division, Kelly Inman was a little off the mark, converting on 10-of-25. In the girls 11-year-old division, Natalie Schurdak connected on 6-of-25. In the boys 11-year-old division, Kyle Sytsma shot well but came up one short, connecting on 21-of-25. With his second-place finish, Sytsma qualified as an alternate for the state championships at St. Thomas Moore High School in Champaign on April 20. All participants received a certificate. The top-3 finishers in each division received plaques.— Photo by Sandy Bressner

Prince of Peace boys finish 19-3

The Lake Villa-based Prince of Peace sixth-grade boys' basketball team finished its most successful season in the last five years with a 19-3 overall record.

Competing in the Fox Valley Catholic Conference, the Apaches tallied a 15-1 conference record in winning the regular season title.

Prince of Peace, which beat every team in its conference, suffered only one conference loss by one point to Transfiguration. In fact, all three of its losses were by a combined 11 points.

The Apaches also won two of three games in their conference tournament, finishing second.

"It was the best finish I have seen in five years at Prince of Peace," said head coach Gary Link. "To do what we did as the smallest school in the conference makes it even more amazing."

Every member of the team scored throughout the year and the team often had a different leading scorer in each game. Prince of Peace was also a very inexperienced team, with three first-year players out of the 10 team members.

"What made us so successful was that we played tough defense, we never quit and we had a true team concept," said Link.

Team members included: Jonathan DeGrave, Kevin Doetsch, Jacob Heuvalman, Zach Jung, Joshua Nieman, Colin O'Malley, Randy Ratajczyk, Anthony Thommes, John Vanlerberghe and Alec Zelinski.

The coaches of the team were Link, Doug Nieman and Mick Urbanski.

"We are already looking forward to defending our crown next year," said Link. "And we know it will be even harder."—Rob Backus contributed to this report

Michling-Beaubien square off in 52nd District debate

Transportation and the state budget deficit as well as leadership styles were issues expressed by hopefuls at a debate for General Assembly candidates for the 52nd District.

Challenger Pete Michling and incumbent Mark Beaubien (R-Barrington Hills) expressed their views before a sparse audience of about 20 people. The McHenry County League of Women voters sponsored the debate. Voters will decide between the two candidates in the March 19 Republican primary. The district covers west to Woodstock, some of Wauconda Township, some of Grant and Cuba Township in Cook County. Polls will be open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

"They're pretty close (in their views). It is important to come and here the candidates," said voter Jim Schlander.

The extension of Route 53 in McHenry County was one of the transportation topics.

"I have been studying the Route 53 expansion project in detail. The key is balance. I believe there is a need to expand Route 53 in McHenry County with a western spur. It will bring changes to the north part of McHenry County and Grant Township. It will help ease the gridlock," Michling said. "We have a love affair with the car, want to see open space, but there is not a generation of farmers to and take over the farms."

"I have supported the extension of Route 53. But with the state's concerns of Route 355, Route 55 and I-80 to I-88, Route 53 is a long, long ways away. In survey after survey, growth and better transportation needs are the No. 1 priorities of the 52nd District. We can work on smaller steps such as Routes 14 and 31," Beaubien said.

Both candidates called on more participation from rank-and-file legislators to be allowed in this time of state budget deficits. "We are far worse off than people are being told. We should to an across-the-board budget cut, the same as former Gov. Jim Edgar did. Whoever comes in as governor will have a huge budget hole," Beaubien said. Beaubien is spokesman for the revenue committee.

"What needs to happen is a priority equality of education. All children of the state deserve a well thought out, concentrated effort to deliver educational services to compete in the global economic world we live in. I believe in health care quality, accessible to all of the people of the state of Illinois. I think the state budget needs to be looked at so that the rank-and-file members can have more input," Michling said.

Despite the budget shortfalls, Michling said he still believes education is the top priority, along with health care, economic development.

There was some contention about experience. Michling, A Woodstock attorney who is a former McHenry County Board member, is active in many civic functions, as is Beaubien. He hit Beaubien for the incumbent's three-term pledge of a few years ago. Beaubien has served six years in Springfield.

"Experience is also a matter of personal experience. I believe I will be able to hit the ground running and be an effective first-term legislator. If I make any pledge, I will stick to it," he said.

"My pledge of a three-term limit came at a time when those term limits were popular. But that has not proven to be effective. We will have 35-40 new legislators this session, and the 52nd District needs someone with experience. In the 92nd General Assembly, of the 10,000 bills proposed, only 500 were approved," he said.

"I think that it is just as important not only to pass good legislation, but to make sure that bad legislation does not get passed," Michling said.

Regarding campaign finance reform for Illinois, Michling said the problem is that it becomes a freedom of speech issue when attempts are made to regulate so-called "soft money" and political action groups.

Beaubien said he would never do, as some have done, of "pocketing" money by collapsing funds at the end of their term generated for campaigns. "I am not sure you are ever going to solve the problem. Someone will find a way to beat the system if they want to.

President Clinton was the worst example, he did it every day," Beaubien said.

With the state economy facing deficits, both candidates discussed what can be done locally.

"In Lake and McHenry county, there needs to be a balance of sales tax generating business and residential. McHenry County Economic Development Commission and in Lake County, the Lake County Partners, are both doing a great job," Beaubien said.

"I grew up in McHenry County, in rural Crystal Lake and rural Woodstock. The area is still struggling with a transition from rural to urban but winning that struggle. We have a diverse economic base and keep a balance for our citizens," Michling said.

How impact fees are collected for schools, libraries and other services was also posed to the candidates. Beaubien said that most municipalities collect the fees, with the issue being county collection. Michling said the question is one of enforcement.

Both candidates gave closing statements, making a pitch to voters at the time 12 days before the election.

"I believe that I am excited, energized to be your next state representative. I have lived in McHenry County since 1956. My parents have brought me up to on the importance of community service. I believe that we are sufficiently taxed; I support life at all stages of it, have a passion for health care and the great outdoors. I am ready to step up to another level of public service for you," Michling said.

"I have been a full-time legislator for six years. I have spent all my time in that process, helping people in the district, with veterans services, the service breaker, utility de-regulation, crime prevention, open lands, and federal spending. I am committed to being the most effective, responsible legislator that I can be. That is what the district deserves," Beaubien said.

Beaubien is proud of work on behalf of Illinois National Guard and Reserves, obtaining the right to health care for them at Veterans centers, according to campaign literature.

He is also pleased with efforts to reduce the delinquent income tax penalty from 20 percent to 2 percent. Another area is assisting law enforcement in child sexual assault cases. He sponsored a bill allowing for the immediate release of information to begin needed investigations.

Trailer parks

Judy Martini is up for re-election and I hope you will all consider her many accomplishments for Lake County.

I have worked closely with Mrs. Martini on the trailer park issue. The 26 RV parks that are in an eight mile radius in Antioch Township.

Mrs. Martini was instrumental in updating the RV Park Ordinances. We will all start soon to see many changes. Changes that will benefit all of us.

As of the 1976, RV Trailer Parks could only be developed with 20 acres of land. Most of these RV parks came into existence after Lake County adopted the 1976 ordinance book.

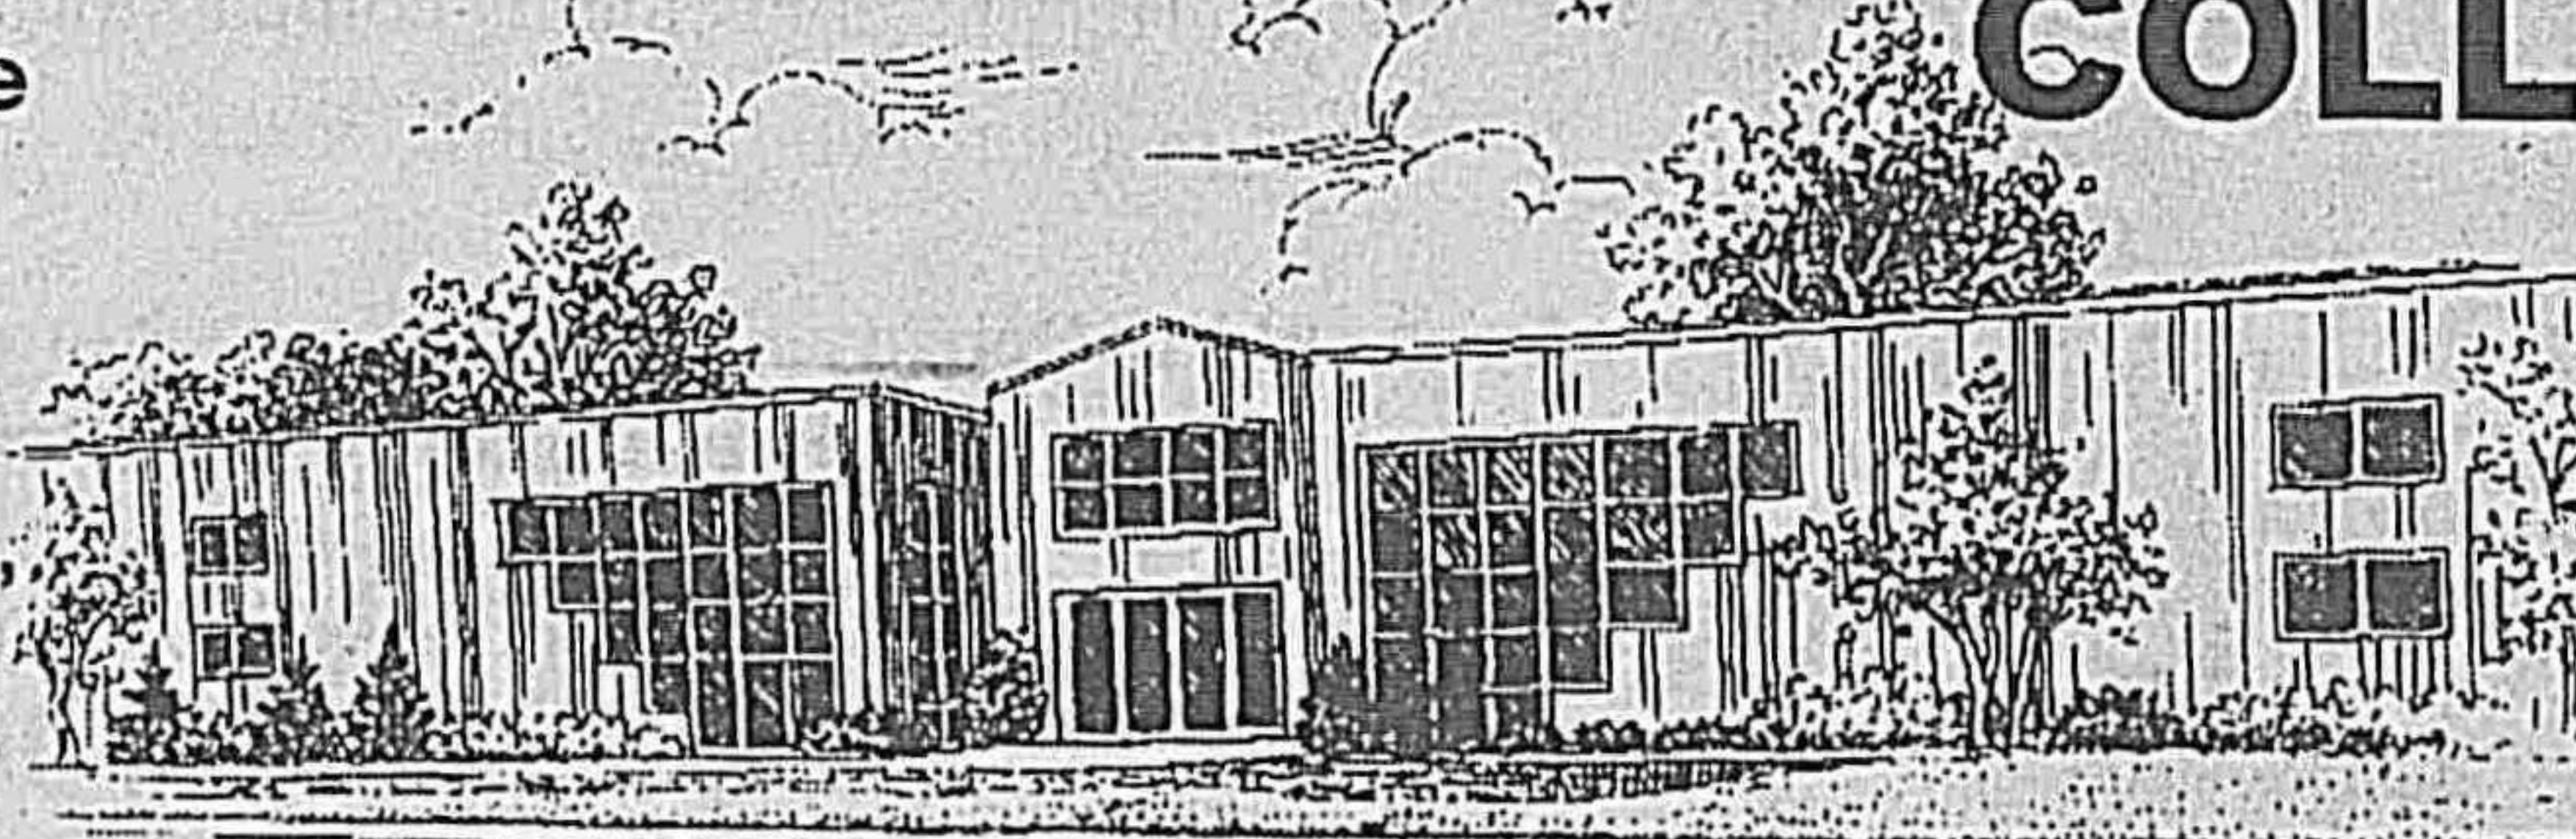

Now we have new ordinance that have been adopted and we need Judy martini on board to make sure these New Ordinances are finally followed. I have lived here since 1973 and my taxes keep going up, up, and UP. Are we all paying the RV park freight here?

Some argue that these trailers promote tourism to our area and help businesses. Whose business? Is this the type of tourism that we the residents want for this area? Is the pollution to our Lakes worth it? Would it make more sense to build hotels for these people? At a hotel we would not have to worry about year round residency of these trailers burdening our schools.

Mrs. William Thomas Hiller

Am Echod to change affiliation to Reform

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

After 107 years of observing Conservative Judaism, congregation Am Echod, based in Waukegan and Lindenhurst, has begun the process of changing its movement affiliation, in an effort to attract younger families as members.

About 80 percent of the congregation voted on Feb. 12 to submit an application to the American Jewish Federation for the Reform Movement, requesting membership in the organization.

"We are waiting to hear from them," explained congregation president Bernie Schleicher. Once they approve our application, sometime in June or July, they will help us find a new rabbi and cantor."

The congregation has been without a rabbi since Rabbi Michael Rascoe left in June 2001 to move to another locality.

Cantor Allen Gimpel, who has led the congregation in chanting liturgy for the past 16 years, will be leaving the congregation after the completion of the High Holy Days (Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur) in September.

Jewish congregations generally follow one of the major sects or denominations of the religion.

Orthodox congregations conduct services in Hebrew, and follow a more "fundamentalist" interpretation of the Torah (Bible). Women are segregated from men in the temple, and are excused from certain religious duties.

Conservative congregations conduct most of the services in Hebrew, with some English. Women are integrated within the temple, and may assume some of the functions traditionally delegated to men.

Reform congregations interpret the Torah more liberally. Men and women are completely equal in observance. Religious services are predominantly in English, with some traditional prayers still recited in Hebrew.

The move to Reform observance is expected to attract more young families to the congregation. According to Schleicher, there are now only about a half-dozen families with young children in Am Echod.

"Most of our 90 members are over 50 years of age," the congregation president noted.

The base membership of the congregation is from Waukegan, where Am Echod originated, but the future membership is expected to grow from Lindenhurst, Lake Villa, Gurnee and Grayslake.

Although some of the older members of the congregation, uncomfortable with the change, may leave, most are in favor of the evolution.

LV Township launch fees raised at 2 lakes

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

This season, Lake Villa residents and non-residents will be paying higher fees to launch boats on Sand Lake and Lake Miltmore.

The town board voted unanimously to increase fees from $25 per year to $50 for residents and $100 for non-residents. The fees purchase a key to unlock the launch gates at both locations.

The launch fees have been collected for the past few years, with the proceeds going to the Sand Lake and Lake Miltmore Homeowners' Associations to help fund lake maintenance projects. Last year $4,800 was collected.

Township Supervisor Dan Venturi predicted that, with the higher fees, the revenue might increase somewhat, but was not likely to double.

"Some people won't pay $50," he acknowledged.

One such person is West Miltmore resident Jeff Ward, who has been fishing in Lake Miltmore for the past 18 years.

"I don't want to pay for a weed cutter for the people who live on the lake," he said. "I don't need it."

Ward also questioned how the township could control the misuse of launch gate keys through sharing.

"People who live on the lake only have to launch once during the year," he noted. "Then they tie up at their own piers."

Ward expressed the belief that the majority of shorefront residents did not purchase keys at all.

Tami Wloch, of the West Miltmore Homeowners' Association, speaking in support of the increase, said the associations were hoping to get a harvester, to replace a weed cutter currently in use. She acknowledged that the weed cutter actually increased the weed problem as cut weeds germinated and formed new plant growth.

Oberweis banking on family name

Republican Senate hopeful promoting business background

By DENYS BUCKSTEN
Lake County Editor

U.S. Senate candidate Jim Oberweis isn't shy about courting the "ice cream vote." As chairman of the board of Chicago's Oberweis Dairy, Inc., Oberweis feels that family business name recognition and his own experience in business are good reasons to vote for him.

In the Republican primary race to take on incumbent Democratic Sen. Dick Durbin this fall, Oberweis is a front runner, according to one Senate Race poll by a Chicago daily newspaper.

In the poll, nearly half of likely GOP voters say they still are undecided about which of three contenders they favor as the nominee to take on incumbent Democratic Sen. Dick Durbin in the fall.

But, of those who have made a choice, according to the poll, 24 percent supported North Aurora investment manager Oberweis, 16 percent backed state Rep. James Durkin of Westchester and 10 percent selected Chicago tax attorney John Cox.

That's a turnabout from the February poll, when Durkin was in the lead.

Oberweis, who began his Lake County push for votes in January, said he has "the support of county chairmen across the state. But I am lucky in this area (Chicago and suburbs) with my family's name recognition for ice cream," he said with a laugh. "I'll take any advantage I can get."

Oberweis, who has an MBA from the University of Chicago and a degree in economics and finance, puts his business pedigree out front for all to see when discussing the economy and jobs.

After a short stint as a junior high school teacher in Aurora, Oberweis began his financial career in 1970 with a large retail brokerage firm, managing a branch for a New York Stock Exchange firm and later founding his own brokerage and investment management business. Now the president of Oberweis Asset Management and Oberweis Funds in addition to heading the family dairy, Oberweis is bullish on the economy.

"I'm very comfortable with analyzing the economy and creating jobs. This is a major issue. My background in creating jobs is a bit more relevant than the experience of attorneys, which is the background that most office holders have."

Oberweis said he bought the family business 12 years ago, and in the last 10 years, home delivery skyrocketed from 3,500 home delivery accounts to 35,000.

Another issue close to Oberweis' heart, he said, is that small businesses are being taxed at a higher rate than large corporations. "We have to be able to encourage small businessmen like me. That issue needs to be looked at very carefully."

Asked how he expected to maintain his distance from his primary opponents, and hopefully challenge Dick Durbin in November, Oberweis, the financial animal, said he has a great campaign team of professionals and "the best campaign finance team, a lot of Chicago businessmen and people I have known for 15, 20 and 30 years."

Oberweis estimates that if he gets the chance to challenge Durbin, that it would take $12 million to defeat the strongly seated incumbent.

Oberweis has been married 34 years to his wife Elaine, who is president of Oberweis Dairy.

County closer to tax vote for easing gridlock

Lake County government moved closer to a referendum allowing residents to vote for an additional one-quarter percent sales tax to fund projects designed to ease congestion on county roads when SB2140 passed the State Senate on March 6.

The tally was 43 yes votes, eight no votes and one vote of present. The bill moves to the House of Representatives next.

The bill, sponsored by State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis, would give counties the authority to ask residents, via a referendum question, whether they would permit a one-quarter percent sales tax increase to pay for construction, maintenance, operation and improvements of county highways.

"We were disappointed that the bill failed last year, but our State Senators did a great job passing this bill through the Senate, and we're confident that the same will happen in the House of Representatives," said Lake County Board Chair, Suzi Schmidt.

Specifically, the bill would add transportation to the purposes and uses of the revenue from the special county retailers' occupation tax for public safety. If levied, the tax may be used solely for transportation or public safety but not for both purposes.

The additional one-quarter percent sales tax would raise a projected $15-20 million for projects designed to mitigate traffic congestion in Lake County.

According to Director of Transportation/County Engineer, Marty Buehler, the additional revenue will go a long way towards increasing capacity on Lake County Highways.

"We have outlined over $165 million in projects that would increase capacity on county highways, which would benefit state roads as well since our highway system is integrated throughout the county," Buehler said.

A one-quarter percent sales tax increase would cost residents and visitors an additional $0.25 for every $100 they spend in Lake County. The tax is a mini-version of the regular sales tax in the state as the additional tax would not be charged on the sale of food that is to be consumed off the premises where it is sold (other than alcoholic beverages, soft drinks and food prepared for immediate consumption), prescription and non-prescription medicines, drugs, medical appliances and insulin, urine testing materials, syringes and needles used by diabetics.

The Lake County Board and State Senator Geo-Karis are pushing the bill after a county sponsored survey of 802 residents found that over 60% would vote in favor of authorizing funding to address the traffic problem in the county.

Additionally, a sales tax increase was the preferred choice by residents when offered the option of a property tax, gas tax or sales tax increase.

The Lake County Board has made reducing traffic congestion and driving times one of its top priorities for the last two years.

War death touches Lindenhurst

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER
Staff Reporter

Army Pfc. Matthew A. Commons, 21, was killed on March 4, during "Operation Anaconda," in Afghanistan. He was buried with military honors in Arlington National Cemetery, in Arlington Va., on March 11.

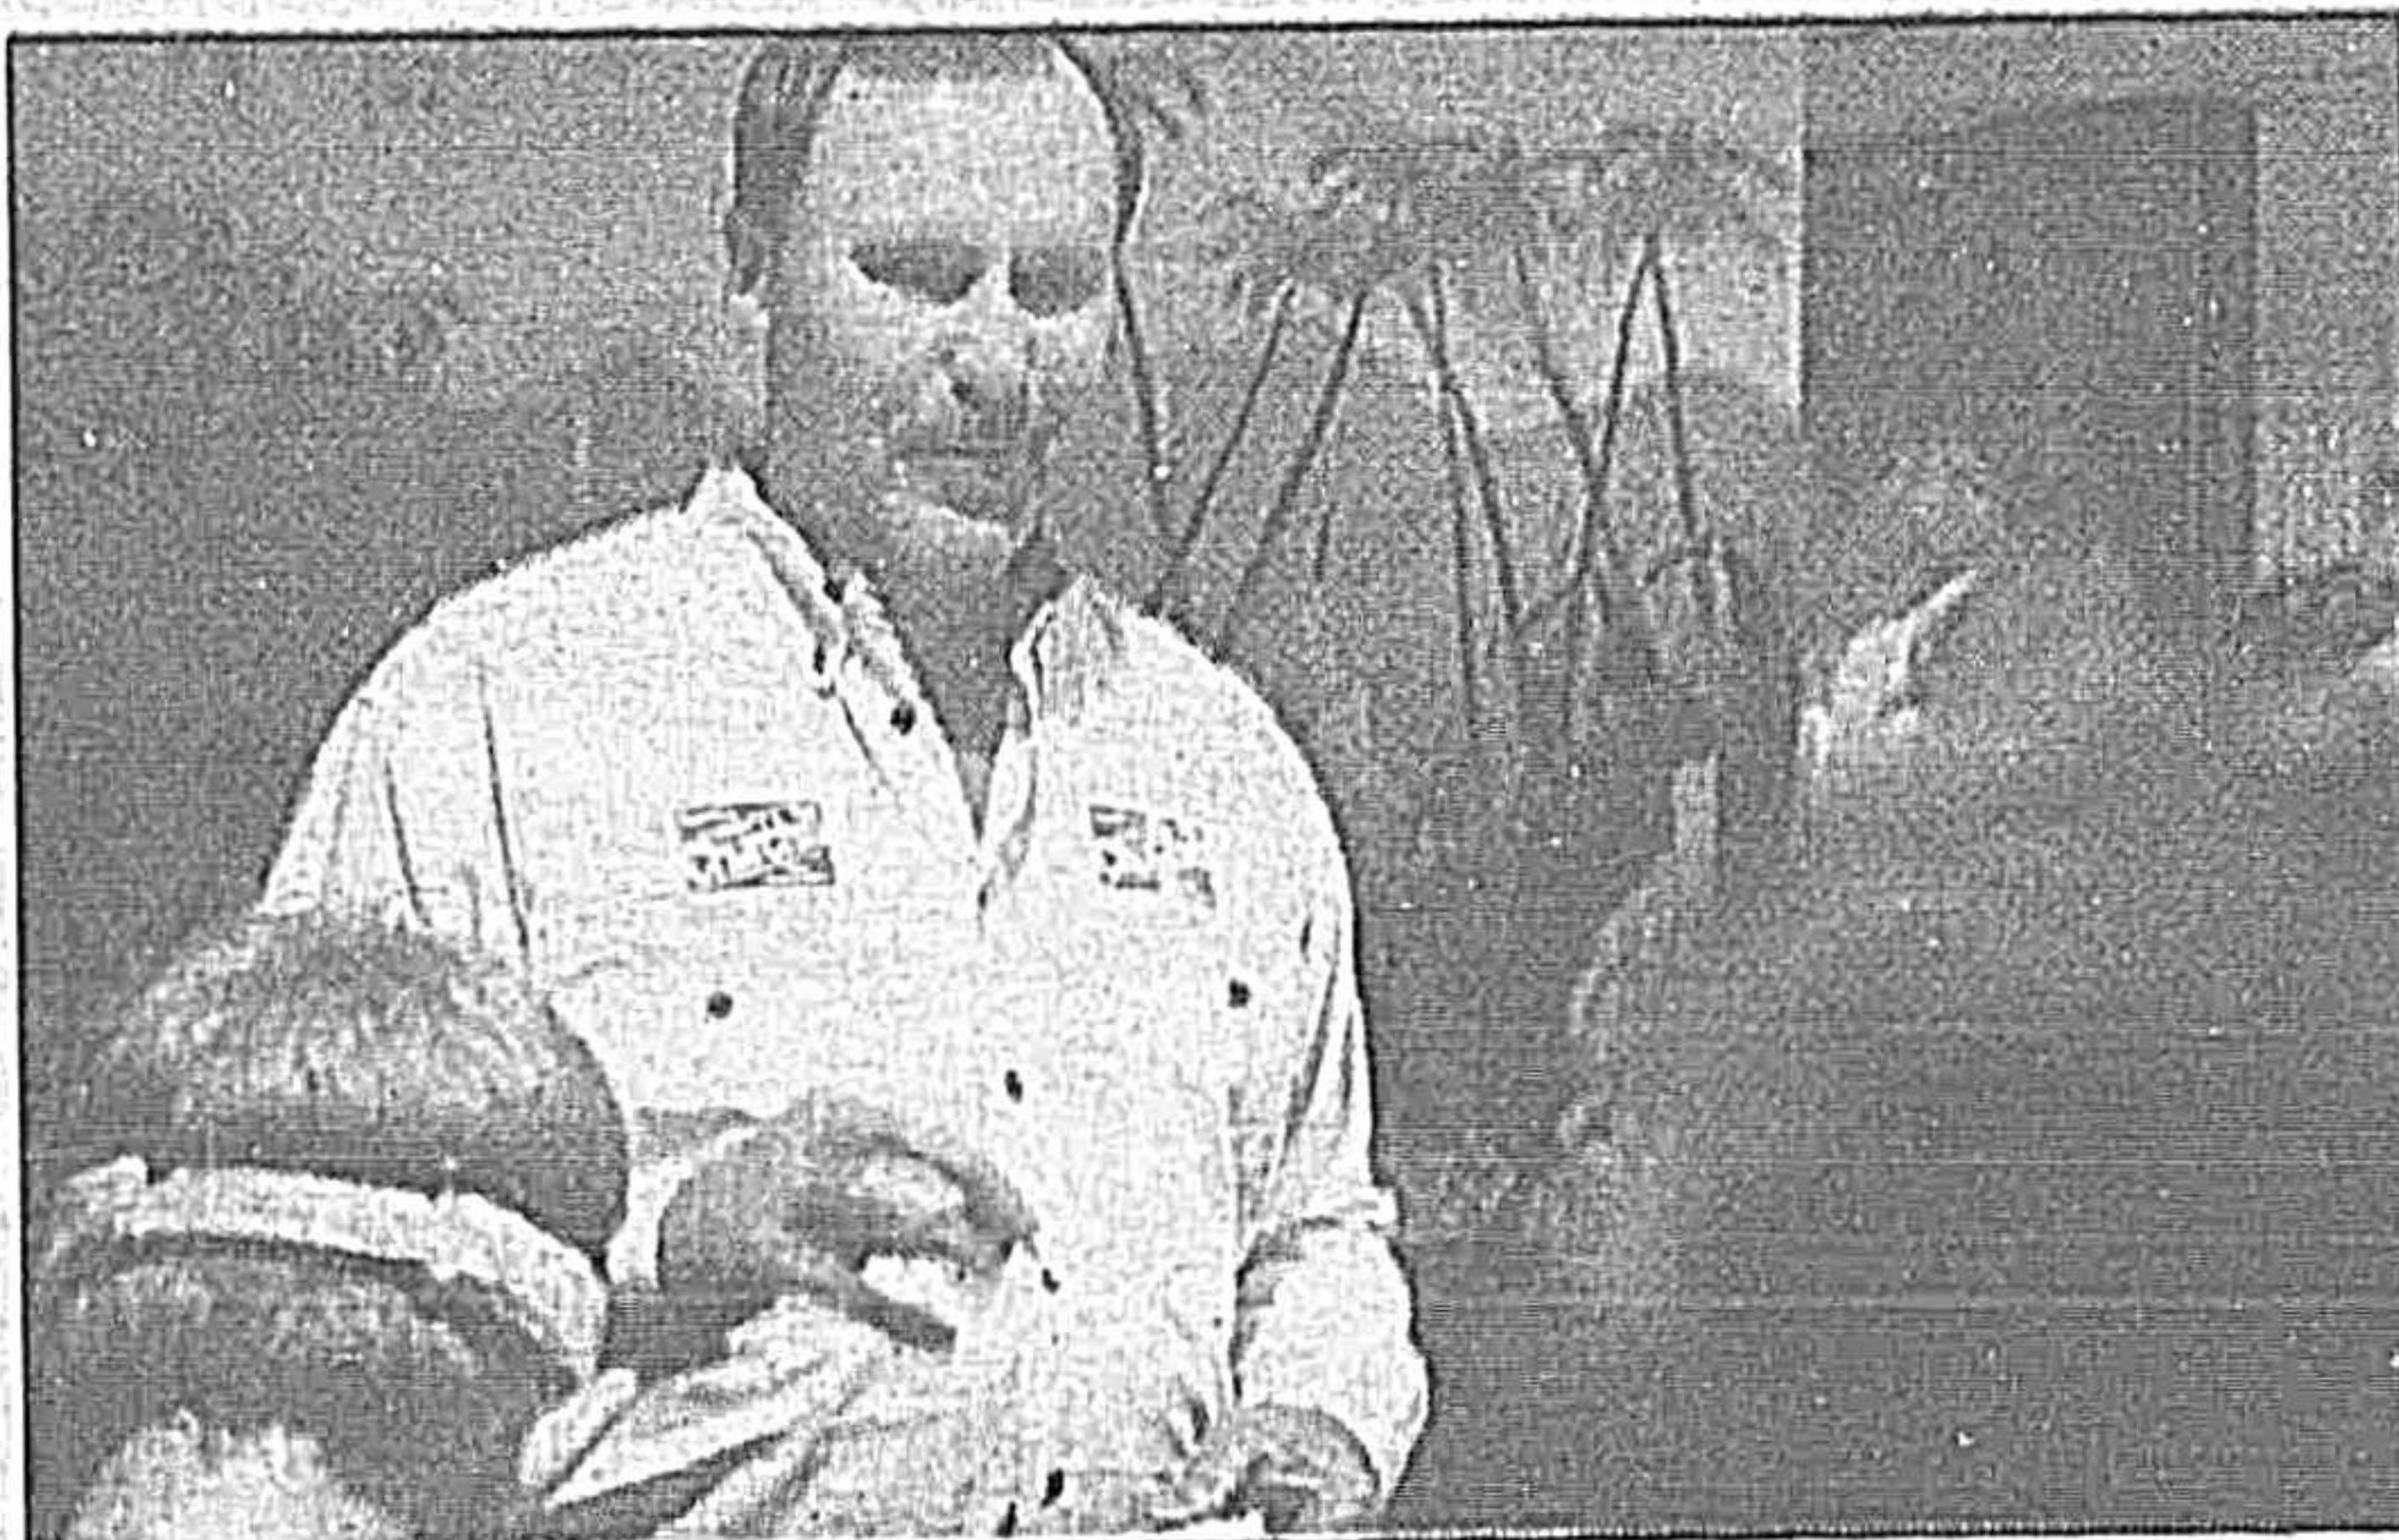

Commons' parents live in Virginia. His sister, Cindy, married to John Duncan, is a Lindenhurst resident.

Commons, 21, was one of seven

U.S. servicemen killed in what Pentagon officials termed "the bloodiest operation of the war in Afghanistan," according to an Associated Press report. Eleven U.S. troops were wounded in the action.

Commons was a member of the First Battalion of the 75th Ranger Regiment, based at Hunter Airfield in Savannah, Ga.

A former resident of Boulder City, Nev., Commons graduated from Boulder City High School, and attended the University of Reno for one year before entering the military.

Waukegan downtown honored

City designated 'Main Street' community

On Tuesday Lieutenant Governor Corinne Wood officially designated Waukegan as an Illinois Main Street community at a ceremony in the Jack Benny Plaza, at the corner of Clayton and Genesee streets.

The Illinois Main Street program assists communities throughout Illinois with downtown revitalization. The program follows the model established by the National Trust Main Street Center, which is part of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

It created the Main Street Approach to downtown revitalization, and promotes the use of the approach to communities to revitalize their traditional commercial areas. It serves as the nation's clearinghouse for information, technical assistance, research and advocacy on preservation-based commercial district revitalization.

Mary Walker, President of the Waukegan Downtown Association, and City of Waukegan Mayor, Richard Hyde, participated in the ceremony. Tom Teigen, Executive Director of the Waukegan Downtown Association noted "This ceremony is the culmination of more than three years of effort including over a thousand hours of volunteer service, hundreds of meetings and incredible support from individual citizens, businesses, local government staff and numerous elected officials."

The WDA recognizes that the common sense, volunteer driven philosophy of Main Street has a proven track record for success in preserving and revitalizing historic downtowns across the country.

"Our membership is committed to preserving our rich heritage and historic buildings; embracing our cultural diversity; and revitalizing the heart of our city. We are connected to our past, present and future," said Teigen.

The public was invited. In the event of inclement weather the ceremony would have been held inside the Fiesta Palace (across the street from the Jack Benny Plaza).

For additional information, call the WDA office at (847) 623-6650.

S&L president elected 'Y' chair

Ted Stanulis, president of Waukegan Savings and Loan was elected chairman of the board of trustees of the Northern Lake County YMCA. Stanulis has served on the YMCA board for a number of years and has willingly accepted the challenge of this leadership position.

Collectively the "Y's" are the largest not for profit community service organizations in the nation. YMCA's are the heart of community life in neighborhoods and towns across America and in 2001 and 2002 the YMCA is celebrating 150 years of service in America.

Absentee voting is Saturday

In-person absentee voting for the March 19, 2002 General Primary Election will be conducted at the County Clerk's Office on Saturday, March 16, 2002. Any registered voter in Lake County who is qualified to vote by absentee ballot may vote from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon at the Lake County Clerk's Office, 18 N. County Street, Room 101, Waukegan.

The county parking garage is now limited to employees only. Voters may park in one of the parking lots located east of County Street, and the other lot which is one block north and adjacent to the Waukegan Public Library.

Voters should enter the county building through the north entrance next to the parking garage.

Absentee voting will also be offered on Saturday, March 16 at many municipal and township offices.

The last day to vote in-person absentee is Monday, March 18 at close of regular business hours.

EDITORIALS

Final thoughts on March 19— Cox for Senate

Review and comment on candidates in the March 19 are completed with this issue. We are addressing races where there is competition:

U.S. Senate (Republican): John Cox, an expert on taxation, is admired for his conservatism. His stand on reducing taxes and limiting government is in the tradition of President Reagan. Cox's nomination is recommended because we feel he possesses the up-from-the-street toughness needed to unseat ultra-liberal and reliably partisan Democrat, incumbent Richard Durbin, who seems more interested in advancing Democratic causes than serving the citizens of Illinois. Durbin is unopposed. Jim Oberweiss possesses requisites for a state-wide race—money and connections—but the question remains how he would deal with Durbin in a toe-to-toe battle. Cox's wealth is self-made. Cox knows the ways of Chicago where he grew up and owned a business. That's an advantage. Cox is pro-life. He'll be a strong supporter of President Bush's war on terrorism. A third candidate, legislator Jim Durkin from DuPage County, has campaigned ineffectively.

Governor: Our views on the campaign to elect a new governor were expressed earlier. Republican Corinne Wood endorsed. Democrat Paul Vallas endorsed. A word about Congressman Rod Blagojevich's candidacy. Nominating the ambitious young Chicago political insider would be an invitation to resumption of the reckless and corrupt days of Dan Walker, the last Democrat to serve as governor.

Lt. Governor (Republican): State Sen. Carl Hawkinson has issued with his running mate, Atty. Gen. Jim Ryan, an impressive list of economic initiatives except that they would lead to a more expensive bureaucracy at a time when the state can't afford more spending. We're giving the nod to another legislator, William A. O'Connor, who has established a reputation as a hard-working and serious lawmaker. For the Democratic nomination, it's a toss up between R. Michael Kelleher Jr. or Joyce W. Washington, either of whom is preferred over Pat Quinn, a perennial candidate who has created chaos whenever elected to high office.

Atty. General (Republican): Bob Coleman, a Chicago attorney with a long record of experience in business and government litigation, is endorsed over Joe Birkett, a pedestrian DuPage prosecutor. If elected in November, Coleman would come with a fresh perspective serving as the "people's lawyer" with no ties to party or other politicians. We especially like his stance as a proponent of open meetings and taking full advantage of the common law powers of his office, the strongest in the nation. For the Democratic nomination, it will be a travesty if voters select Lisa Madigan, a novice lawyer, over John Schmidt, who is well qualified by private practice and service in the federal government. Madigan is running on the strength of her stepfather, House Speaker Mike Madigan.

State Senator (Democrat): Because of her experience in the House, Susan Garrett is endorsed over Chris Cohen. Cohen, formerly of Cook County, is unfamiliar with the new North Shore district. Garrett has been a hard worker who doesn't always follow party dictates.

State Representative (Democrat): In the new 60th District of Waukegan, Jerry L. Johnson, former mayor of North Chicago with experience in business, has the background to make a good representative. He is endorsed.

State Representative (Republican): In the new 51st District of central and southwest Lake County, Ed Sullivan Jr., the young Fremont Township assessor, is chosen over Mundelein Mayor Marilyn Sindles, who has run a surprisingly lack-luster campaign devoid of addressing pressing state issues. Sullivan has energy, promise and is speaking out on issues. Voters know where he stands, a quality that will put him in good stead in Springfield. In the 52nd District that includes territory in both Lake and McHenry counties, incumbent Mark Beaubien Jr. is endorsed over Peter D. Michling. Beaubien does his homework. The veteran lawmaker has an excellent record of constituent service. In the new 62nd District of north central Lake County, Robert W. Churchill, former state representative, points to experience in the General Assembly, Albert L. Wysocki is stressing his extensive background in grassroots government, and Ed Walters, an Army officer before entering the corporate world, offers youthful energy, idealism and potential. These qualities combined might make an unbeatable candidate. Unfortunately, the candidates have been running low-key, "safe" campaigns, making the sorting out process difficult if not impossible. This contest is a coin toss.

VIEWPOINT

Parents say-so undergoing test

School officials have a love-hate relationship with the popular idea of the benefits of parental involvement in the education process.

'Love' parents come out to the games, bake cookies for class fund raising projects and vote for tax increases. 'Hate' parents ask questions about test score results, why Johnny isn't doing better in school and what kind of subjects are being taught.

The love-hate relationship underscores the tension existing between a group of parents and the school their children attend in an unusual question being asked Tuesday, March 19, in an advisory referendum: Should the school adopt and implement Core Knowledge as the primary course of study for students from kindergarten through eighth grade? The question, being put to voters in District 46, is believed to be the first of its kind ever asked in Illinois.

District 46 is the Grayslake elementary system that serves students in a central Lake County area including parts of the Round Lake area, a sector of Lake Villa and Hainesville.

Core Knowledge, in short, a program based on traditional subjects and learning methods, is being advocated by a small band of vocal and well organized parents who object to the efforts of District 46 officials to implement the philosophies of William Spady and Outcome Based Education (OBE).

Sarah Surroz, a parent and president of Friends of District 46 advocating Core Knowledge, said the superintendent, Dr. Kurt Anderson, thought that parents questioning OBE and a "new vision" in the district "were a small angry group that would go away." Surroz said Anderson is correct that parents are angry, "but we're not a small group and we're not going away."

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

Friends and OBE advocates have been tussling for two years. Friends members have been offering reams of information at coffees, door-to-door canvassing and public meetings, that their school is heading down a dangerous path. One of the most telling arguments offered is that children at Aptakisic-Tripp School, located in an upscale south county area, are struggling at Stevenson High School, known for its high standards.

Ever since the referendum was scheduled, Anderson and school board members have been unresponsive to claims being made by Friends. Teachers belonging to the American Federation of Teachers have adopted a position of neutrality, even though the national union endorses Core Knowledge. "They're afraid of reprisals because this is a contract year," a Friends spokesman explained.

Friends leaders were asked why they don't follow traditional lines of protest and vote in new leaders at the next board of education election. "We can't wait that long," they replied. Even though the referendum is not binding, all sides will have a better idea after March 19 about attitudes regarding traditional methods vs. OBE. Too much parental involvement in the education process? That'll be clarified, too.

Considering that Tuesday, March 19, is primary election day, this bumper sticker is right up to the minute: Show Your Patriotism—VOTE. Great suggestion.

Congressman Mark Kirk—An impressive first term

The most important election for a candidate can be the first one. If you win, it's up to you to make a record, then run on that record as an incumbent. The odds of winning lie with the incumbent, and those odds increase when a good record is amassed.

In the 2000 election, I didn't support 10th District Congressman Mark Kirk in his election against Democrat Lauren Beth Gash, former state representative. In retrospect, I believe that he ran a much better campaign, and his endorsement from the retiring congressman, John Porter, clinched the election.

SEEING IT

John S. Matijevich

They say that "all elections are local" and Mark Kirk was more aggressive in tactfully raising such local issues as the threatened closing of the VA Medical Center, federal impact aid to schools near military bases, lakefront development, and other local concerns. Often, candidates raise issues during elections, but "don't deliver."

After just over a year in office, Kirk has distinguished himself on many fronts, including policies to

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Signs of the times

Signs, signs, everywhere signs. Just like the song, virtually every major street corner in Lake County is blanketed like the snow we've avoided all winter with campaign signs.

Candidates jockey for passers-by's eyes while they drive by. Every candidate has them, and little battles for sign position have broken out at major intersections like Hainesville Road and Washington Street, where Lakeland Staff noticed the constant positioning and repositioning and growing and shrinking number of the signs on a day-to-day basis.

Schostok:
Judge spends time with victims of domestic violence.

Wood:
Making whirlwind rounds of county, state.

Thomson-Carter:
Clarifies Volo peaker plant issue.

Creaming the opposition

Judging Mary

Mary Schostok, candidate for 19th circuit court, was appointed in February 2001 and is looking to retain her seat, formerly held by Fred Gelger. She gets Lakeland's approval to remain on the bench. Schostok is on the advisory board for A Safe Place and on the board for Lake County Haven, keeping the Republican hopeful busy working with the victims of domestic violence.

Peaking curiosity

Lake County Board Rep. Bonnie Thom-

son Carter (R-Ingleside) wishes to clarify an issue raised by Volo Energy Center LLC. The company is proposing that combined cycle power plant in Volo. "I never gave an invitation to them for the public meeting (March 13). The developers had seven hours at a meeting and a video tape," she said, adding the March 13 meeting was for the residents to express their views.

Wood just could

Although it remains to be seen who the Republican nominee for governor will be, Corrine Wood will not be upstaged when it comes to early-morning appearances.

Wood, of Lake Forest, was making the rounds on a Monday morning at the Grayslake Metra Station, shaking hands, with a simple, "Hello, I am Corrine Wood and I am running for governor."

There was a chill in the air, but the sun is also rising earlier and earlier, just as her 6 a.m. campaign stop was underway. She was at the commuter station at that hour, ready to begin a 12-hour day of campaigning. She is seeking the GOP nomination against Jim Ryan, attorney general and Patrick J. O'Malley.

"It is getting nasty and negative. My opponents are spending too much time attacking my positions and not stating theirs," Wood said.

"In the last week, I have had 12-hour days. In the final week, it will be 18-hour days," the Lt. Gov. said. "I am making history in this race, being the first serious female candidate for governor," she said. As her stop concluded, she added, "wouldn't it be great to have a governor from Lake County," she said, of course, rekindling the locals' memories of the late Gov. William Stratton.

She is optimistic about the March 19, vote, of course, and has scheduled a victory party in Chicago. Her stops the next day included helping Waukegan celebrate its being named a Main Street City.

Watch Wauconda

Some observers of the Wauconda growth patterns have noticed a trend. They remember back 12 years ago to Gurnee's growth time, when it marched west with housing development after housing development. Wauconda plans to grow from 9,400 residents to 15,000, according to its comprehensive plan. Two housing developments are already in the works for a total of 1,000 units at buildout. Could there be a Wauconda Mills in the offing?

Time's up

At Dist. 62 State Representative forum in Grandwood Park, candidate Al Wyszocki was asked his view on Route 53, but his lengthy answer was "buzzed" to a halt as his time expired. Those running the forum said he got a little testy with timekeeper Kathy Adkins. Wyszocki said, "I thought you wanted my answer," Adkins, according to moderator Al Oller, "can be a little forceful."

What if funny Bob Coleman is elected?

Bob Coleman, a Chicago lawyer and a Republican candidate for Illinois attorney general, is conducting a risky campaign that features commercials in which he pokes outlandish fun at himself.

His ads go far beyond the always desirable, occasional splash of humor; they are wild and crazy stuff, all makebelieve and tongue-in-cheek, of course.

Coleman shows himself giving a dramatic speech to a near-empty children's playground.

During another Coleman speech a member of his audience begins to snore, and soon the whole room is snoring.

Striving to be a typical politician, he begins kissing babies but one of them has an accident on his shirt.

Coleman greets potential voters with handshakes but gets three knuckle-crushers in a row and is reduced to yelping, "Ouch! Ouch! Ouch!"

Skeptics fear Coleman is going too far with the self-punishing humor and voters might not take him seriously.

But what if he wins the election? What if it works? Will it turn old-fashioned campaigning upside-down? Will future candidates try to be more comical and less pompous? Will they campaign in Groucho Marx masks and beanies with propellers on top?

Coleman has a serious opponent in the Illinois primary next Tuesday, DuPage County State's Atty. Joseph Birkett. He has been endorsed by the Grant Township Republican Club, among others.

The Chicago Tribune endorses Coleman, saying, "He happens to be the most qualified attorney seeking the Republican nomination. He's given us a few good laughs in the campaign. More important, he's a good lawyer."

Presidents famous for their use of humor included Abraham Lincoln and Ronald Reagan. Another politician who occasionally surprises us by turning the lampoon on himself is Al Gore.

Gore currently is introducing himself like this: "My name is Al Gore. I used to be known as the next president of the United States."

Gore, also known as the "Ice Prince," has been famous for his dullness. Bob Dole once glibed, "It was so cold in Washington the other day someone hugged Al Gore to get warm."

Rush Limbaugh called Gore, "The Tree." So, for his next appearance at a press club bash, Gore had himself strapped to a dolly and wheeled onto the stage.

Like Bob Coleman, Ronald Reagan could poke fun at himself: "I have left orders to be awakened at any time in case of national emergency, even if I'm in a cabinet meeting."

Opponents said Lincoln was too homely to be president. When a rival accused him of being two-faced, he replied: "If I had two faces would I be wearing this one?"

In a commercial poking fun at politicians whose loose lips sometimes sink their own ships, Bob Coleman, speaking to a Polish community, butchers the Polish language.

Ah, yes, word-mangling is risky business in all of its forms: Freudian slips, malapropisms, gaffes, faux pas and, of course, bloopers.

Candidates charging down the home-stretch in this campaign should be cautioned to watch and weigh their words, and simply remain as American as applehood and mother pie.

combat terrorism, raising funds for special education, supporting military personnel, veterans, and defense spending, and providing grants for education. He has been in the forefront to keep the VA Hospital open. That issue alone has won him the respect and support from area veterans and has impacted in a positive way the local economy.

Another issue that Congressman Kirk has championed deserves special mention. Since the Sept. 11 terrorism tragedy, we must look more closely at homeland security. At the vacant nuclear plant at Zion's lakefront lie spent rods of nuclear waste. It will be many years before that nuclear waste will be transported, but Congressman Kirk has already worked on what must become a reality; the approval of the Yucca Mountain site in Nevada as the national nuclear waste repository.

We must also be concerned over what happens at the former ComEd nuclear plant in Zion. There are strong rumors that it may again become a nuclear energy plant. As one who opposed the site when it was initially constructed at the lakefront, I shudder at the thought that anyone could consider a "return appearance." With a great emphasis on security against terrorism, I don't think that reasonable minds would allow it.

It was with respectful admiration; therefore, that I heard of remarks that Congressman Kirk recently made before the Lake County Board. He was emphatic that, once the nuclear plant is de-commissioned, it and other plants near the Great Lakes, should become "nuclear-free zones." He said that Illinois has more nuclear facilities than any other state, and, in this age of rightful alarm about security risks, that we are the home for so many nuclear plants is a scary thought.

There will be times that I will disagree with Congressman Mark Kirk on his votes in Congress. I would be less than objective; however, if I did not go on record as saying that he has been very impressive and responsive during his first year in office. I guess that I'm not alone in that assessment. Somewhere I read where he and another congressman were rated the "top two" first termers in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The way you start in public office is so important, first impressions can be lasting. Congressman Mark Kirk has earned the accolades that he has received.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Better to play it safe

Security concerns remain in everyone's consciousness, given the current climate in our nation. Public and private facilities nation-wide have taken extra precautions to protect buildings and the people who inhabit them. As a result of the terrorist incidents of Sept. 11, 2001, the Lake County Sheriff's Office carefully reviewed security measures at the Lake County Courthouse and Administrative Complex and determined that we needed to close the public parking facility, and issue vehicle and picture identification cards to County government employees. This was not a County Board decision. As sheriff, I have to balance public safety with public access. It was a difficult decision, but given the circumstances, I remain convinced it was the right decision.

Although the parking garage closure may have captured the public's attention, it was not the only security measure taken. Security, both inside and outside of the facility, remains heightened. The Lake County Sheriff's office continues to evaluate our facilities and implement increased security measures where appropriate. Consistent with counties nation-wide, we are continuing to evaluate our risks and work closely with state and federal law enforcement agencies to provide the appropriate balance between public access and public safety. If we err, we must do so on the side of public safety.

As Sheriff, I understand the concerns raised regarding the County parking facilities. Rest assured that I continue to evaluate our facilities, while at the same time maintain a strong responsibility to protect our citizens in these unsettling times.

Children are key

The most precious resource in our state is our children. Sadly enough many children never make it to the point of birth because of abortion.

Only ONE Candidate for Governor has demonstrated his concern for unborn children-Patrick O'Malley. His opponents cannot match his work through legislation and skillful advocacy in protecting children from abortion.

Now it is up to the voters. Either we vote to elect candidates who will work to stop abortion, or we stand by and watch the creation of a culture of death.

Who is watching the store (Lake County)?

Last Aug. 30, 2001, I wrote a letter to the editor outlining the payoff by the Lake County Board to former Lake County administrator Karl Nollenberger. No one seemed to mind that Nollenberger was paid $85,000 for resigning when such a payment was not required under the terms of his employment contract.

This payment was on top of an IMRF retirement payment of over $150,000 paid months earlier towards Nollenberger's pension and after Nollenberger received pay increases in two years from $135,000-$150,000-$170,000.

I also noted that the county's general administrative expenses had soared 57 percent in four years since 1996 when the "green" took control of the County Board, yet during the previous four years under Bob Depke those same expenses declined a half of a percent.

The reason this is important is that their performance affects every Lake Countian in the property tax that we pay.

During the last four years, our tax bill from Lake County has increased, yet the portion of Lake County taxes going to fix our roads and relieve gridlock has decreased.

The county's general administrative expenditures has increased by $14,000,000 in four years, yet the portion spent on county roads has declined.

In the face of ENRON debacle and in light of its accounting firm's apparent lack of providing accurate financial disclosure, all Lake Countians should be shocked to read the most recent disclosure letter of Lake County's auditor, wherein they say:

"However, the primary government financial statements, because they do not include the financial data of component units of Lake County, do not purport to, and do not, present fairly the financial position of Lake County, as of Nov. 30, 2000 and the results of its operations and cash flows of its proprietary fund types for the year then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles."

Who would deposit in a bank, invest in a stock or fund receiving such a report from its auditor?

The answer is obvious. No reasonable person would make such an investment, yet we continue to send our tax dollars to Lake County when their accounting firm has warned us.

Gary W. Pack

For Circuit Judge

DELRE

A Message from Lake County Sheriff, Gary Del Re:

In the time that I have known McHenry County State's Attorney, Gary W. Pack, he has continued to impress me with his commitment to serving the citizens of his county.

While Mr. Pack has earned the reputation as being tough on crime, his office also has the reputation of prosecuting all crimes in a fair manner, protecting the rights of the accused, as well as protecting the rights of the victims of crime.

While State's Attorney, Gary has also been firmly committed in his support and dedication to the business community, as a whole, and fundraising for numerous charities such as Family Alliance for Senior Citizens, a battered women's shelter and Illinois Fire Safety Alliance Burn Camp.

Gary Pack is running to fill the vacancy of Thomas Schermerhorn in the 19th Judicial Circuit. I believe Gary Pack to be the best candidate in this race. I strongly urge you to join me in supporting Gary Pack for Circuit Judge on March 19, 2002.

Sincerely,

Gary Del Re
Sheriff

"Gary Pack's strong commitment to working closely with our law enforcement staff has played a major role in winning convictions and keeping our county a safer place to live and work."

Gary Del Re - Lake County Sheriff

"I strongly believe Gary Pack will make the right decisions as Circuit Judge."

Mark Beaubien - State Representative 52nd District

"Gary Pack's experience, integrity and proven track record makes him the best candidate for Judge in the 19th Judicial Circuit Court."

Mark Tryon - McHenry County Board Chairman

"I have known Gary Pack for many years and have always found him to be dedicated to the principals of the justice system."

Dick Klemm - State Senator

"Dedication and sensitivity to the victims of crime is only one of the many reasons that Gary Pack is a superb choice for Judge."

Michael Waller - Lake County State's Attorney

"Gary Pack has a strong sense of leadership and fairness."

EFFECTIVE LEADERSHIP

- Working in partnership with the Attorney General, DCFS and Youth Service Bureau, secured funding for the Child Advocacy Center of McHenry County.
- Instrumental in the creation of a Juvenile Justice Council to address crucial issues of school safety and juvenile crime prevention.
- As State's Attorney, advocated rights of victims of domestic violence, sex abuse, non-support and financial exploitation of the elderly.
- Kept child support prosecution in the County in order to better serve its residents, collecting millions of dollars for the Children of McHenry County.
- Worked closely with the business community to establish a check restitution program.
- Initiated County Gang/Drug Task Force.
- Committed to the protection of children. Gary's office participates on the Attorney General Exploitation Task Force, established to assist with the apprehension of adult predators who cruise the Internet looking for underage victims.

Apocalyptic series best selling ever, in 21 languages

BY LYNN GUNNARSON DAHLSTROM
Correspondent

If a sports injury hadn't sidelined Jerry B. Jenkins in high school, he might have fulfilled his dreams of becoming a professional baseball player.

Instead, Jenkins discovered a talent for writing and chose to write about sports and other genres. Now, the 52 year-old Jenkins has hit a home-run as writer of the fastest-selling fiction series ever - the Left Behind series of apocalyptic novels. Some of his novels, such as 'Soul Harvest,' include references to Waukegan and other Chicago area locales.

And although Jenkins has residency in Colorado, he maintains a plush office in Zion, where he also owns a home.

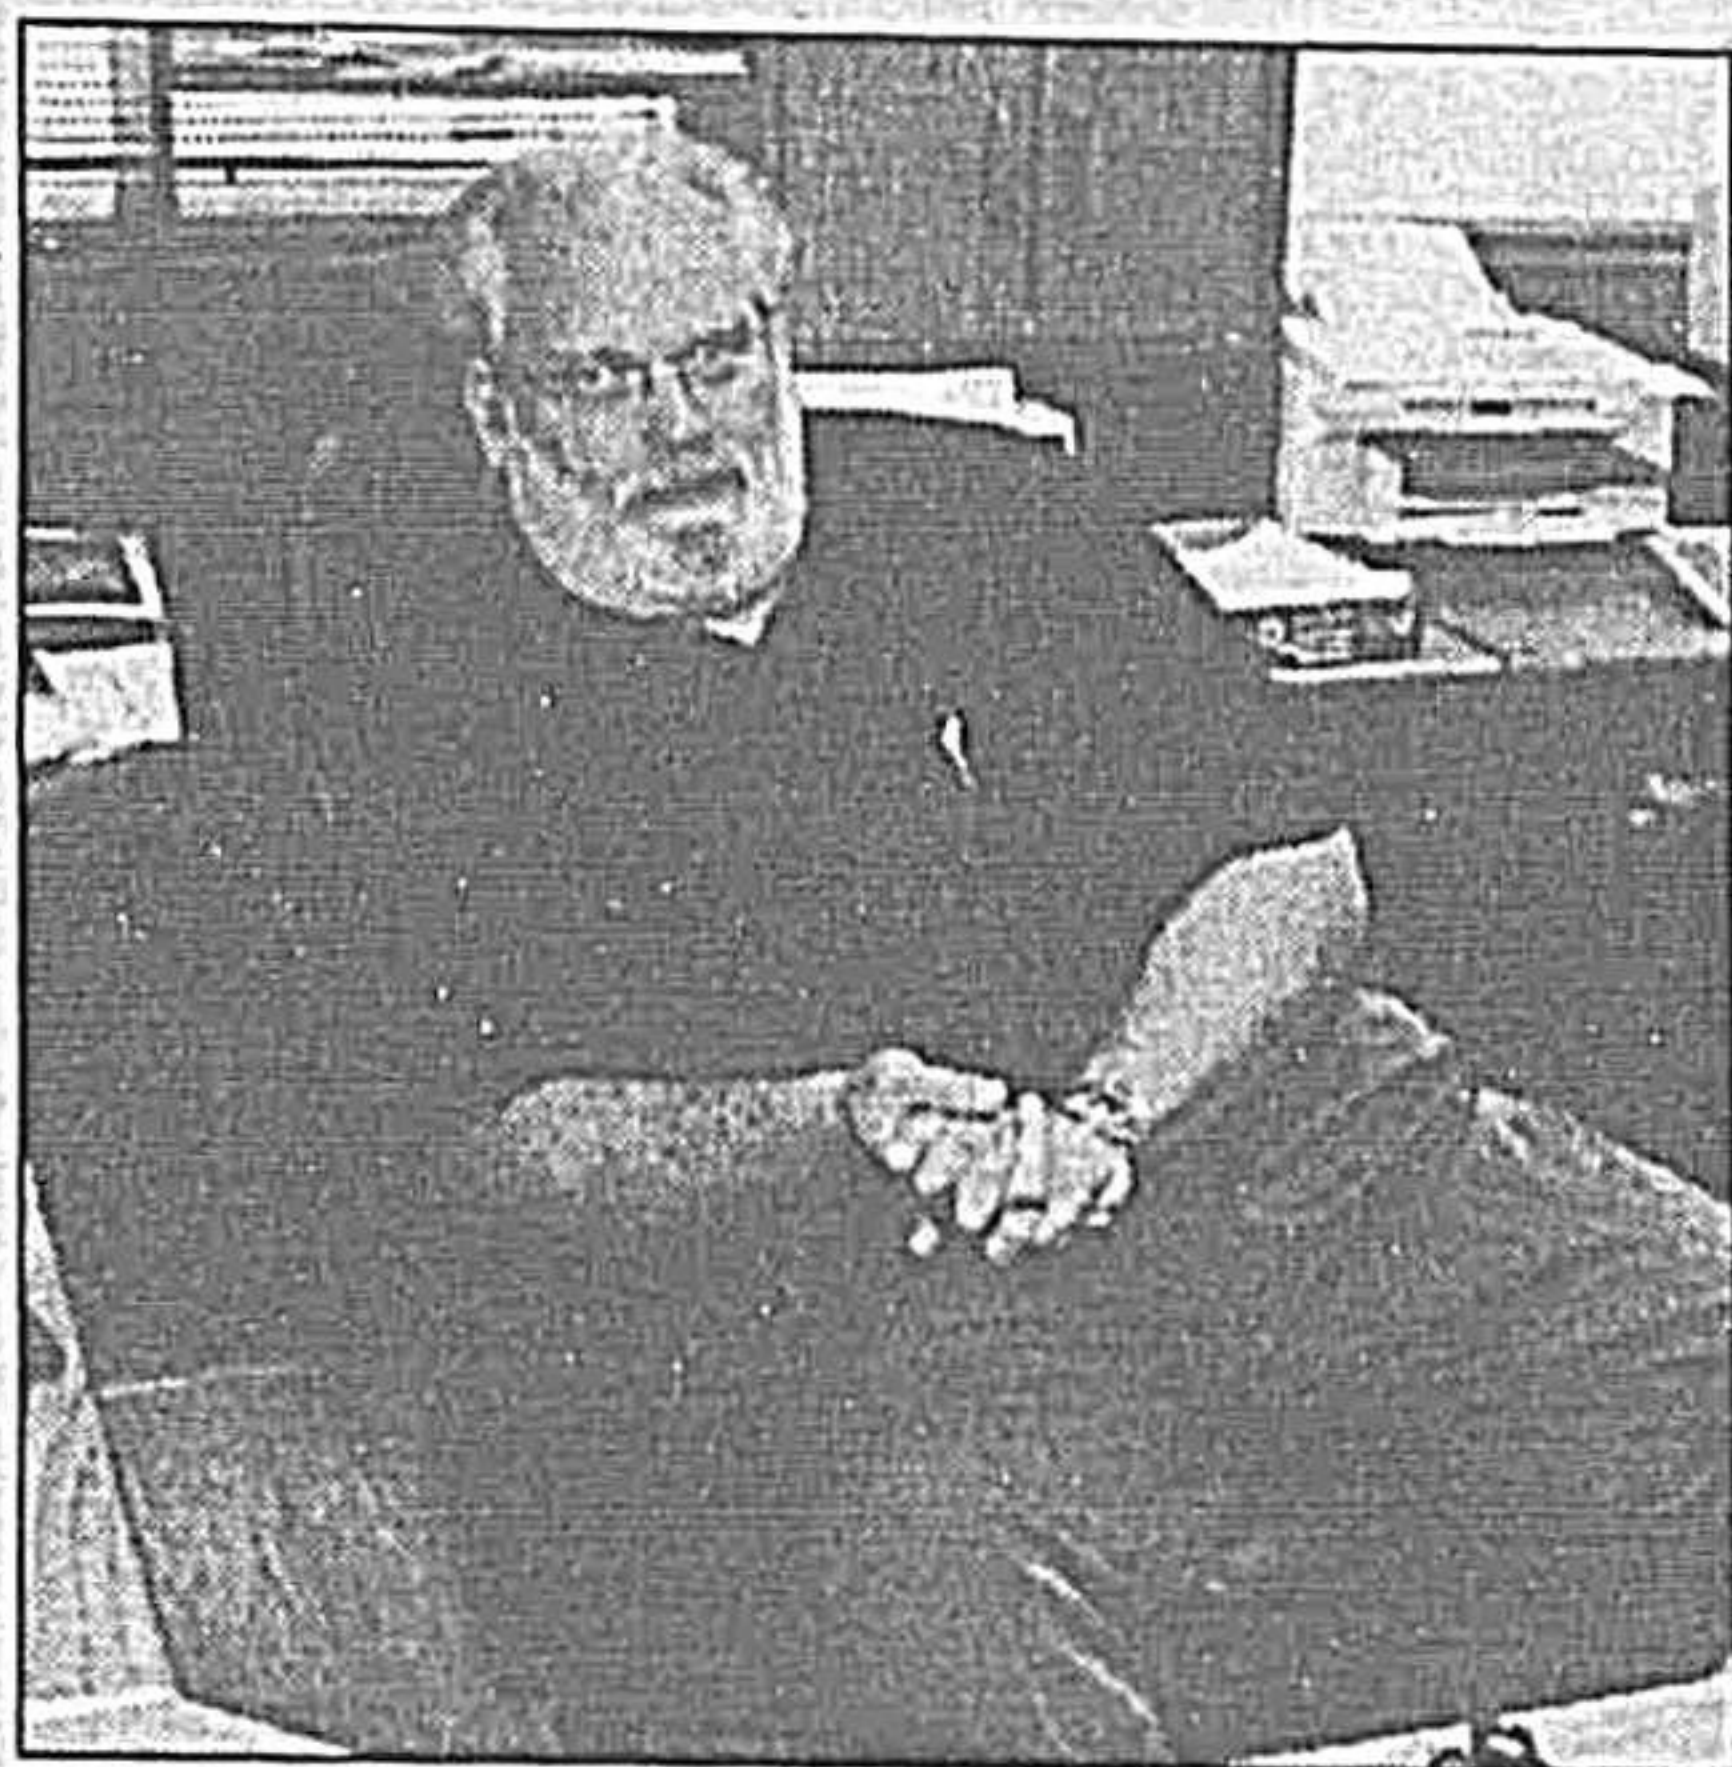

Jenkins' professional writing start came at age 19 as an assistant sports editor at the Mount Prospect Day newspaper covering sports in Mount Prospect and Arlington Heights, IL.

"At that point I had pretty much achieved my career goals. I did photos, captions, writing, page numbers, and page layouts," said Jenkins, whose dad was an Elk Grove Village, IL police officer and mom a homemaker.

After taking classes at Chicago's Moody Bible Institute, Jenkins worked for Scripture Press, a publishing company.

Jenkins recalls, "I interviewed a young street preacher - Sammy Tippit - and wrote a story about him for a Sunday school paper." The Scripture Press publisher asked if Tippit's story was worth a book and Jenkins said it was. Although the publisher decided against the book, "I was so excited about it. I spoke to Sammy and we went ahead and did it. That was my first book," Jenkins said.

Not too long after Tippit's biography, Jenkins wrote a sports biography on baseball's homerun hero Hank Aaron. "That really opened the doors to write books about sports," he said.

Brett Butler an inspiration

Jenkins eventually authored biographies about other athletes such as Walter Payton, Meadowlark Lemon, Nolan Ryan, Orel Hersher, and Brett Butler (from Libertyville).

"It was fun to interview Brett Butler. He's a very inspiring guy," Jenkins said about the Libertyville High School graduate and former Los Angeles Dodger. "The book is called, Field of Hope, and it's really about him surviving throat cancer. It was great working with him."

All told, Jenkins is the author of more than 130 books and thousands of articles for publications such as Reader's Digest, Parade, in-flight magazines and many Christian periodicals.

The writing for which Jenkins has received the most renown, however, is his work on the Left Behind series of books.

The first book, Left Behind, came out in 1995. Then came Tribulation Force, Nicolae, Soul Harvest, Apollyon, Assassins, The Indwelling, The Mark and the most recent book (released October 30, 2001), Desecration.

The fiction books are based mainly on the Bible's book of Revelation. They detail the sudden disappearance of millions of followers of Jesus - an event called the Rapture - and follow the lives of those left behind on earth amidst global chaos. This is according to the school of Bible interpretation called "dispensationalism" that began in the late 1800s.

Dr. Tim LaHaye, a nationally recognized Bible prophecy scholar who follows the same school of thought, is the author of 40 non-fiction books, and is a minister, and educator. He came up with the idea for Left Behind more than a decade ago.

"Tim recognized he wasn't a novelist and that's why he was looking for somebody (a fiction writer). I signed with an agent and I didn't even realize that he was Tim's agent. Our agent got the idea one day that maybe we could do things together to get Tim's project done."

For his part of the book-producing partnership, LaHaye gives Jenkins a prophetic timeline chart and commentary on the Scriptures. "Jerry just works in the ingenious characters," said LaHaye in a November 2000 WMBI radio interview. LaHaye added, "The fun part is that people say they've never read the Bible before, but these books caused them to read their Bibles."

Readers cross all demographics

"People everywhere are reading the Left Behind series - Christians and non-Christians, old and young, men and women. It crosses all demographics," Jenkins said.

Some people read the books because they have a spiritual hunger in their lives. Others appreciate the can't-put-it-down-page-turning-spine-tingling-drama in each book. The books prompt others to consider what might happen if any or all of Dr. LaHaye's interpretation of the Bible is true.

"I think people start reading them for whatever reason, and what they tell us is that they fall in love with the characters and want to know what happens to them," said Jenkins. "It's just the old fashioned cardinal rules of fiction: make 'em wait and keep 'em reading." Three to four more books are planned for the series. Possible names for books 10, 11 and 12 are The Remnant, Left Standing and Glorious Appearing.

"Tim would actually like to do a prequel. We'd go back and tell about these people before (the Rapture in Left Behind). There's been some discussion about whether we do that second to last, before the Glorious Appearing. We may break a year or two and then do a prequel," Jenkins said.

The first nine books, published by Tyndale House Publishers, Inc. in Wheaton have sold like hot cakes with several rising to the top or near top of various national best sellers lists.

Books spun off into videos, clothing

Along with the books, there are Left Behind graphic novels, videos, dramatic audio and regular audio versions, a game, a calendar, clothing, Left Behind: The Kids books geared towards ten to fourteen year-olds, and a website (www.leftbehind.com). Tyndale has sold more than 20 million copies of the books and related products within the last year alone.

Jenkins acknowledges that the books are "Novels - strictly fiction. The characters' names are made up. But as far as what happens from Scripture, as far as sequence of events, and how many judgements and this and that, we aren't making it up," he said.

Jenkins, LaHaye and the books have been featured in numerous national media outlets including People, Newsweek, The Wall Street Journal, the New York Times, USA Today, the Washington Times, ABC with Peter Jennings, and more.

Jenkins recalled one reporter "who kept saying, 'So you really think that someday, Jesus is going to come back and people are going to disappear?' And finally, I said, 'Yeah, I do.' And he said, 'Do you realize how wacky that sounds?' And I said, 'Yeah, I do.'"

If people don't like or agree with the books, that's okay with Jenkins. At least they're reading the books.

As an integral part of each book, Jenkins has some of the characters "receive Christ" or have a Christian "conversion experience."

"Many people have received Christ after reading one of the books," said Jenkins.

Touching once again on his Chicago roots, Jenkins explained that "one of the reasons I set so much in Mount Prospect and that area was because that's where one of my first jobs was at the Mount Prospect Day," Jenkins recalled.

Jenkins said that a grouchy, old editor couldn't get through to the reporters that he wanted local news only - not Chicago news.

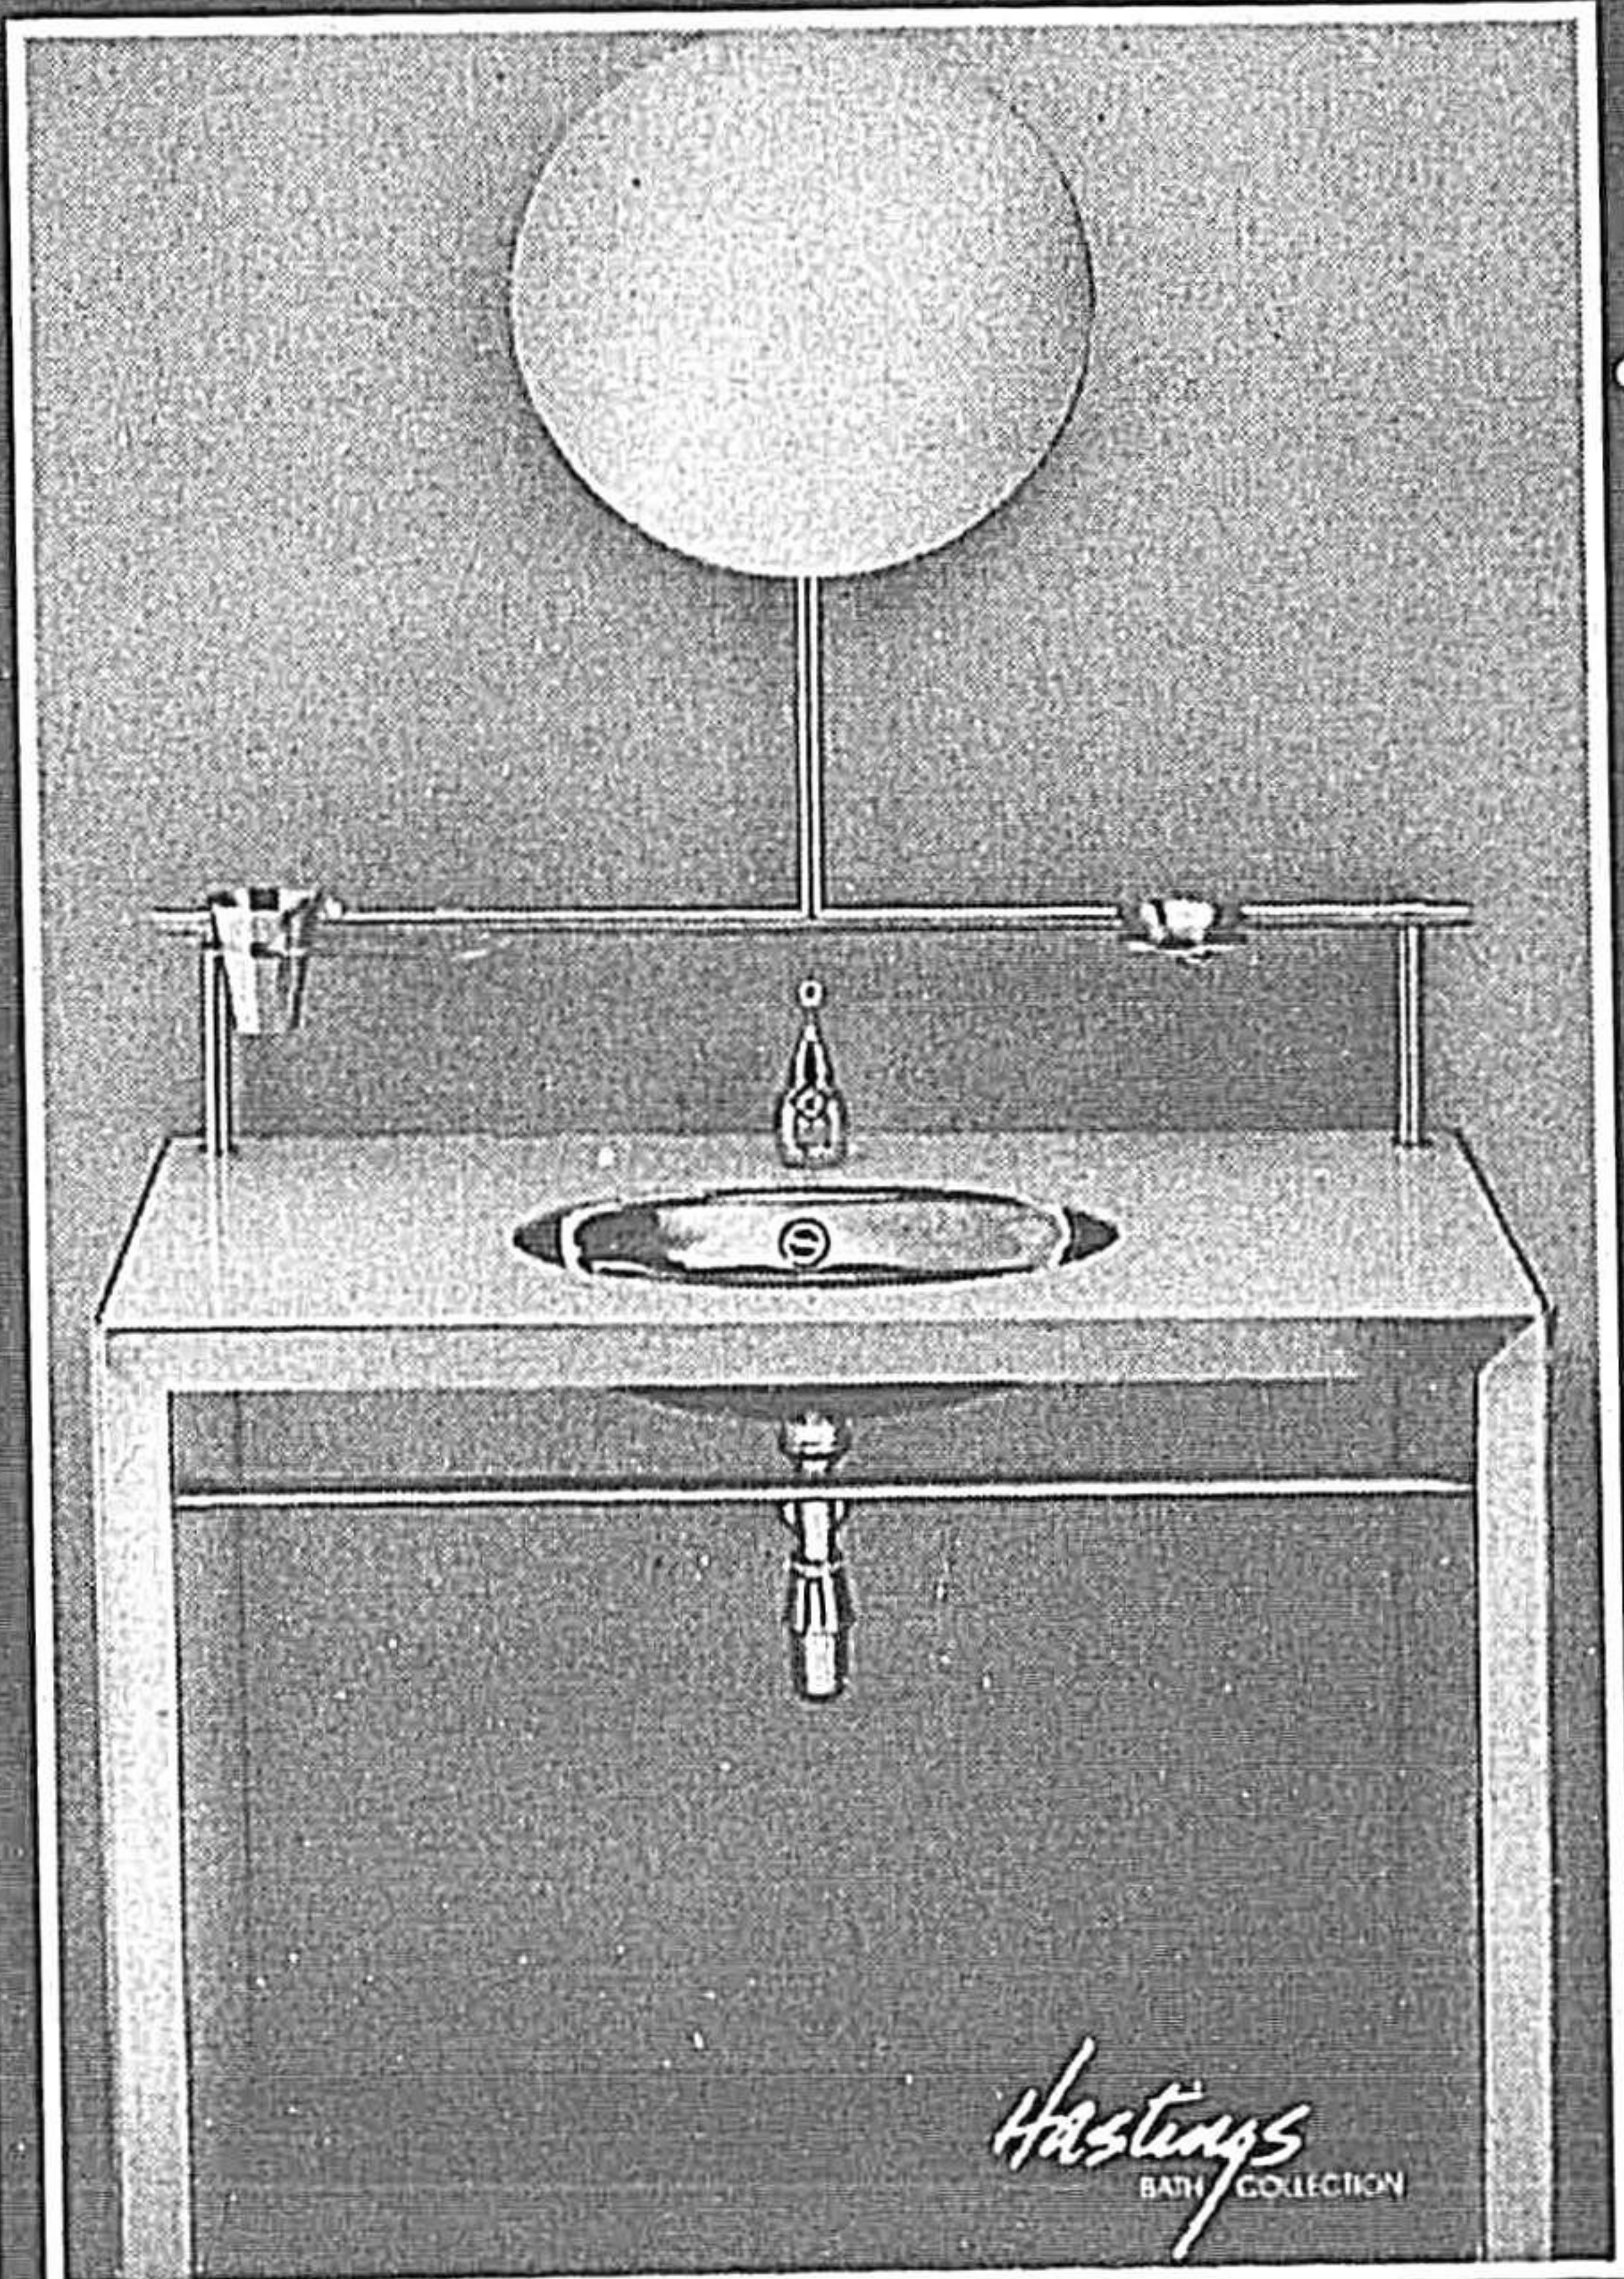

"So he showed us a downtown Chicago paper and our suburban paper and said, 'I don't want to see any Chicago Bears or Cubs or anything downtown. We cover the local news and local schools.'"

"One guy asked a question, 'Well how about if Chicago, this or that? and the editor, in very blue language said, 'I wouldn't want you to cover the Second Coming of Jesus if it happened in Chicago.'"

"So, 25 years later," Jenkins said, "I have it happen in Left Behind."

Final thoughts on March 19— Cox for Senate

Revue and comment on candidates in the March 19 are completed with this issue. We are addressing races where there is competition:

U.S. Senate (Republican): John Cox, an expert on taxation, is admired for his conservatism. His stand on reducing taxes and limiting government is in the tradition of President Reagan. Cox's nomination is recommended because we feel he possesses the up-from-the-street toughness needed to unseat ultra-liberal and reliably partisan Democrat, incumbent Richard Durbin, who seems more interested in advancing Democratic causes than serving the citizens of Illinois. Durbin is unopposed. Jim Oberweiss possesses requisites for a state-wide race—money and connections—but the question remains how he would deal with Durbin in a toe-to-toe battle. Cox's wealth is self-made. Cox knows the ways of Chicago where he grew up and owned a business. That's an advantage. Cox is pro-life. He'll be a strong supporter of President Bush's war on terrorism. A third candidate, legislator Jim Durkin from DuPage County, has campaigned ineffectively.

Governor: Our views on the campaign to elect a new governor were expressed earlier. Republican Corinne Wood endorsed. Democrat Paul Vallas endorsed. A word about Congressman Rod Blagojevich's candidacy. Nominating the ambitious young Chicago political insider would be an invitation to resumption of the reckless and corrupt days of Dan Walker, the last Democrat to serve as governor.

Lt. Governor (Republican): State Sen. Carl Hawkinson has issued with his running mate, Atty. Gen. Jim Ryan, an impressive list of economic initiatives except that they would lead to a more expensive bureaucracy at a time when the state can't afford more spending. We're giving the nod to another legislator, William A. O'Connor, who has established a reputation as a hard-working and serious lawmaker. For the Democratic nomination, it's a toss up between F. Michael Kelleher Jr. or Joyce W. Washington, either of whom is preferred over Pat Quinn, a perennial candidate who has created chaos when ever elected to high office.

Atty. General (Republican): Bob Coleman, a Chicago attorney with a long-record of experience in business and government litigation, is endorsed over Joe Birkett, a pedestrian DuPage prosecutor. If elected in November, Coleman would come with a fresh perspective serving as the "people's lawyer" with no ties to party or other politicians. We especially like his stance as a proponent of open meetings and taking full advantage of the common law powers of his office, the strongest in the nation. For the Democratic nomination, it will be a travesty if voters select Lisa Madigan, a novice lawyer, over John Schmidt, who is well qualified by private practice and service in the federal government. Madigan is running on the strength of her step-father, House Speaker Mike Madigan.

State Senator (Democrat): Because of her experience in the House, Susan Garrett is endorsed over Chris Cohen. Cohen, formerly of Cook County, is unfamiliar with the new North Shore district. Garrett has been a hard worker who doesn't always follow party dictates.

State Representative (Democrat): In the new 60th District of Waukegan, Jerry L. Johnson, former mayor of North Chicago with experience in business, has the background to make a good representative. He is endorsed.

State Representative (Republican): In the new 51st District of central and southwest Lake County, Ed Sullivan Jr., the young Fremont Township assessor, is chosen over Mundelein Mayor Marilyn Sindles, who has run a surprisingly lack-luster campaign devoid of addressing pressing state issues. Sullivan has energy, promise and is speaking out on issues. Voters know where he stands, a quality that will put him in good stead in Springfield. In the 52nd District that includes territory in both Lake and McHenry counties, incumbent Mark Beaubien Jr. is endorsed over Peter D. Michling. Beaubien does his homework. The veteran lawmaker has an excellent record of constituent service. In the new 62nd District of north central Lake County, Robert W. Churchill, former state representative, points to experience in the General Assembly, Albert L. Wysocki is stressing his extensive background in grassroots government, and Ed Walters, an Army officer before entering the corporate world, offers youthful energy, idealism and potential. These qualities combined might make an unbeatable candidate. Unfortunately, the candidates have been running low-key, "safe" campaigns, making the sorting out process difficult if not impossible. This contest is a coin toss.

VIEWPOINT

Parents say-so undergoing test

School officials have a love-hate relationship with the popular idea of the benefits of parental involvement in the education process.

'Love' parents come out to the games, bake cookies for class fund raising projects and vote for tax increases. 'Hate' parents ask questions about test score results, why Johnny isn't doing better in school and what kind of subjects are being taught.

The love-hate relationship underscores the tension existing between a group of parents and the school their children attend in an unusual question being asked Tuesday, March 19, in an advisory referendum: Should the school adopt and implement Core Knowledge as the primary course of study for students from kindergarten through eighth grade? The question, being put to voters in District 46, is believed to be the first of its kind ever asked in Illinois.

District 46 is the Grayslake elementary system that serves students in a central Lake County area including parts of the Round Lake area, a sector of Lake Villa and Hainesville.

Core Knowledge, in short, a program based on traditional subjects and learning methods, is being advocated by a small band of vocal and well organized parents who object to the efforts of District 46 officials to implement the philosophies of William Spady and Outcome Based Education (OBE).

Sarah Surroz, a parent and president of Friends of District 46 advocating Core Knowledge, said the superintendent, Dr. Kurt Anderson, thought that parents questioning OBE and a "new vision" in the district "were a small angry group that would go away." Surroz said Anderson is correct that parents are angry, "but we're not a small group and we're not going away."

Friends and OBE advocates have been tussling for two years. Friends members have been offering reams of information at coffees, door-to-door canvassing and public meetings, that their school is heading down a dangerous path. One of the most telling arguments offered is that children at Aptakisic-Tripp School, located in an upscale south county area, are struggling at Stevenson High School, known for its high standards.

Ever since the referendum was scheduled, Anderson and school board members have been unresponsive to claims being made by Friends. Teachers belonging to the American Federation of Teachers have adopted a position of neutrality, even though the national union endorses Core Knowledge. "They're afraid of reprisals because this is a contract year," a Friends spokesman explained.

Friends leaders were asked why they don't follow traditional lines of protest and vote in new leaders at the next board of education election. "We can't wait that long," they replied. Even though the referendum is not binding, all sides will have a better idea after March 19 about attitudes regarding traditional methods vs. OBE. Too much parental involvement in the education process? That'll be clarified, too.

Answer

Largest numbers of recent high school graduates enrolled at College of Lake County attended Warren, Antioch, Waukegan, Grayslake, Libertyville and Zion-Benton high schools.

Cyber choosing

Two local animal shelters have joined Petfinder.com, the nation's largest and oldest virtual animal shelter enabling you to choose a pet without leaving home. # Congressman Mark Kirk—An impressive first term

The most important election for a candidate can be the first one. If you win, it's up to you to make a record, then run on that record as an incumbent. The odds of winning lie with the incumbent, and those odds increase when a good record is amassed.

In the 2000 election, I didn't support 10th District Congressman Mark Kirk in his election against Democrat Lauren Beth Gash, former state representative. In retrospect, I believe that he ran a much better campaign, and his endorsement from the retiring congressman, John Porter, clinched the election. They say that "all elections are local" and Mark Kirk was more aggressive in tactfully raising such local issues as the threatened closing of the VA Medical Center, federal impact aid to schools near military bases, lakefront development, and other local concerns. Often, candidates raise issues during elections, but "don't deliver."

After just over a year in office, Kirk has distinguished himself on many fronts, including policies to

Signs of the times

Signs, signs, everywhere signs. Just like the song, virtually every major street corner in Lake County is blanketed like the snow we've avoided all winter with campaign signs.

Candidates jockey for passers-by's eyes while they drive by. Every candidate has them, and little battles for sign position have broken out at major intersections like Hainesville Road and Washington Street, where Lakeland Staff noticed the constant positioning and repositioning and growing and shrinking number of the signs on a day-to-day basis.

"In the last week, I have had 12-hour days. In the final week, it will be 18-hour days," the Lt. Gov. said. "I am making history in this race, being the first serious female candidate for governor," she said. As her stop concluded, she added, "wouldn't it be great to have a governor from Lake County," she said, of course, rekindling the locals' memories of the late Gov. William Stratton.

She is optimistic about the March 19, vote, of course, and has scheduled a victory party in Chicago. Her stop the next day included helping Waukegan celebrate its being named a Main Street City.

Watch Wauconda

Some observers of the Wauconda growth patterns have noticed a trend. They remember back 12 years ago to Gurnee's growth time, when it marched west with housing development after housing development. Wauconda plans to grow from 9,400 residents to 15,000, according to its comprehensive plan. Two housing developments are already in the works for a total of 1,000 units at buildout. Could there be a Wauconda Mills in the offing?

Time's up

At Dist. 62 State Representative forum in Grandwood Park, candidate Al Wysocki was asked his view on Route 53, but his lengthy answer was "buzzed" to a halt as his time expired. Those running the forum said he got a little testy with timekeeper Kathy Adkins. Wysocki said, "I thought you wanted my answer." Adkins, according to moderator Al Oller, "can be a little forceful."

Creaming the opposition

Judging Mary

Mary Schostok, candidate for 19th circuit court, was appointed in February 2001 and is looking to retain her seat, formerly held by Fred Gelger. She gets Lakeland's approval to remain on the bench. Schostok, is on the advisory board for A Safe Place and on the board for Lake County Haven, keeping the Republican hopeful busy working with the victims of domestic violence.

Peaking curiosity

Lake County Board Rep. Bonnie Thom-

son Carter (R-Ingleside) wishes to clarify an issue raised by Volo Energy Center LLC. The company is proposing that combined cycle power plant in Volo. "I never gave an invitation to them for the public meeting (March 13). The developers had seven hours at a meeting and a video tape," she said, adding the March 13 meeting was for the residents to express their views.

Wood just could

Although it remains to be seen who the Republican nominee for governor will be, Corrine Wood will not be upstaged when it comes to early-morning appearances.

Wood, of Lake Forest, was making the rounds on a Monday morning at the Grayslake Metra Station, shaking hands, with a simple, "Hello, I am Corrine Wood and I am running for governor."

There was a chill in the air, but the sun is also rising earlier and earlier, just as her 6 a.m. campaign stop was underway. She was at the commuter station at that hour, ready to begin a 12-hour day of campaigning. She is seeking the GOP nomination against Jim Ryan, attorney general and Patrick J. O'Malley.

"It is getting nasty and negative. My oppo-

What if funny Bob Coleman is elected?

Bob Coleman, a Chicago lawyer and a Republican candidate for Illinois attorney general, is conducting a risky campaign that features commercials in which he pokes outlandish fun at himself.

His ads go far beyond the always desirable, occasional splash of humor; they are wild and crazy stuff, all make-believe and tongue-in-cheek, of course.

Coleman shows himself giving a dramatic speech to a near-empty children's playground.

During another Coleman speech a member of his audience begins to snore, and soon the whole room is snoring.

Striving to be a typical politician, he begins kissing babies but one of them has an accident on his shirt.

Coleman greets potential voters with handshakes but gets three knuckle-crushers in a row and is reduced to yelping, "Ouch!, Ouch!, Ouch!"

Skeptics fear Coleman is going too far with the self-punishing humor and voters might not take him seriously.

But what if he wins the election? What if it works? Will it turn old-fashioned campaigning upside-down? Will future candidates try to be more comical and less pompous? Will they campaign in Groucho Marx masks and beanies with propellers on top?

Coleman has a serious opponent in the Illinois primary next Tuesday, DuPage County State's Atty. Joseph Birkett. He has been endorsed by the Grant Township Republican Club, among others.

The Chicago Tribune endorses Coleman, saying, "He happens to be the most qualified attorney seeking the Republican nomination. He's given us a few good laughs in the campaign. More important, he's a good lawyer."

Presidents famous for their use of humor included Abraham Lincoln and Ronald Reagan. Another politician who occasionally surprises us by turning the lampoon on himself is Al Gore.

Gore currently is introducing himself like this: "My name is Al Gore. I used to be known as the next president of the United States."

Gore, also known as the "Ice Prince," has been famous for his dullness. Bob Dole once glibed, "It was so cold in Washington the other day someone hugged Al Gore to get warm."

Rush Limbaugh called Gore, "The Tree." So, for his next appearance at a press club bash, Gore had himself strapped to a dolly and wheeled onto the stage.

Like Bob Coleman, Ronald Reagan could poke fun at himself: "I have left orders to be awakened at any time in case of national emergency, even if I'm in a cabinet meeting."

Opponents said Lincoln was too homely to be president. When a rival accused him of being two-faced, he replied: "If I had two faces would I be wearing this one?"

In a commercial poking fun at politicians whose loose lips sometimes sink their own ships, Bob Coleman, speaking to a Polish community, butchers the Polish language.

Ah, yes, word-mangling is risky business in all of its forms: Freudian slips, malapropisms, gaffes, faux pas and, of course, bloopers.

Candidates charging down the home-stretch in this campaign should be cautioned to watch and weigh their words, and simply remain as American as applehood and mother pie.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Better to play it safe

Security concerns remain in everyone's consciousness, given the current climate in our nation. Public and private facilities nation-wide have taken extra precautions to protect buildings and the people who inhabit them. As a result of the terrorist incidents of Sept. 11, 2001, the Lake County Sheriff's Office carefully reviewed security measures at the Lake County Courthouse and Administrative Complex and determined that we needed to close the public parking facility, and issue vehicle and picture identification cards to County government employees. This was not a County Board decision. As sheriff, I have to balance public safety with public access. It was a difficult decision, but given the circumstances, I remain convinced it was the right decision.

Although the parking garage closure may have captured the public's attention, it was not the only security measure taken. Security, both inside and outside of the facility, remains heightened. The Lake County Sheriff's office continues to evaluate our facilities and implement increased security measures where appropriate. Consistent with counties nation-wide, we are continuing to evaluate our risks and work closely with state and federal law enforcement agencies to provide the appropriate balance between public access and public safety. If we err, we must do so on the side of public safety.

As Sheriff, I understand the concerns raised regarding the County parking facilities. Rest assured that I continue to evaluate our facilities, while at the same time maintain a strong responsibility to protect our citizens in these unsettling times.

Gary Del Re, Sheriff

Children are key

The most precious resource in our state is our children. Sadly enough many children never make it to the point of birth because of abortion.

Only ONE Candidate for Governor has demonstrated his concern for unborn children-Patrick O'Malley. His opponents cannot match his work through legislation and skillful advocacy in protecting children from abortion.

Now it is up to the voters. Either we vote to elect candidates who will work to stop abortion, or we stand by and watch the creation of a culture of death.

Who is watching the store (Lake County)?

Last Aug. 30, 2001, I wrote a letter to the editor outlining the payoff by the Lake County Board to former Lake County administrator Karl Nollenberger. No one seemed to mind that Nollenberger was paid $85,000 for resigning when such a payment was not required under the terms of his employment contract.

This payment was on top of an IMRF retirement payment of over $150,000 paid months earlier towards Nollenberger's pension and after Nollenberger received pay increases in two years from $135,000-$150,000-$170,000.

I also noted that the county's general administrative expenses had soared 57 percent in four years since 1996 when the "green" took control of the County Board, yet during the previous four years under Bob Depke those same expenses declined a half of a percent.

The reason this is important is that their performance affects every Lake Countian in the property tax that we pay.

During the last four years, our tax bill from Lake County has increased, yet the portion of Lake County taxes going to fix our roads and relieve gridlock has decreased.

The county's general administrative expenditures have increased by $14,000,000 in four years, yet the portion spent on county roads has declined.

In the face of ENRON debacle and in light of its accounting firm's apparent lack of providing accurate financial disclosure, all Lake Countians should be shocked to read the most recent disclosure letter of Lake County's auditor, wherein they say:

"However, the primary government financial statements, because they do not include the financial data of component units of Lake County, do not purport to, and do not, present fairly the financial position of Lake County, as of Nov. 30, 2000 and the results of its operations and cash flows of its proprietary fund types for the year then ended in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles."

Who would deposit in a bank, invest in a stock or fund receiving such a report from its auditor?

The answer is obvious. No reasonable person would make such an investment, yet we continue to send our tax dollars to Lake County when their accounting firm has warned us.

combat terrorism, raising funds for special education, supporting military personnel, veterans, and defense spending, and providing grants for education. He has been in the forefront to keep the VA Hospital open. That issue alone has won him the respect and support from area veterans and has impacted in a positive way the local economy.

Another issue that Congressman Kirk has championed deserves special mention. Since the Sept. 11 terrorism tragedy, we must look more closely at homeland security. At the vacant nuclear plant at Zion's lakefront lie spent rods of nuclear waste. It will be many years before that nuclear waste will be transported, but Congressman Kirk has already worked on what must become a reality; the approval of the Yucca Mountain site in Nevada as the national nuclear waste repository.

We must also be concerned over what happens at the former ComEd nuclear plant in Zion. There are strong rumors that it may again become a nuclear energy plant. As one who opposed the site when it was initially constructed at the lakefront, I shudder at the thought that anyone could consider a "return appearance." With a great emphasis on security against terrorism, I don't think that reasonable minds would allow it.

It was with respectful admiration; therefore, that I heard of remarks that Congressman Kirk recently made before the Lake County Board. He was emphatic that, once the nuclear plant is de-commissioned, it and other plants near the Great Lakes, should become "nuclear-free zones." He said that Illinois has more nuclear facilities than any other state, and, in this age of rightful alarm about security risks, that we are the home for so many nuclear plants is a scary thought.

There will be times that I will disagree with Congressman Mark Kirk on his votes in Congress. I would be less than objective; however, if I did not go on record as saying that he has been very impressive and responsive during his first year in office. I guess that I'm not alone in that assessment. Somewhere I read where he and another congressman were rated the "top two" first termers in the U.S. House of Representatives.

The way you start in public office is so important. First impressions can be lasting. Congressman Mark Kirk has earned the accolades that he has received.

What you're saying

Blame the state

Lake County voters face no less than 17 school referendums on March 19. No one seriously questions the schools' need for the money. Lake County has seen incredible growth in the last 10 years. Most schools have doubled, or even tripled, their student populations. You cannot hire that many new teachers and build that many new schools without new money.

The most common reason I hear for opposing school referendums is that by voting the referendum down, we can force the State of Illinois to fund its fair share of education costs. The State of Illinois, one of the wealthiest states, ranks a lowly 48th in school funding. It is shameful and disgraceful, but it will not be changed by voting down a referendum.

Our state representatives and senators, presently groveling so hard for our votes, don't have the political will, the talent, or the guts needed to increase school funding. There are only two ways for the state to do it. It can cut existing programs and give the savings to education, or it can increase taxes. Does anyone seriously think that the politicians will make the kind of massive cuts in existing programs needed to meaningfully increase school funding? No way. Too many pet projects. Too many vested interests. Too much greed.

The quick fix for the state is to increase income taxes. Tax an extra one percent and dedicate it all to the schools. Voters opposing school referendum suggest this solution, albeit with trepidation. It doesn't work. First the politicians don't have the guts to do it. But second, it's a bad deal for Lake County. The collar counties, of which Lake County is one, support the State of Illinois. We pay the state more than we get back. Our tax dollars support the poor farm counties, and mismanaged and corrupt Cook County. From a purely selfish and self interested point of view, we are better off paying for our own schools. Every tax dollar we spend goes directly to us, to our kids, and to benefit our communities.

Blame the State of Illinois for our school funding problems. It deserves it in spades. Pressure your state representatives and senators to increase school funding, if you can find them after the election. But vote for the school referendums, because that is the best, and cheapest way to make sure our kids get a good education.

Stick to original plan?

A community is built upon a vision. The comprehensive plan of Volo is the result of one year, long countless meetings and several hours collaborating amongst village and surrounding community members creating the future vision of Volo. The villages of Volo supported this comprehensive plan by a unanimous vote May 2001. For this plan to be successful the village board needs to support and follow this outline for the future growth of the village. Just six months after passing the comprehensive plan, the village planner who worked with and recommended the plan, brings forth a revised one. (He is now self-employed representing power companies). This revised plan includes the land use of a combine-cycle power plant where residential, farming and churches were envisioned and properly zoned.

Volo residents, did you envision building your community around seven 130 foot stacks? Did you envision welcoming workers, shoppers and travelers with a plume from these seven stacks? Did you envision 3.5M to 6.5M gallons of water being drawn daily from the aquifer? I don't think so or you would have included the heavy industrial use in your newly approved comprehensive plan.

Volo-You did it right the first time. Stick to your plan and don't second-guess your hard work because a developer envisions Volo differently than you. Development should never be at any cost but that is what this power plant will do. It is a desperate way to build the future of your community. Vote NO on March 19.

Support Walters

The Republican primary election in the new 62nd Representative District (central Lake County) has an excellent candidate who deserves our support. I am writing to support Ed Walters of Grayslake for State Representative in the 62nd District.

Ed is a family man who works as a marketing strategist with Kraft Foods. He graduated from West Point and served six years in the Army. He knows about leadership, business, duty, honor and country. He is the type of person we need in Springfield in the years ahead.

Ed is a member of the Avon Township Republican organization and a committeeman. He is a thoughtful and conscientious person who has studied the issues and will advocate for us in the Illinois House. He has been working hard for the past several months to get out and meet us. He is the only non-lawyer running for this legislative seat.

Ed Walters is an approachable and hard working person. He knows that high property taxes, school funding issues, traffic congestion, and a host of other issues confront us all in growing Lake County. He will be available for us, and represent us well in the Illinois House.

I worked for Jim Thompson and Jim Edgar and closely observed the political process in Springfield for many years. I know what makes a good representative. Because of my experience, I am voting for Ed Walters and urge all Republican primary voters Grayslake, Gurnee, and Lake Villa to do the same in the 62nd Representative District race.

Philip S. Howe

Gary Pack supporter

In the time that I have known McHenry County State's Attorney Gary W. Pack, he has continued to impress me with his commitment to serving the citizens of his county.

While Mr. Pack has earned the reputation as being tough on crime, his office also has the reputation of prosecuting all crimes in a fair manner, protecting the rights of the accused, as well as protecting the rights of the victims of the crime.

While State's Attorney, Gary Pack has also been firmly committed in his support and dedication to the business community, as a whole, and fundraising for numerous charities such as Family Alliance for Senior Citizens, a battered women's shelter, and Illinois Fire Safety Alliance Burn Camp.

Gary Pack is running to fill the vacancy of Thomas Schermerhorn in the 19th Judicial Circuit. I believe Gary Pack to be the best candidate in this race. I strongly urge you to join me in supporting Gary Pack for Circuit Judge on March 19.

Gary Del Re
Sheriff, Lake County

Experience and effectiveness count

I've known Robert W. Churchill for more than 20 years, so I feel most confident in recommending him to voters in the "new" 62nd State Representative District. He is a lifelong resident of Lake County and is the only candidate in the race with legislative experience.

Churchill represented a Lake County district in the Illinois House of representatives from 1983 to 1999. During that time, he earned a reputation as one of the hardest working and most effective legislators in Springfield. In fact, Churchill was so highly regarded that he advanced to the legislative post of House Majority Leader. He was always responsive to his constituents and worked in unity with other lawmakers to ensure that Lake County concerns were addressed.

With the state's current budget problems and serious challenges mounting here in Lake County — like funding education, road congestion and taxes — we need Churchill representing us in the State House. He will hold the line on taxes, hit the ground running and be effective for us on day one. In difficult times like these, experience and effectiveness really does count!

Please join me in voting for Robert W. Churchill on March 19th. Thank you!

Bill Gill

O'Malley's the man

It is easy to see why Patrick O'Malley is gaining support and will win the Republican primary on March 19.

The press continuously underestimates the influence of conservative voters in Republican primaries. Peter Fitzgerald, now a U.S. Senator, and Al Salvi both ran as conservatives and won their Republican primaries. The more Republicans learn about the race for Illinois Governor, the more likely Patrick O'Malley will gain further support.

Only one Republican has had the courage to challenge George Ryan on his unjustifiable tax increases: Patrick O'Malley. Only one Republican has had the courage to call for the reinstitution of the death penalty in those cases where the evidence is overwhelming and guilt is not in question: Patrick O'Malley. And only one Republican has had the courage to stand up and fight for conservative principle on issues of the second amendment and abortion: Patrick O'Malley.

The other two Republicans are apologists for warmed over rejected Democratic policies. Both of O'Malley's opponents have done little to promote Republican values of less taxes and less government. I only hope my fellow Republicans can see through the smoke screen and support the true Republican in the governor's race: Patrick O'Malley.

The right man

I have been a certified court reporter for 26 years and have worked with thousands of attorneys and judges in four different states. Judges and attorneys that excel not only in their professional abilities but manifest personal dignity and integrity as a man are the ultimate qualities to consider when voting for a circuit court judge. Judge Michael Caldwell excels in professionalism and is a man of impeccable objectivity. I endorse Judge Michael Caldwell for Circuit Court Judge.

Judge for yourself

Judge Caldwell is on the ballot because he knows the law, has the experience, and will ensure the quality of the judiciary in our circuit. Judge Caldwell spent 34 years "in the trenches" as an attorney and the past four years as one of our most respected judges.

About a year ago, I sat in on a small claims homeowner vs. contractor trial, in Judge Caldwell's courtroom. It was far from the trash of TV's Judge Judy. From the moment the bailiff announced, "All rise" to the conclusion, there was no question that being in court was serious business. Throughout the trial, no person, no issue was unimportant to him. His ruling was so comprehensive and impartial, it was indisputable.

We all hope we'll never have to be in court, but if we are, our best hope is for a judge with the background, integrity, and experience of Judge Michael T. Caldwell. Your vote for Judge Caldwell on March 19 can make the difference.

Political Party Preference is Private

In the upcoming primary election, millions of Illinois voters will be forced to declare their party preference in front of the election judges, their neighbors and local party workers. This system — known as the "Closed primary" — is outdated and should be abolished.

Under current state law, voters must declare their party to the primary judge, who then must announce it to everyone in the polling place. Your choice is then recorded and sent to the county chairmen of the republican and Democratic Parties in each county.

The choice of party is highly personal and a matter of conscience. Citizens should not be required to reveal this to nosy election officials or anyone else. As citizens – and taxpayers who foot the bill of running elections – we're entitled to a zone of privacy. In this era of big Government and Big Computers, closed primaries are yet another intimidating intrusion into our privacy.

Under an "open primary" system, you select your political party in the privacy of the voting booth, with no public records as to how you voted and no party workers snooping over your shoulder. The principle of secrecy of the ballot is a cherished tradition in our democracy. Many states, such as Wisconsin, have had open primaries for a century and refuted arguments by closed primary advocates that changing the system will weaken parties.

Open primaries remove the chilling effect of declaring party preference. The result? Higher voter turnout, the core of participatory democracy. It's time to close the door on closed primaries.

Did you know that . . . ?

Another harmful consequence of electric power production is mercury pollution. Mercury is a hazardous air pollutant that causes adverse health effects such as loss of sensory or cognitive ability, delays in developmental milestones such as walking and talking, birth defects, tremors, and even death.

Mercury pollution is easily transported through the air, and a relatively small amount can easily contaminate an entire ecosystem, sometimes for thousands of miles.

The largest source of mercury pollution comes from the electric power industry, accounting for 34 percent of the total mercury emitted by all known sources. More than 99 percent of that mercury comes from coal-fired plants, whose absolute total tonnage of mercury released into the environment is expected to climb by 33 percent to over 60 tons by 2010.

Perhaps most importantly, the coal industry remains the only major source of mercury pollution not to be regulated. While mercury in waste incinerators, paints and pesticides have been regulated and shown decrease in mercury pollution, the coal and utility industries got Congress to exclude mercury emissions from regulation under the 1990 Clean Air Act – the only industry to gain such an exemption.

These lethal loopholes, initiated by the electric power industry, create powerful economic incentives for coal plants to operate its dirty facilities at the expense of our health and our environment.

Thumbs up County Board

As the primary race of county board candidates heats up, we are easily caught in the frenzy of fund raising and campaigning. We should stop and consider all the current board members have accomplished, especially during the past six years. Quite unexpectedly, I realize: "It is time to say—thank you." First of all, I'm grateful that my county taxes will not go up this year due to the board's fiscal responsibility. I'm also grateful for one service that county board members have brilliantly performed as commissioners of the Lake County Forest Preserves. In 1995 total Forest Preserve land acquisition amounted to 34 acres. Since 1996 our Lake County Forest Preserves acquired over 3,500 acres. The strong "Open Space—Slow growth" attitude of the board began to take shape in 1998. Currently, over 23,606 acres make up the Lake County Forest Preserves.

Lake County voters, you have an opportunity on March 19 to elect a Lake County Forest Preserve board of commissioners who will work to continue the "Open Space—Slow growth" tradition. On election day, ask for a Republican ballot and vote to save our natural heritage.

Grace M. Vogt,

Lake County Forest Preserves volunteer

Experience Matters

Experience really does matter.

You don't make the pro bowl no matter how big a star on the high school football team.

Only one candidate for Circuit Judge in McHenry County has that experience. Judge Michael Caldwell worked for 34 years in the private sector handling all kinds of cases and has been a sitting judge for four plus years. He has done his apprenticeship. He is a true journeyman.

Keep your court system honest, fair and professional. Elect Judge Caldwell as Circuit Judge of the Nineteenth Judicial circuit.

Barbara J. Walters

New leadership needed

Republicans in Illinois face a decision in this primary election that goes beyond simply choosing a new governor. Electing Senator Patrick O'Malley as governor would provide fresh leadership and a new direction for the Illinois Republican Party.

Voters are tired of the same old Democratic agenda of promising everything to everybody, accomplishing nothing for anybody, and raising taxes to pay for it all.

Under liberal George Ryan, the Illinois Republican Party has become a strange mixture of deception, incompetence and irresponsibility. In three short years, George Ryan and liberal Illinois Republicans have spent our state from healthy surplus into a crisis of debt.

Senator O'Malley's opponents in this primary election have either supported George Ryan's irresponsibility, or hid in cowardice as Ryan plundered our state's finances.

The O'Malley plan would reform Illinois government by taking politics out of awarding gambling licenses through open bidding. Gambling interests would have to pay fair market value for the licenses, significantly increasing revenue to the state treasury. With this increased revenue, while holding the line on state spending, the O'Malley plan would repeal George Ryan's tax and fee increases and balance the state budget.

The Republican Party is at a crossroads in Illinois. Either it will find its roots as a party of principle, or forever be known as a party of the pork barrel.

Shame on Volo Power Plant

I remember it well. Thirteen years ago a group of residents from unincorporated Volo came to the County Board expressing concern that their rural way of life was being destroyed by encroaching municipalities. I worked very hard to help the residents create the new Village of Volo. I was very happy, indeed, to help people like the current Mayor of Volo, Burnell Russell, preserve their rural quality of life.

You can imagine my horror and sadness over the last few years watching Volo gobble up land for high density developments. They certainly lost their vision from the 1980s. And now, the mayor, the same man who came to me and the County Board for help, is selling all of us down the river for the almighty dollar by proposing a Power Plant on his very own property. Shame on you Mayor Burnell Russell.

Vote NO on March 19 to the further destruction of your community and our county with a Power Plant.

Suzi Schmidt, chairman
Lake County Board
Lake Villa

Open space running out

It appears that no one is watching the store as it relates to environmental problems. The Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission (NIPC) predicts the six county metropolitan area will grow by 1.3 million people between 1998 and 2020. Conservation of our water, topsoil, and farmland, can no longer be put on the back burner, which makes the Fremont Township Open Space referendum the most important election in all of Lake County this year. NIPC has indicated that time is running out for everyone as it relates to all critical environmental issues.

Support the students

I am a freshman student at Grayslake Community High School. I am writing to ask all of the voters of Grayslake High School District 1276 to vote YES for the referendum to support another high school campus in the district. For me and the other students of Grayslake Community High School, this issue is about much more than just another building. For us, this will determine whether we will have the same type of high school experience as others who have attended this high school over the years, or something significantly less.

If this referendum is not passed, many extracurricular programs, including all athletics, music programs, drama, Scholastic Bowl and other extracurricular academic activities will be terminated. Many students with great abilities in sports, music and academics will never have a chance to refine and develop those abilities. Students with the talent to compete for college scholarship will not have the opportunity to do so. And the very definition of what it means to be in high school will change for me and all of my fellow Grayslake students.

Voters of District 127, I ask you to make sure you vote on March 19 and to vote YES for the District 127 referendum. My future, and the future of all my classmates at Grayslake Community High School, depends on it.

Derrick Whiteside

Adams supporter

I hope that voters will read this letter and understand why this election for Lake County Board is so important and why candidate Tom Adams needs to win in the newly formed District 21 which encompasses Riverwoods, Lincolnshire, Mettawa, Bannockburn, Green Oaks and part of Libertyville. I feel Tom is the best qualified for the job not only because of his many years of experience in public service, but most important because of his proven track record of supporting a quality life and environment for Lake County.

What do I mean by this? While serving nine years as mayor of the Village of Green Oaks and 12 years elected as village trustee, he has successfully created an Open Space District within the village of Green Oaks of over 250 acres. There are not many municipalities that can boast of setting aside so much land to conserve and protect these natural areas. During this time he has diligently worked with Lake County, IDOT and adjoining communities to alleviate roadway congestion within the village and also to benefit surrounding communities. As vice-chairman of Lake County's Storm Water Management commission, he has supported protection of wetland programs to help control flooding.

Most important of all, and people need to know this, Tom Adams has a proven track record of being able to work well with other people by being open to other ideas and concerns that people have. I feel this is one of the most important attributes an elected official can have.

RV Parks not all bad

Mrs. Hiller, Regarding your comments on the RV Parks; These Parks are NOT year round residency, therefore they DO NOT add to the burdening of our schools. RV parks are open from April 15 through Oct. 15.

These Parks DO NOT increase our taxes. I pay rent for my RV space, the park owner pays the real estate taxes. I also own a home in Antioch, with ever rising taxes, however on reviewing my bill, the increases were for: Lake County, Forest Preserve, Antioch Township, Road and Bridge, Gravel, Village of Antioch, Library, Library Pension, School Dist. 34, School Pension, High School Dist. 117, High School Pension. Check your bill, I didn't see RV Freight on mine.

As an owner of one of these "trailers" (Modern, Plush, Park Model) I am insulted that you think of me as a polluter, and negatively as "this type of tourism". All RVs are self contained as opposed to some homes around the lake on septic tanks that, in many cases, are old and in disrepair contributing far more pollution than any RV unit ever could.

You ask what business these trailers support. How about food stores, restaurants, gas stations, marinas, hardware stores, etc. and summer functions in Antioch like the 4th of July festivities, craft shows, Chicken BBQ, the upcoming Friday Fest, etc.

I do not understand why you want to shut down these parks, forcing good people out of business and causing me and others to have to dispose of our summer homes for a fraction of their cost.

The Chain of Lakes area has long been promoted and nationally recognized for its recreation and tourism activities.

There are other issues far more worthy of all the energy put into this one. If Ms. Martini continues on this campaign many decent people will be robbed of their livelihood and right to choose how they vacation.

I say it's time for a change, let's welcome Kevin Schoudel on March 19.

Ms. Catherine Ursin
(Former Martini supporter)

Experience: Selected Chief Judge of 18th Judicial circuit (1999); elected Circuit Judge (1996); appointed Circuit court judge (1994); appointed Associate Judge (1986); Deputy Chief of Criminal division, DuPage State's Attorney's Office; Assistant State's Attorney, Cook County

Education: Graduated with honors from St. Joseph's College (1966); graduated with distinction from Illinois Institute of Technology, Chicago-Kent College of Law (1973)

Honors/awards: Received highest ratings of all Associate Judges seeking reappointment in the DuPage County Bar Association Poll of Attorneys (1991); received second highest overall rating of all judges in the DuPage County Bar Association Poll of Attorneys (1993, 1994)

Community activities/involvement: Literacy Volunteers of America; past president of DuPage Criminal Defense Attorneys' Association

Why are you running for this office? I want to see the courts expedite handling of cases.

S. LOUIS RATHJE Republican

Running for 2nd District Appellate Court Judge to fill vacancy of Hon. Robert R. Thomas

Residence: Wheaton

Do you hold a political office now? Currently in private law practice. Held appointment to Supreme Court from January 1, 1999 to 2000, filling vacancy created by the retirement of Justice John L. Nickels

Experience: Served on all three levels of the Illinois Judiciary. Was youngest member of Illinois Supreme Court. Elected to the 2nd District Appellate court in 1994. Elected to the 18th Judicial Circuit Court in 1992. Admitted to practice before the United States Supreme Court (1980), Illinois Supreme Court (1964) and Wisconsin courts (1989).

Education: Wheaton College, 1961 (B.A.); Northwestern University, 1964 (Juris Doctorate). Studied Anglo-American jurisprudence at Watham College, Oxford University, England; completed courses in judicial writing at New York University School of Law and graduated from judicial courses at the National Judicial College.

Community activities/involvement: Life-long active Republican. Board of Directors, Illinois Judges Association (1999-2002); Justian Society of Law (current)

Why are you running for office? I was appointed to serve on the Appellate Court. Litigation is increasing, and appeals are increasing. I want to expedite some cases, such as those involving child custody.

ROBERT B. MORTON Republican

Running for Judge of the Circuit Court for the 19th Judicial Circuit (Lake and McHenry Counties) to fill the vacancy of the Hon. Fred A. Gelger

Residence: unincorporated Antioch

Do you hold political office now? No

Experience: Nearly 20 years as an Attorney, trial and appeals; civil and criminal. Found "Well Qualified" for Circuit Court Judicial vacancy by Supreme Court Blue Ribbon Screening Committee. Arbitrator for more than 12 years, State Hearing Officer for IL Board of Education.

Education: B.A. University of Michigan, J.D. Harvard Law School Community activities: part-time police officer, Round Lake area, participant "Reach One" summer camp program

Why are you running for this office? I have the breadth of experience and training necessary to understand most legal issues that may come before me as a Circuit Judge, whether civil or criminal.

Family consists of: wife

What would you like to tell the general public? By far the biggest complaints from persons exposed to our legal system, are the unnecessary delays and excessive costs incurred by the parties. A judge does have the authority and necessary tools to implement improvements in all of these areas.

MARY S. SCHOSTOK Republican

Running for 19th Judicial Circuit to fill vacancy of Hon. Fred A. Gelger

Residence: Libertyville (12 years)

Do you hold a political office? 19th Judicial circuit judge (appointed Feb. 1, 2001)

Experience: Associate judge (May 98-Feb. 2001), Lake County Assistant State's Attorney (10 years), private practice in Pittsburgh, Assistant Public Defender in Allegheny County, Pa.

Education: Youngstown State University (1982), Capital University Law School, Columbus, Ohio (1989)

Honors/awards: Fred Al Foreman Award, President's Award from the Lake County Bar Association, others.

Community activities/involvement: Currently, Lake County Haven Board; Advisory Board for "A Safe Place" shelter. Previously, Big Brothers and Sisters board, Supreme Court Committee for Criminal Law and Probate, Illinois State Bar Association Committee on Criminal Law.

Why are you running for this office? I love what I'm doing and I want to continue to serve on the bench.

How do you differ from your opponent? There is a difference in our qualifications, experience and community involvement. I think it is important to know the community you serve. In rendering decisions, a judge has to know the makeup of the community and the services available.

RAY MCKOSKI Republican

Running for 2nd District Appellate Court Judge to fill vacancy of Lawrence D. Ingalls

Residence: Lindenhurst

Do you hold a political office now? Circuit Court Judge, 18th Judicial Circuit

Experience: Former Chief Judge of Lake and McHenry Counties (1996-98). Appointed Circuit Court Judge in 1991, elected Circuit Court Judge in 1992, retained as Circuit Court Judge in 1998, Associate Judge from 1985-91.

Education: North Central College, Naperville, 1969 (B.A.); DePaul University College of Law, 1972 (Juris Doctorate) graduated summa cum laude and first in law class.

Honors/awards: Illinois Township Association Award for Commitment to youth (1994); Exchange Club Book of Golden Deeds Award (2000).

Community activities/involvement: Secretary, Lake County Haven (homeless shelter); speaker at over 80 schools; established Juror Appreciation Day, Board member of Lake County Gang Prevention Alliance. Former director, American Heart Association. Member of Friends of Lake Villa Library, Millburn Historical Society and Rotary International.

Why are you running for this office? I've had 17 years experience as a trial judge, but I also enjoy writing and research, which are a large part of being an appellate judge. I think an appellate judge not only decides individual cases, but also gives guidance for the future.

KENNETH MOY Republican

Running for 2nd District Appellate Court Judge (To fill vacancy of Hon. Lawrence D. Ingalls)

Residence: Hinsdale

Do you hold a political office now? Circuit Court Judge, 18th Judicial Circuit

Experience: DuPage County Prosecutor, law clerk for an appellate judge, hearing officer for State of Illinois Fair Employment Practice Commission, Panel Member of American Arbitration Association, business law professor, 3-term DuPage County Board Member

Education: Elmhurst College, John Marshall Law School (1961)

Honors/awards: Illinois Constitutional (law) Award

Community activities/involvement: Charities, arts council, Hinsdale Lutheran Church

Why are you running for this office? Law is a great thing; it advocates for fairness. I feel this would be the next step for me to get more involved.

How do you differ from your opponents? I have always been elected by the people, without any bar association endorsement. I am the only elected state official of Asian descent in the history of Illinois.

Family consists of: Wife and son

What would you like to tell the general public? As the son of immigrants, I have always worked hard and I will continue to do so if elected.

BARBARA GILLERAN JOHNSON Republican

Residence: Barrington

Do you hold a political office now? Circuit Court Judge, 19th Judicial Circuit (15 years). Currently, Acting Chief Judge for Lake and McHenry counties.

Experience: 23 years of legal experience. Served as Assistant States Attorney (Criminal Trial Division), Chief of Crime Victims Division for the Attorney General of the State of Illinois.

Education: DePaul University (B.A. in Political Science) and Chicago Kent College of Law (Juris Doctorate)

Honors/awards: Leadership award for drug prevention, Distinguished Legal Service Award, Outstanding Judicial Leadership Award, Outstanding Women in Community Award, Community Spirit Award.

Community activities/involvement: Governor's Citizen Advisory Board for Abused Children, A Safe Place shelter for victims of domestic abuse, LACASA (Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault)

Why are you running for this office? I believe I would make a difference for those in the 13 counties I would serve, particularly in the areas of violence and child abuse. Juvenile cases have increased. There are now more cases going to appeal on issues such as child abuse and custody.

Watershed meeting scheduled

On March 20, at 4 p.m. the Lake County Stormwater Management Commission will hold its third in a series of monthly public meetings to discuss plans for the Squaw Creek/ Long Lake watershed.

The watershed area includes the Round Lake communities and Hainesville. The agency is conducting a $95,000 watershed plan to look at anticipated growth in the area, as well as existing flooding and environmental problems.

All residents, landowners, business owners, government officials and other interested stakeholders are invited to attend.

The meeting will be held at the Fremont Township Office building located at 22376 West Earhart Road. The entrance for the building is about one-half mile southeast of the Route 60 and Peterson Road intersection.

Sousa concert at CLC March 17

Alzheimer's Disease treatments offer hope

Early Alzheimer's diagnosis important

As the number of diagnosed cases continues to rise, many Americans still believe Alzheimer's disease is a consequence of aging that has no remedy.

With as many as 4 million Americans currently afflicted, and the number expected to triple, options for Alzheimer's detection and treatment are increasingly important to an aging population. Although there is no known cure for Alzheimer's disease, it can be reliably identified and treated.

In fact, there are medical treatments available that may slow the progression of Alzheimer's if detected in its early stages.

The disease damages the brain cells responsible for intellectual functioning, including memory, intelligence, judgment and speech. People with Alzheimer's experience a decline in cognitive abilities, such as thinking and understanding, and changes in behavior.

As individuals age and their loved ones begin to notice memory and behavior changes, many aren't sure what to do.

"When memory lapses become more severe or so frequent that they begin to interfere with daily life, deciding when to visit a doctor about memory loss isn't always easy," says Dean Knudson, M.D. and geriatric psychiatrist.

People experiencing cognitive degeneration have an especially hard time facing their symptoms. Denial is common, even among family members who are seeing the decline. It's not uncommon for the symptoms to be denied or to go unrecognized until the problem becomes unavoidable.

The disease affects different people at different rates, and in different ways. Because Alzheimer's responds to medications best in its early stages, the most critical issue is to detect the disease early and to diagnose it correctly.

Telephone Screening Provides Convenient, Simple Initial Assessment
If you are concerned that you or a loved one may be experiencing symptoms of Alzheimer's, a new telephone screening provides a reliable way to assess cognitive level. The Minnesota Cognitive Acuity Screen (MCAS) is a telephone interview conducted by a registered nurse who is trained to screen for cognitive problems. Designed and validated by a team of scientists during a two-year period, the MCAS has been proven to identify mild to moderate dementia more than 98 percent of the time. Based on its success in the long-term care insurance industry, Nation's CareLink is now making the MCAS available to consumers.

"The MCAS is an excellent first course of action when loved ones experience memory problems," says Knudson. Knudson helped develop the screening tool to alleviate or identify concerns, noting that many general care physicians had neither the time nor the training to properly screen patients for dementia or Alzheimer's in the doctor's office. "Early detection means greater opportunity to assess medication, long-term care and other options."

MCAS questions relate to a person's basic orientation, problem solving and reasoning skills. The interview takes only 15 minutes to complete and is administered over the phone. Interviewees can take the test in the privacy and comfort of their own home.

The MCAS consists of nine sub-categories:

- Orientation
- Attention
- Delayed word recall
- Comprehension
- Repetition
- Naming
- Computation
- Judgment
- Verbal fluency

The depth of the MCAS is particularly important, since nearly 50 percent of cognitive impairments cannot be detected by memory testing alone.

"The MCAS provides a much needed bridge between expensive medical evaluations and the so-called 'watchful waiting' option," adds Knudson. With the cost of a telephone screening at $95, MCAS offers an affordable and convenient alternative to expensive neurological testing.

Results are mailed within 24 hours after completion of the MCAS. The test provides objective information to act upon, allowing family members to consider medical, legal and financial care decisions. Participants are advised to contact their physician to discuss results.

The Warning Signs

Ann Ray, 75, of Peoria, Ill. had a family history of Alzheimer's and recent bouts of forgetfulness. Ann wanted to know whether she had the disease, and she hadn't talked to her physician in awhile. For her, the MCAS quickly and inexpensively provided peace of mind and the assurance of knowing she is simply aging normally.

Cognitive changes can often be subtle and hard to detect. The Alzheimer's Association has identified the following possible warning signs and symptoms:

Memory loss that affects job skills. It's normal to occasionally forget an assignment, deadline or colleague's name, but frequent forgetfulness or unexplainable confusion at home or in the workplace may signal something wrong.

Difficulty performing familiar tasks. Busy people get distracted from time to time. For example, you might leave something on the stove too long or not remember to serve part of a meal. People with Alzheimer's disease might prepare a meal and not only forget to serve it but also forget they made it. Problems with language. Everyone has trouble finding the right word sometimes, but a person with Alzheimer's disease may forget simple words or substitute inappropriate words, making his or her sentences difficult to understand.

For more information about the Minnesota Cognitive Acuity Screen, contact the MCAS Center at (866) 884-6100 or visit www.cognitivescreening.com.

Coming to terms with your body shape

What do you see when you look in the mirror? Researchers report that women's and men's perceptions of their bodies differ.

In a recent survey of 813 adults ages 19 to 39 conducted by Psychology of Men & Masculinity journal, women of normal weight tended to perceive themselves as overweight, while normal-weight men often perceived themselves as too skinny. In addition, nearly half of the men assessed as overweight perceived themselves to be of normal weight.

What creates the distorted self-image? Researchers theorize that societal influences such as the media, which provides thinner-than-average role models for women and bulkier-than-normal examples for men, may be largely responsible. Consider these examples from the National Eating Disorders Association:

- The average American woman is 5'4" tall and weighs 140 pounds, yet the average American female model is 5'11" tall and weighs 117 pounds.

- Most fashion models are thinner than 98 percent of American women.

- Almost half of American elementary school students in the first through third grades want to be thinner.

- Four out of five children at the age of 10 are afraid of being fat.

Tippling the Scales

With our society's obsession over body image, you might think Americans would be lean, mean, physically fit machines. The surgeon general reports, however, that a staggering 61 percent of American adults are overweight, and three out of 10 U.S. adults are obese.

Part of the problem comes from inactivity and the tendency to look for a "quick fix." Americans spend more than $40 billion on dieting and diet-related products each year, according to the National Eating Disorders Association. Yet, according to the surgeon general, only one third of U.S. adults follow experts' recommendations and exercise for 30 minutes, five days per week. Carrying extra pounds leads to an increased risk of heart disease, diabetes, stroke, arthritis, depression and cancer.

Weighing In Accurately

So how can Americans get an accurate assessment of their health? To determine whether you are a healthful weight, don't compare yourself to people around you or in the media. Instead, check your body mass index (BMI) at www.nhlbisupport.com/bmi. This tool, based on data from the National Heart, Lung, Blood Institute, helps measure fatness. It doesn't take into account lean muscle mass, however, so athletes and body builders may get faulty results. Also, keep in mind that the BMI is not meant as a substitute for a professional medical assessment.

Recognizing the True You

Once you have accepted that the media portrayal of body weight is unrealistic, you may wonder how to define good health and an ideal body shape. The American College of Sports Medicine defines physical fitness as a combination of cardiovascular endurance, muscular strength, muscular endurance and flexibility. By focusing on getting an adequate combination of aerobic exercise, strength training, stretching and sleep, and by eating properly, you can enjoy increased energy, stamina and improved health. And while today's actors, models and rock stars will be forgotten tomorrow, being fit never goes out of style.

WHIPLASH

Even at low speeds the neck is subject to strong forces caused by the sudden acceleration or deceleration of the car. So what seems like a minor traffic accident can turn into pure misery down the road. Whiplash symptoms may not develop until hours, days, weeks or even years after the initial injury. Therefore, it's important to get a thorough chiropractic examination immediately after the accident. Chiropractic care can speed up your body's natural healing process and most importantly reduce further injury to your spine.

Whiplash Symptoms

- Head & Neck Pains
- Headache
- Stiff Neck
- Heaviness of Head
- Motion Restriction
- Muscle Spasms
- Tension
- Anxiety
- Numbness of Limbs
- Insomnia
- Ears Ringing
- Nausea
- Loss of Balance

NEW PATIENT CERTIFICATE
Present this certificate for a complete Chiropractic Evaluation—FREE!
Your initial visit will include: Consultation with doctor, 2 x-rays (if considered necessary), thorough spinal exam, explanation of treatment, confidential report of findings ($105.00 value). *IF YOU DECIDE TO PURCHASE ADDITIONAL TREATMENTS, YOU HAVE THE LEGAL RIGHT TO CHANGE YOUR MIND WITHIN THREE DAYS AND RECEIVE A REFUND.*

Professional in-service on the Biological Basis of eating behaviors offered by extension

The number of overweight and obese individuals is increasing at a dramatic rate. To address this issue, Dr. Lee Beverly, Assistant Professor in Animal Sciences, at the University of Illinois, will present "The Biological Basis of Eating Behaviors". The intent of the session is to provide participants with a review of factors influencing body weight and composition. The teleconference is scheduled for March 21, from 3:30-5:30 p.m. at the University of Illinois Extension, 100 South U.S. Highway 45 in Grayslake.

The important physiological and psychological factors that influence body weight and composition (long-term energy balance) will be reviewed and differentiated from those factors influencing appetite (short-term energy balance). Emphasis will be placed as the biological mechanisms that are targets for weight control treatments.

Dietitians, home economists, and others interested in healthcare issues are invited to participate with this session focusing on the current biology of appetite and energy balance.

The registration fee is $10. Two CPE hours of credit are available through the American Dietetic Association. Illinois teachers are able to claim credits toward certificate renewal as approved by the State Teacher Certification Board & Illinois State Board of Education.

To register or to obtain additional information, contact the Extension office in Lake County at (847) 223-8627.

The 'sink' sense: Choosing a sink that's right for you

Not too long ago, homeowners had two choices when it came to selecting a new kitchen sink -- cast iron or stainless. There were few choices of colors or shapes, and certainly no options for any customized sink accessories. So today's myriad of sink choices come as a refreshing change to those who want to personalize their kitchen.

The only problem now is that there are so many choices when it comes to picking out a kitchen sink -- that it may be overwhelming. "Homeowners educate themselves and carefully choose every other aspect of a kitchen design so why skip the sink?" asks Beth Allison, Moen Incorporated Sink Product Manager. "Our surveys with sink shoppers show that most don't understand the different materials from which each sink is made, the durability of all these materials, and what the various price points mean. Educating yourself and knowing all the options will help you determine which sink style, color and material is best -- after all, it's often the centerpiece of the kitchen."

So how can you become a smart "sink" shopper and make sense out of all those sink styles that await you at your local DIY retail outlet or plumbing showroom? The following will help you get over that 'sinking' feeling: Stainless Steel Stainless steel is still the most popular kitchen sink style, claiming 57 percent of the market, according to year 2000 statistics from the U.S. Department of Commerce. For those on a tight budget, stainless steel provides the lowest price point, with some models starting at $100. There are two main things to look for in choosing a stainless steel sink: 1) the thickness or gauge of the steel; and 2) the sound deadening ability (which determines how loud the noise is when something is dropped into the sink, such as a piece of silverware). In gauges, it is important to remember that the lower the number, the thicker the steel and hence the higher quality sink. For example, an 18-gauge sink is more durable than a 23-gauge model. And, for increased sound deadening, look for spray coatings and special sound pads underneath the bowl. These items also provide condensation control on the sink.

Of course, dent resistance and general durability of a particular sink will be directly related to the gauge of steel used, but in general, stainless sinks can be prone to scratching and water spotting.

To combat potential negative aspects of stainless, choose a model with a satin texture finish. "Although the 'mirror finish' may look nice in the showroom, these sinks have a hard time holding up to the normal wear and tear of a kitchen environment," says Allison. "A satin finish sink provides additional protection from scratching."

Stainless sinks are very popular in today's modern kitchens because they provide a perfect match to commercial-styled appliances. And, many of the latest models are available in innovative shapes that allow homeowners to customize a sink configuration. Moen's Lancelot line, for example, is available in oval, round and trapezoid bowl choices. With Lancelot, consumers can actually "design their own sink" by combining component sinks for any kitchen configuration.

Overall, stainless sinks offer many benefits including resistance to chipping, cracking or peeling. They are available in both undermount and drop-in models. One word of caution though: If you want to undermount a stainless steel sink, the countertop must be a solid material and not a laminate (due to water exposure, laminates can eventually separate and bubble).

Cast Iron Sinks

If you have an older kitchen that hasn't been through a remodel, there is a good chance that you have a cast iron sink. These sinks feature an iron base coated with an enamel finish. Although the latest cast iron sinks come in an array of colors, the main disadvantage is that they can chip or scratch, exposing the black surface underneath. When this surface is exposed, it can often lead to rusting. In addition, due to cast iron's high degree of thermal conductivity, hot water does not hold its tempera-

A tomato a day keeps the oncologist away.

That may not be entirely true but it is true that tomatoes, along with many other foods, have been proven to have cancer fighting properties.

In fact, studies have shown that just five servings of fruits and vegetables daily can prevent as much as 20 percent of all cancers. The cancer fighting benefits of proper nutrition apply to those who have been diagnosed and treated for cancer as well.

But keeping proper nutritional habits can be very complicated, especially when challenged with the rigors of traditional cancer treatment. If you add in complications from an unhealthy liver, renal system, or diabetes, the proper roadmap for nutrition gets even a little more gray.

That is why consulting a nutritionist can be just what the doctor ordered. Your one-hour consultation is a phone call away. #### WHEN TO REMODEL, WHEN TO MOVE

Remodeling your current home may seem like a good idea...adding an extra bath or bedroom or modernizing the kitchen. But how can you tell if it's better to move than remodel?

One rule of thumb is that if your home is already at the high end of the price range for the neighborhood, moving makes more sense.

Estimate the cost of planned improvements. Add fifty percent of that cost to the appraised value of your home. If the new value will put the price over the top ten percent for your neighborhood, think twice before remodeling. It is unlikely that you will recoup your investment when you sell. ©

A new choice in relaxation

When it comes to home improvement, choices abound. Along with the kitchen, bathrooms are at the forefront of renovation projects—and with good reason. No longer considered utilitarian spaces, bathrooms have emerged as a source of design and relaxation. Thankfully, creating a haven of comfort has never been more affordable. You may want to consider one of the latest entries into the bathing market: air baths.

One example is Comfort Baths by Monet™, a trademark of famed whirlpool bath maker, Jacuzzi®. This exclusive line treats bathers to a pure-air system, which soothes the entire body from head to toe. The unique system delivers warm bubbles of air from small air injectors located in the perimeter of the bath's well.

Monet's fully electronic control system offers you an array of variable settings for ultimate personal control. In addition, aromatherapy oils may be added to create your own at-home spa.

When it comes to installation, cast iron is one of the most difficult because these sinks are heavy and bulky in nature. Also, cast iron offers a very limited amount of undermount installation options.

Some homeowners still prefer cast iron because of the authenticity it lends to older homes, its glossy finish, and its stain resistance. Prices for cast iron sinks range from $200 to $1,200.

Composite

The use of composite kitchen sinks is growing rapidly, according to U.S. Department of Commerce statistics. But, because there are many types of composite sinks, there is much confusion in differentiating one from another. In general, there are three main types: polyester/acrylic, quartz composite and granite-based.

Once you have decided on your perfect sink, don't forget the many optional accessories available including form-fitting cutting boards, drying racks and colander baskets. Some of the high-end models may even have a recycling chute. Most sinks also have optional knockouts for such convenient attachments as lotion or soap dispensers and a pullout spray.

Lancer hoops season concludes

By JOE PRUSKI
Correspondent

In their best season under head coach Bill Braman, the College of Lake County women's basketball team finished with their first .500 or better season in 10 years.

This year's squad ended the season with a 16-16 record, while finishing second in the Skyway conference with an 8-2 mark.

"We really played well in the second half of the season," said Braman. "That's what is satisfying about this year, we made progress. You want to see improvement throughout the year, and I thought we did that."

In the final 17 games of the season, Braman's Lancers went 12-5, heading into the playoffs with a full load of steam. And after winning their first playoff game in several years, the Lancers lost in the second round to Illinois Valley, who eventually would go on to the region IV championship game before losing to Kankakee.

CLC lost to Illinois Valley in a game that Braman believed was a winnable game if his team was able to match Illinois Valley at the charity stripe. Both teams converted on 19 field goals, while Illinois Valley converted three three-point field goals to CLC's two. However, the foul line was another story. CLC made good on only 3-of-10 free throws, whereas Illinois Valley hit 22-of-29.

"We lost it at the free-throw line," said Braman. "That led to us being in foul trouble all night. Three of the girls had four fouls on them and (Stephanie) Cripps fouled out."

CLC won the battle on the boards however, 43-29.

Chanel Jones led the Lancers in scoring with 14 while pulling down nine rebounds. Becky Holem added 11 points and 14 rebounds, while Cripps finished with a 10-point, 10-rebound performance.

For the season, Jones finished with a double-double average to lead the team. She tallied 15.9 points and 11.4 rebounds per contest. Oddly enough, Jones also led the team in assists with 99, which tends to be difficult to do for an inside player.

"She (Jones) had a good year," said Braman. "I really feel the whole team had a good year, each one of them filled their roles and did exactly what was expected from them."

Cripps finished the year averaging 13.2 points and 7.5 rebounds while Stacie Peterson averaged 10 points while dishing out 87 assists. Holem averaged 8.2 points and 8.9 rebounds and Karen Davidson averaged 7.6 points. She also dished out 90 assists.

Barring players leaving early or transferring to other colleges, the women's team should remain primarily intact for next season. With the exception of Cripps, Peterson, and Carrie Hagy, the team will stay the same.

All in all, this season ended as a success.

"It was a very satisfying year," said Braman. "This was a wonderful group of girls to work with and it was a pleasure watching them come together as a group. And that's what really makes this season a success."

Men's basketball

The College of Lake County men's basketball team ended their season with a loss to Waubesa Valley in the first round of the playoffs.

CLC defeated Oakton in the preliminary playoff round in which the winner of the game would make it to the post-season.

CLC finished the season 3-24 overall and 1-11 in the Skyway Conference. Oakton finished last in the conference while CLC stood one spot better after beating Oakton in the regular season.

On the year, Joe Maitland led the Lancers in points and rebounds, averaging nearly 20 points per game while finishing the season with a rebounding average of around 11 per contest.

Although this season did not go as well as CLC coaches, players, and fans would have hoped for, there is still plenty of enthusiasm and anticipation heading into next season. CLC has already signed four players to play at next year, three of which are from the public league powerhouse Farragut Academy. Those three players along with the expected return of leading scorer and rebounder Maitland, can give CLC followers a reason to be excited.

Bears hoops game at MHS, April 6

What do the faculty and board of educators at Dist. 76 and some of the Chicago Bears players have in common?

Members from both will square off once again in the Third Annual Celebrity Basketball game April 6 at Mundelein High School.

Proceeds from the event go towards West Oak School in Mundelein.

Faculty from West Oak, Fairhaven and Diamond Lake Schools will play members of the Central Division champion Chicago Bears. Bears players scheduled to appear include Jerry Azumah, Marty Booker, James "Big Cat" Williams, Tony Parrish, Warrick Holdman and Jim Miller.

The format will be a little different this year, though.

"Instead of the faculty playing against the Bears for all four quarters, we'll have the West Oak seventh- and eighth-grade boys team playing the Bears for the first quarter. Then, the West Oak seventh- and eighth-grade girls team will play against them for the third quarters," said West Oak Assistant Principal Lea Keilwitz.

Meanwhile, the faculty members will have their shot at the Bears during the second and fourth quarters.

The evening won't be just basketball. At halftime, the nationally-known Jesse White Tumblers will perform a variety of acrobatic tumbling routines.

Disc jockey Mike Hill of Synergy Productions, along with West Oak cheerleaders, will also perform during timeouts.

Doors open at 5:30 p.m. with the basketball game getting underway roughly at 7. Then, at 8:30, Bears' players will hold an autograph and picture session.

"It's a great night of fun, with a chance to meet some of the Bears up close," said Keilwitz.

Tickets are $5 for students and adults in advance and $8 at the door the night of the event. Children under the age of 3 are admitted free of charge.

Ticket forms are available at West Oak, Fairhaven and Diamond Lake schools.

Motorsports Show March 22-24

Just when one thought the 25th Annual "Let's Go Racing" Motorsports Show had everything it could have, something new is entered.

A racing railroad handcar has been entered by Gary Mang of Waukegan.

The show, which is open free to the public during mall hours, is scheduled Fri.-Sun., March 22-24 at The Original Outlet Mall in Kenosha, Wis.

Over 50 entries have been received, including sprint cars, legend cars, super late models, super stocks, BIC (Basic International Cars) cars, winged modifieds, IMCA modifieds, Mid-American Sportsman Stock Cars, BMX bikes, Midwest Enduro Stock Car Series cars, Rascal Outlaw Sprints, a quarter-midget, IMCA hobby stocks and a contingent of vintage stock cars.

NAPA Auto Parts of Zion has also joined the show sponsors by taking over the Best Appearing Overall Championship Award. For the 24 previous years, Larry Roebuck of Larry's Mobil Service in Waukegan sponsored the award, but Roebuck has retired following closing his business.

Show sponsors include The Original Outlet Mall, J&L Oil, Lake Geneva Raceway, Wilmet Speedway, the Midwest Enduro Stock Car Series and joining this year is Speedway Legend Cars, Inc.

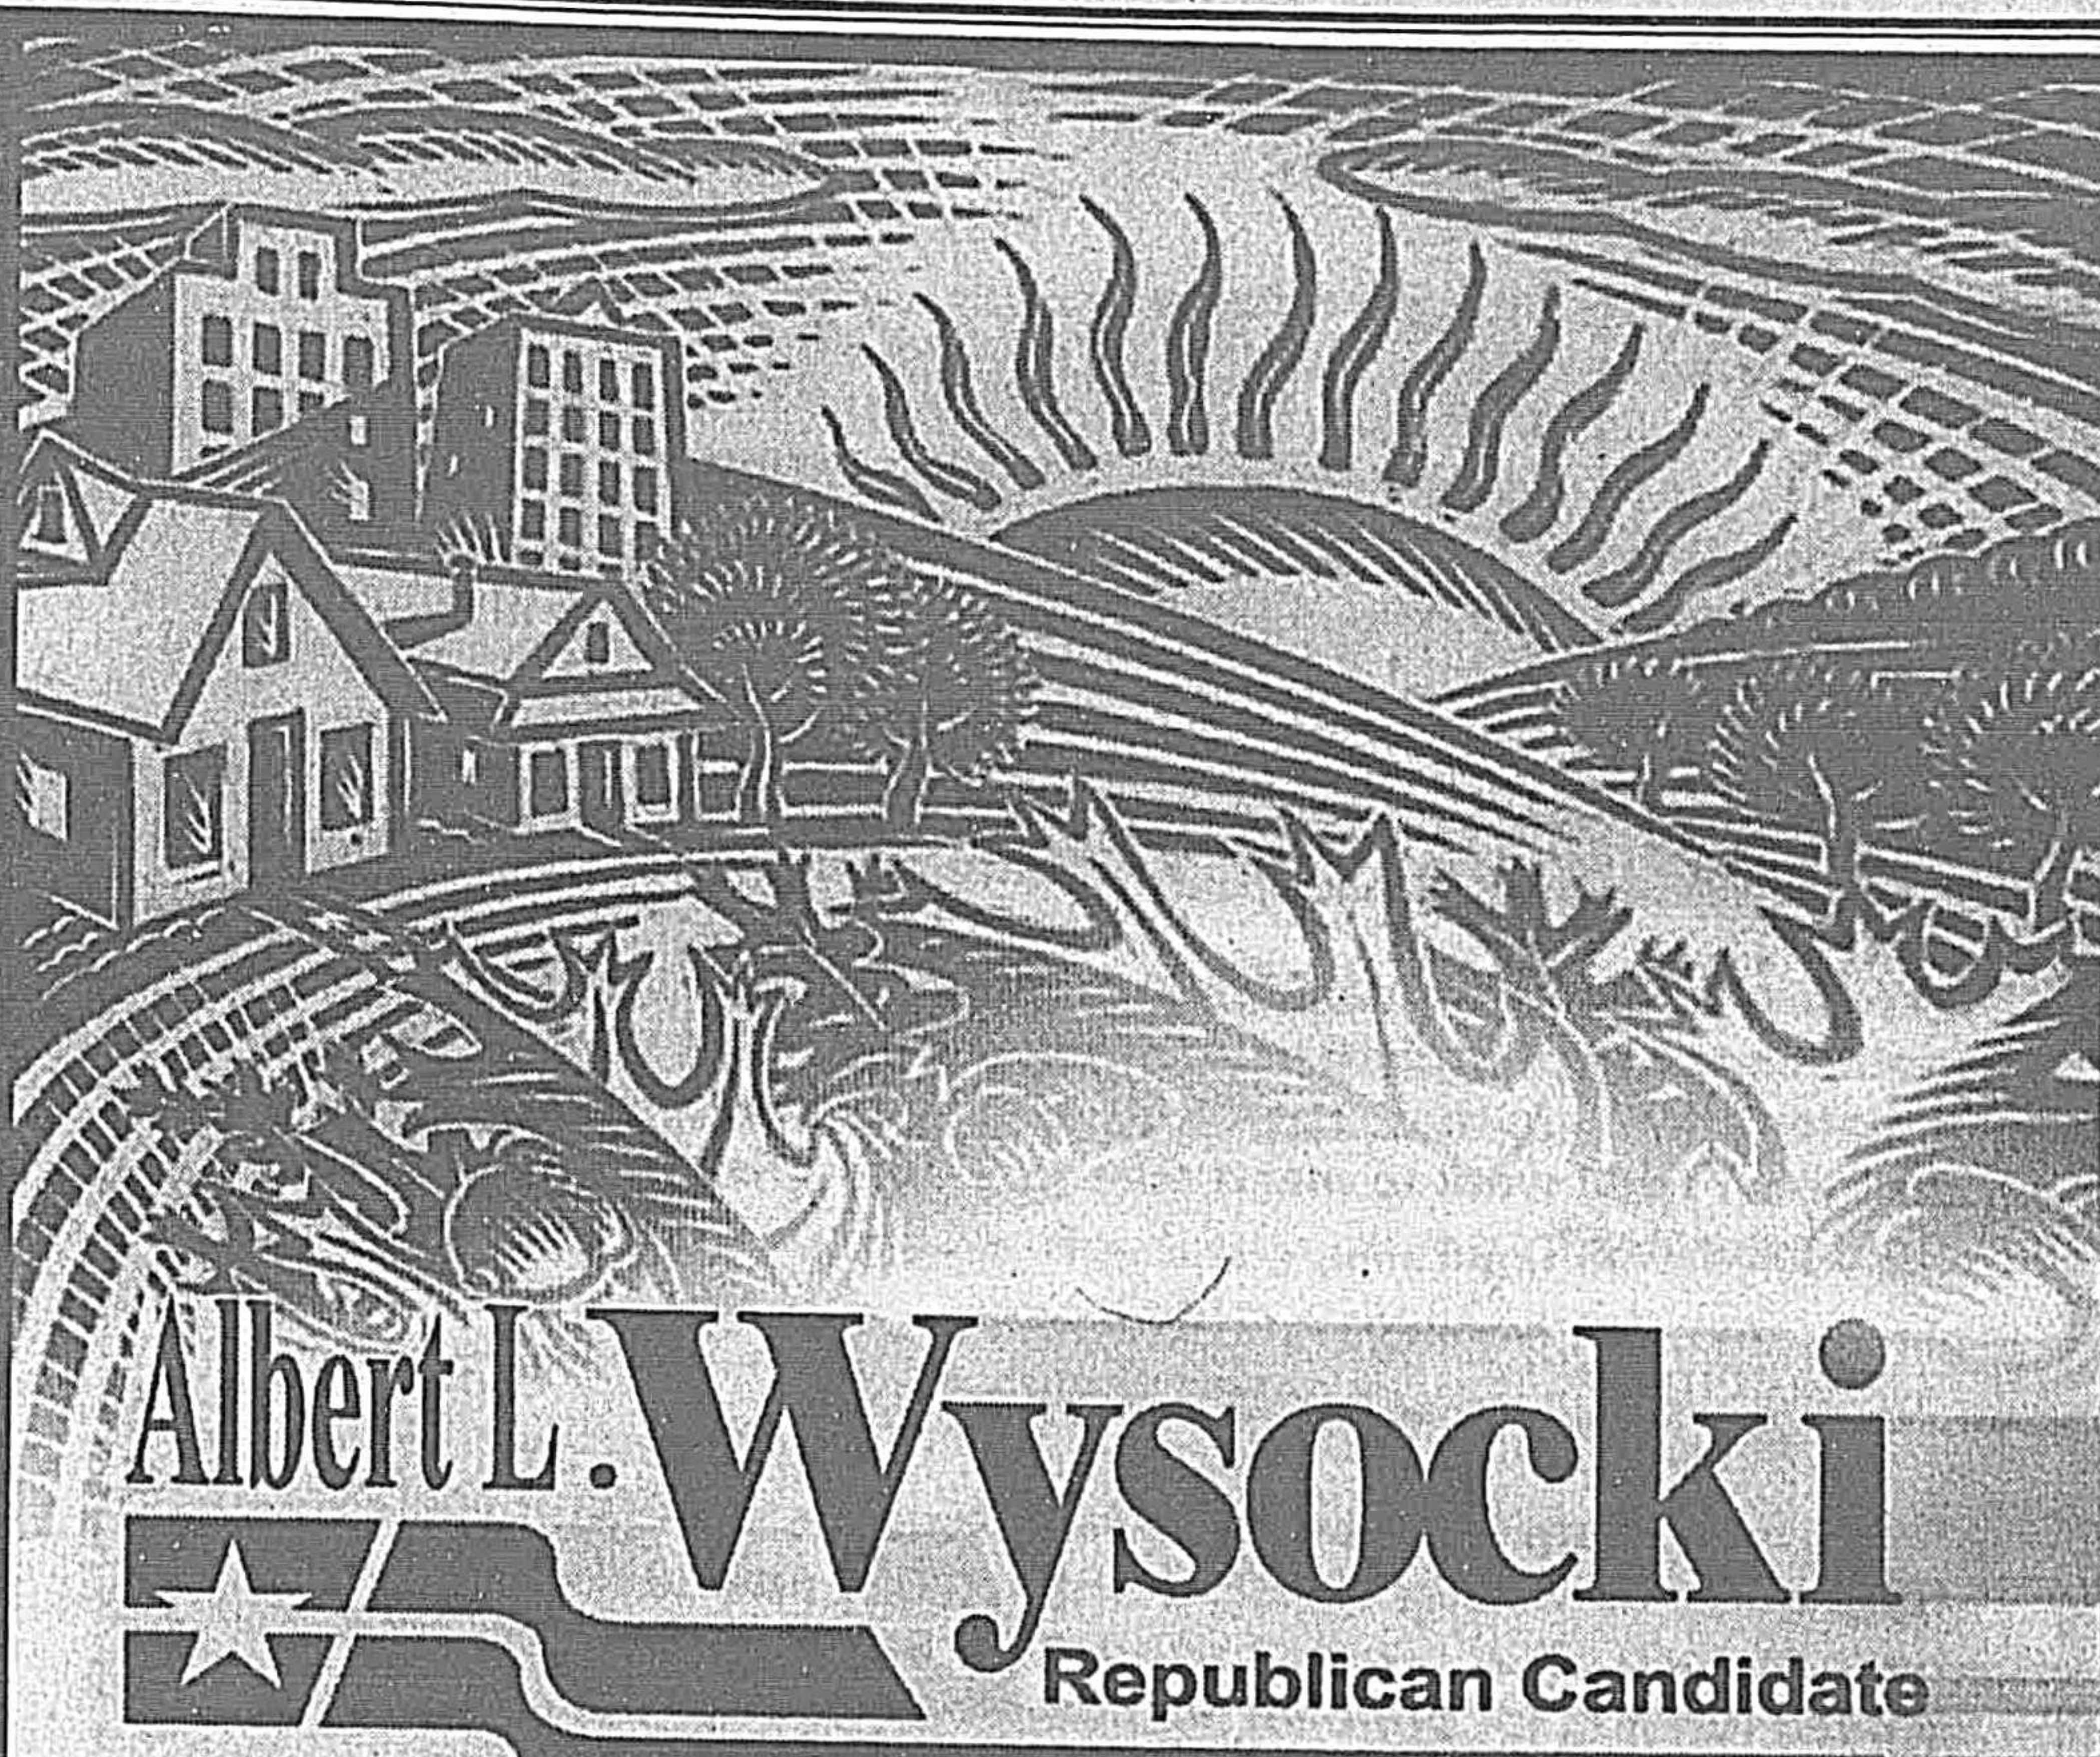

The Original Outlet Mall is located on the west side of I-94 at Hwy. 50 in Kenosha, easy to reach right between Chicago and Milwaukee.

The show, the largest of its type anywhere in the country, traditionally signals the opening of the racing season.

There is no entry fee for show participants. The show is open to all types of motorsports and racing, but space is limited. Persons desiring to enter should contact Babicz at 847-855-0019.

The show is open free to the public during regular mall hours. On Fri., March 22 the mall is open 10 a.m.-9 p.m., Sat., March 23, 10 a.m.-6 p.m. and Sun., March 24, from 10 a.m.-6 p.m.

CLC NOTES

Workshops to offer gardening tips

Spring is just around the corner, and that means it is time to think about gardening. Whether you are a novice or an experienced gardener, you can learn how to spruce up your yard this summer by attending a series of workshops offered by the College of Lake County's continuing education department on March 23 and 24.

Workshops will be held from 9 a.m. to noon and 12:40 to 3:40 p.m. on the following topics: Landscape Fundamentals, Gardening on a Budget, Best Perennials for Northern Illinois, Gardening in the Shade, Garden Design, Gardening Basics and Create a Great Vegetable Garden.

CLC course covers money management for retirement

"Financial Strategies for Successful Retirement" (CFIN 02-302), a four-session workshop on wise money management practices, will be offered from 7 to 9 p.m. on April 4, 11, 18 and 25 at the Lake County High Schools Technology Campus in Grayslake.

Students will learn how to generate a steady income, protect assets, minimize taxes and provide for a secure retirement. Students also will learn about various investment options and how to get the most from their retirement plans. Additionally, information on Social Security, Medicare and costs for longterm health care will be provided. Students will develop a personal financial plan based on their income, assets and objectives.

The cost is $55 per person, plus $25 for materials. A spouse or guest may attend at no additional cost. For course information, call the CLC continuing education department at 847-543-2022. To register by phone, call 847-223-1111.

Police departments recognized by safe kids program

Five police departments were recognized by the Lake County Safe Communities Project and Lake County Safe Kids Program for their outstanding efforts in enforcing the State of Illinois Child Passenger Protection Act. The top agencies were the State Police District 2, State Police District 15, Waukegan Police Department, Round Lake Heights Police Department and Gurnee Police Department. The enforcement of the Child Passenger Protection Act is designed to educate the public and raise awareness of the importance of proper use of child restraint systems. Motor vehicle crashes are the leading cause of death of children ages four to 14, according to the National Center for Health Statistics.

Unrestrained children are three times more likely to be injured than those who are restrained. More than half of all the children under age 15 killed in car crashes in 2000 were unrestrained.

The Lake County Safe Communities Project, headquartered at the College of Lake County, is an injury prevention coalition, which is funded by the Illinois Department of Transportation. Safe Kids is a coalition of corporate participants, healthcare providers, educators, community organizations, police and fire departments formed to increase public awareness of childhood safety issues and injury prevention.

For more information, call 847-543-2026.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q. I work in a company that has a newspaper that is printed each week. Employees are asked to submit articles or information for circulation. It goes before a group of employees who compile the information and submit to an editor for final print. The paper is informative. It contains some articles, lists of employees birthdays, special events, anniversaries and such and is put together for the purpose of escalating morale. During a lunch break recently a discussion came up regarding one of the bosses and a situation that had taken place with a specific employee that as gossip would have it, would be considered an indiscretion. I am not one to involve myself with gossip, but it appeared to me as though the co-worker instigating this gossip (who is also an editor of the paper), had some sort of vendetta with either one of the parties. The following Monday when the paper was published, there was a blurb regarding two unnamed persons that could not have been more pinpointing if their names were printed. One hour after the paper came out that morning I noticed there was a meeting going on with the Sr. Vice President in charge of Human Resources and those persons in charge of compiling the information. One of those persons was the employee who brought the gossip to the table that day at lunch. Two days later that employee was terminated. Since that day, I have received a few messages on my voice mail at home from this person as well as some of my closer co-workers, with messages from her feeling she was wrongfully terminated and wanting our help as she wants to proceed with an attorney. I received a call from her today at work but I was quick to want to get off the phone not knowing what to say. I don't want to lose my job if someone should find out I am talking to her. I would hate for anyone to think that I am at all associated with this person. What would you do? T.G.L. (via e-mail)

A. Jobs are too precious these days to attempt to knowingly or unknowingly sabotage your own employment. I cannot imagine what was going through this person's mind that would cause them to embarrass or humiliate these co-workers publicly and think that it was ok to do within a corporation newsletter. This situation could put the corporation at risk in assuming the parties involved were not going to take action. This person in my opinion got exactly what he/she deserved. Your removing yourself or wishing to remove your self from the situation is wise. For the same reason that you are not one to involve yourself with gossip, so should you keep from involving yourself in any further conversations with this person. Acknowledging her situation would put yourself right in the middle. There is no telling what this person is up to and therefore I would have to say that perhaps you should inform the Human Resources Manager or Sr. V-P that you are being contacted by this person and wish not to be. Also let them know that you are mere acquaintances through the office only and have been contacted both at your home and at work and are unsure of how this person obtained your home telephone number. Tell them that you are aware that others have been contacted as well but do not name names without their knowledge. Do this calmly. Do this professionally. Do this soon! The company may wish to continue the paper in the spirit of what it was meant to be, however, they may consider putting a strong corporate authority at the helm of the final print.
